Thanks for all of this.

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Arnon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osorio - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires

- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
2. Carolyn Barnett - POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier - is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCommon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Armon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
7. Mike McCommon - PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Hi Alex,
Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,
Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Amon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,
kirssa

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)

5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?

I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.

2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?

I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn

3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?

Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)

4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?

Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage

5. Daniel Armon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go

Excellent, thanks!

6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)

That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.

7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Just an FYI that I have contacted the following adjuncts to confirm SP23 teaching:

Prefix	Course #	Sect	Title	Days	Start	Stop	Cap	Instructor	Session/Room notes
POL	210	101	U.S. and Arizona Constitution	ONLINE	ONLINE	ONLINE	40	Orr, Ethan

POL	479	101/201	Intelligence & U.S. Natl Security	ONLINE	ONLINE	ONLINE	40	Cooper, Courtney	7.5 WK I

And I have NOT reached out to the following:

PA	330	001	Ethics for the Public Administrator	ONLINE			40	Grossenbach, Dan	7.5 WK I

POL	485	001	National Security Policy	MW	5:00PM	6:15PM	50	Thayer, Brad

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Kasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)

- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Gogglin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

- Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
- Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
- Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
- Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage
- Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
- Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
- Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)

7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.
Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Thanks, Angela.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 4/70: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,
Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)

3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rashed is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Thanks, Tae Hyun. I inadvertently added you to the CC line there. Apologies. But it seems it served a useful purpose for us.

Glad to hear you would be game for teaching 470 in person in Spring.

As we start to finalize our schedule for spring, we will reach out to make some concrete plans.

Best

Hi Alex,

Thank you for reaching out.

Yes, I would be very happy to teach PA 470 in-person and/or online in Spring 2023.

Please advise if you need anything from me.

Thank you very much!

Thanks, Kirssa. Great summary.

Tae Hyun Lim's email address is: [REDACTED]

He is due to teach 470 online in session 2 of Fall. He is based here in Tucson, so teaching online should be possible in Spring if he is up for that.

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Hi Alex,

Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.

8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...
Happy weekend!

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
2. Carolyn Barnett - POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier - is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!

6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)

That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.

7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Hi Alex,

Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

 So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,
kirssa

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

Cheers

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi Alex,

Thank you for reaching out.

Yes, I would be very happy to teach PA 470 in-person and/or online in Spring 2023.

Please advise if you need anything from me.

Thank you very much!

Thanks, Kirssa. Great summary.

Tae Hyun Lim's email address is: [REDACTED]

He is due to teach 470 online in session 2 of Fall. He is based here in Tucson, so teaching online should be possible in Spring if he is up for that.

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
2. Carolyn Barnett - POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier - is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
7. Mike McCammon - PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 4/70: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CIS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CIS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

Thanks for all of this.

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Sounds great, thanks! If you could also contact Betsy Palmer, just with a confirmation of her two online courses, that would also be great. (I told her we'd officially confirm the courses shortly - sorry!)

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Best,

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

*We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!*

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnette will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her

- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCommon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
7. Mike McCommon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Please stress that we are happy to work with her but have little control over modalities at this time.

Hi Alex,
Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load. [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Amon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,
kirssa

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.

- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rashed. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Gogglin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi all,

I've now heard from almost everyone I was in touch with. Angela - updates to your questions below:

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
I will email Suzi about 476 to see what she wants to do. I've confirmed that Charlotte will not be teaching it in the spring.
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
I think this is right, but have yet to hear back from Carolyn
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
Just emailed you! 241 in person (100 seats), 421 online (session 1), 410 online (session 2)
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
Can we do 100 seats for Xavier this spring? We thought having both Charlotte and Xavier at 100 for the spring, plus perhaps Mike McCammon for online, would be good coverage
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
Excellent, thanks!
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
That would be ideal. I don't have his contact info and haven't been in touch with him to confirm this works for him; not sure if anyone else has reached out to him yet on this.
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online
I'm leaning 241 so that we have some online coverage of that course - but anyone else can feel free to add to this one.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Hi All,

I have one quick follow-up on the adjunct invites - I can see that Karen Clark (PA 337) and Chris Olson (PA 350) are both full semester online courses- should I request that they both pick a 7.5 Week session to teach in rather than continue teaching the full semester online courses?

Thanks!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.

6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well

- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...
Happy weekend!

Hi Alex,
Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCommon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Arnon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Best,

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Hi All,

I have one quick follow-up on the adjunct invites - I can see that Karen Clark (PA 337) and Chris Olson (PA 350) are both full semester online courses- should I request that they both pick a 7.5 Week session to teach in rather than continue teaching the full semester online courses?

Thanks!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 4/70: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.

- Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...
Happy weekend!

Hi Alex,
Your email made me think about Leonore's teaching. Before she switched to PA 330 a few years ago, she taught PA 441: Women in the Justice System along with PA 443: White Collar Crime. We could think about offering that class.

But I am happy to reach out to her to start a conversation about what her teaching plans are. I will let you know what she says.

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Amon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,
kirssa

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.

- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rashed. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?

6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...
Happy weekend!

Thanks, Angela. I suspect we will want something from Leonore Simon. However, not sure whether it will include ethics. Plus, I do not know if she is going to "demand" live online, again. I suspect we are running out of time on the opportunity for live online designation. So, could be good for us to reach out to her about modality before addressing classes specifically.

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Hi All,

I have one quick follow-up on the adjunct invites - I can see that Karen Clark (PA 337) and Chris Olson (PA 350) are both full semester online courses- should I request that they both pick a 7.5 Week session to teach in rather than continue teaching the full semester online courses?

Thanks!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,
Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again. [REDACTED]
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.

5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]

PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well

- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

POL	479	101/ 201	Intelligence & U.S. Natl Security	ONLINE	ONLINE	ONLINE	40	Cooper, Courtney	7.5 WK I

And I have NOT reached out to the following:

Prefix	Course #	Sect	Title	Days	Start	Stop	Cap	Instructor	Session/Room notes
PA	330	001	Ethics for the Public Administrator	ONLINE			40	Grossenbach, Dan	7.5 WK I

POL	485	001	National Security Policy	MW	5:00PM	6:15PM	50	Thayer, Brad

At this time, I have the following open questions (and I know some are in the works, so no worries):

1. Suzi Dovi for POL 476 or POL 428?
2. Carolyn Barnett – POL/GWS 335 and ?
3. Charlotte - Sp Classes?
4. Xavier – is he teaching the PA/SOC 241, 250 seat in-person class or a smaller one?
5. Daniel Arnon and I are working on his new course so it will be ready to go
6. Tae Hyun- can I add PA 470 in person for him (right now, I only have Suyeon's 50 in-person seats)
7. Mike McCammon – PA/POL 206 or PA/SOC 241 Online

I will revisit all of this next week and send an updated schedule once I have some responses from the adjuncts.
Thanks- happy weekend!

Hi All,
I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

- Daniel Arnon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA486.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)

2. Susan Brewer-Ororio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi All,

I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CIS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CIS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Best,
kirssa

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibilities" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America -- is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi All,
I think I have too many random tidbits of information in my brain right now... I do now recall that Karen wanted to teach in in the 7 WK format. I will see if I can't coordinate Karen and Chris so that one is 7 WK I and the other in 7 WK II.

And I agree that it would be great to have a few 'rules' to scheduling for people...the daytime 2.5 hour classes just don't work for students. One more I'd like to add is that they have to select at least two blocks of time when doing the teaching requests...Christina and I are struggling with a few people because we have such limited options.

I plan to email all the adjuncts on my list tomorrow so I hope to have a much more polished schedule for you all by next week Friday.

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

(We can maybe chat about some rules for in person, too, like avoiding the 2.5 hour blocks during business hours.)

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers
Alex

Thanks for all of this.

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

I also think it's better to move to 7.5 week sessions for online if Chris is willing. It'd be nice to standardize course scheduling for the online offerings.

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Thanks, Angela.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 4/70: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CIS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CIS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?

- 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Hi Angela

You might recall that Karen actually requested to move to a 7.5 week session. So that works well. I'd suggest asking Chris if he'd be willing to make the switch, too. If he is reluctant, we can possibly still offer as 16 week.

Just my thinking.

Hi All,

I have one quick follow-up on the adjunct invites - I can see that Karen Clark (PA 337) and Chris Olson (PA 350) are both full semester online courses- should I request that they both pick a 7.5 Week session to teach in rather than continue teaching the full semester online courses?

Thanks!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 4/70: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi All,

I have one quick follow-up on the adjunct invites - I can see that Karen Clark (PA 337) and Chris Olson (PA 350) are both full semester online courses- should I request that they both pick a 7.5 Week session to teach in rather than continue teaching the full semester online courses?

Thanks!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online

(in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.

- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022. Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark

12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:

- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Thanks, Angela.

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Cheers

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

*Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545*

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.

2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Kirssa: Would you mind following up with Edella to let her know what Susan mentioned to you about her teaching? I think it probably needs to be Edella who follows up with Susan and Marcela (in LAS) to confirm the plan.

On 470: Let's plan on opening up a second in person section and perhaps one online section, as well. We can then confirm instructors in due course, understanding that if we are short on people to teach, we can always drop the online section before registration opens.

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

*We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!*

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.

Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?

- 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi All,

Thanks Alex- just a quick follow up that only POL/LAS 347 is 'owned' by SGPP. The other courses for Susan are simply cross-listed with us, if that matters.

For PA 470- since this is for CJS and PMPC, we may be able to not offer an online section of this in spring since we don't have CJS up yet, but I do think we will need more than 50 seats for main campus. For Fall 21, we filled the 50-seat main campus class, plus 43 additional in online (in 2 sections). And in Spring 22, we filled 73 seats for the main campus section (2 sections) and just 8 online (in one section).

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Aron needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)

3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rashed is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi All

All of this sounds good.

I would go with what Edella said for the Susan load [REDACTED] — I was not. Could be good to ask Edella if she'd like to chat with Susan about this. It may be that two of those courses are housed in POL first anyway, which is really all that would matter.

I am fine with us skipping Thayer for now. Maybe we keep him on the back burner as an option. I will wait and see if he reaches out to me rather than proactively getting in touch with him.

Then, whatever you think we need for PA470. We have one in person section confirmed with Suyeon. What do we want on top of that?

Cheers

Thanks for all of this.

I remain ambivalent about Thayer. We are probably due to run 361, but as Kirssa says, it would be a new prep for him. Otherwise, based on what I'm seeing, 485 didn't have tremendous numbers.

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347

Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt

6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again. [REDACTED]
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Arnon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,

It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibilities" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her

- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Good to know on Susan. FYI, this is she said on her teaching load:

[REDACTED] So, the planned courses look like this:

Fall 2022: POL/LAS 312, POL/LAS 347
Spring 2023: POL/LAS 348, LAS 445/545

Most of her courses are cross-listed POL (except LAS 445), although I'm not sure what the home department is for the POL/LAS cross-listed courses.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Happy weekend!

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osorio will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Hello Everyone,

I am finally getting to my emails today!

I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt

6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again.
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).

Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rasha is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America – is this for Susan Osorio [REDACTED]
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 – (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because [REDACTED]
- PA 470 101/201 – We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...

Hi all - some updates on spring 2023:

- Daniel Armon needs to develop a second Israel course, so we will skip PA/POL 419 in-person for spring 23
- Susan Osario will teach POL/LAS 347 each fall [REDACTED] so she will not offer that in spring semesters
- Betsy Palmer confirmed she wants to teach POL 407 and POL 408 fully online
- TBD on Carolyn Barnette, no response so far

If we could have more conversation on Brad Thayer (add POL 485, 361, or both) and Tae Hyun (add PA 470 in person, online, or both) that would be useful. I'm not sure where we landed on them.

I did not reach out to any of the others we had confirmed, only the ones with questions. Angela - not sure if it is useful or more confusing, but attached is the sheet I was using.

I should hear soon from Charlotte and Xavier, and will confirm their teaching schedule once I do.

Subject: RE: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Yeah. Was a student of Tom's here in the 80s and then did a PhD at Chicago before holding a few different faculty roles. He and his wife moved back to Tucson last year.

Potentially helps out with intellectual/disciplinary diversity!

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Hello Everyone,
I am finally getting to my emails today!
I think it would be great for Jeff/Kirssa to reach out to the Adjuncts and see what their plans/interests are for teaching in SP 23. Below is a sample email Mark and I used to send them to verify all the info we needed to know (if it's helpful in your conversations). If they want to change their time/day preferences, we need to know pretty quick so that I can start to build the Visual Layout around the faculty requests.

Thanks so much! Let me know what you need from me

Greetings Betsy,
It is that time of year again to coordinate our FALL 2022 course offerings and we would like to confirm your course(s)!

The Fall 2022 semester class schedule August 22, 2022- December 7, 2022 (Final Exams December 9-15, 2022). Your Fall 2021 schedule was as follows:

Subject	Catalog	Section	Day	Start Time	End Time	Course Title	Enroll Cap	Instructor	Term	Start Date	End Date
POL	407	001	TR	9:30 AM	10:45 AM	Congress and American Politics (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22
POL	408	001	TR	11:00 AM	12:15 PM	Development of the American Presidency (WE)	40	Palmer, Elizabeth A	Fall 2022	08/22/22	12/07/22

Would you like to teach this course(s) again?

- If you would like to teach these courses/times/days again, I am happy to schedule them now
- If you would prefer a different meeting time/day, please let me know your preferences.

We are under some tight deadlines, so if you could let me know by Friday, December 10, 2021, that would be great. Please note that all teaching contracts begin one week prior to classes beginning for students. The Social Sciences Business Office will be reaching out to Fall Adjuncts to sign contracts sometime in July, 2022.
Please feel free to reach out with any questions!

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A "yes" from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A "no" from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.
2. Nahrain Rasha. We do not need 415 again. [REDACTED]
3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA486.
4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.
5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibles" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.
2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.
4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Cheers

Alex

Subject: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

Hello Everyone,

Please see the attached Adjunct list for SP23 invitations. These are all the SP22 adjuncts/courses rolled over (nothing new). The second tab is all the 'PA' courses that we have on the books if we want to review this and discuss teaching options with the new CT's for SP23 (maybe?).
Also attaching the first review of the UG schedule here. The Visual Layout IS NOT UPDATED- just ignore that tab.

Just let me know your thoughts on any of the following:

Plan to email next week with teaching invitation/confirmation (in person unless noted):

1. Betsy Palmer (POL 407 & 408)
2. Brandon Tryon (POL 309 & 470 Online)
3. Rich Harper (PA 347 & 352)
4. Rick Prater (PA 410)
5. Colin Oglesbee (PA 410 Online) Is this a new CT person?
6. Chris Wilson (PA 332)
7. John Leavitt (PA 340)
8. Judith McDaniel (POL 469 Online)
9. Courtney Cooper (PA/POL 479 Online)
10. Ethan Orr (POL 210- needed for Ed Students)

Need Feedback on (in person unless noted):

- PA 297B (David Dow?)
- POL 309 (Jake Amaru)
- PA 330 (Fall, in-person with Stu Brody and online with Dan Grossenbach)
- PA 331 (fall online with Leonore Simon)
- PA 337 (Karen Clark)
- PA 350 (Chris Olson)
- POL 415 (Nahrain Rashed is noted- is this still accurate?)
- PA 480 (Malcolm Goggin- online)
- POL 485 (Brad Thayer)

UG courses not rolling over but might be needed:

- POL/LAS 347: Politics of Latin America -- is this for Susan Osorio
- POL 424: Politics in the Digital Age (Yotam is offering it in-person for SP23)
- PA 344: Law and Public Policy
- POL 360: International Political Economy
- POL 361:
- POL/PA 419: Terrorism and Counterterrorism

Pinch Points in 'Big picture':

- POL/LAS 204 (Comp Pol) Any Thoughts on this?
- PA/SOC 241 001 - Brad requested PA 450 & 446, not 241 for Spring. We need 250 in-person seats- is this something for a new CT?
- POL 297/397 (Model UN) Any thoughts on this for SP23? Jess will be doing POL 697D, E, & F
- PA 470 001 -- (Public Org Mgmt) Can we increase in-person section to 100 capacity (Suyeon Jo) because
- PA 470 101/201 -- We need an online section as well
- POL 476 001- (Women and the Law) Neither Judith or Suzi are offering this in SP23 and we will need it (it's popular online and in-person)

I think it's time for me to go home...
Happy weekend!

5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.
6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]
7. POL361. As above.
8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?
9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.
10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let’s skip it for a year and reassess.

Some “maybes” or “possibilities” from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)
2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.

2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Just my initial thoughts. Happy to hear what others think.

Hi everyone,

Thanks for putting this together Angela, and for your thoughts, Alex. It seems to me like we can follow up on:

- Susan Osario - will she do POL/LAS 347?
- Betsy Palmer - does she want to teach POL 407 & 408 (but especially 407) online?
- Daniel Arnon - does he want to do 419 in person (and delay developing the Israel course)? If not, we can skip 419 in person for S23.
- Brad Thayer - POL 485 or POL 361? Both or neither?
 - 361 has had higher enrollment lately, and wasn't offered lately, so might get more students. But he offered 485 for the first time S22, so might be nice to allow him to do it again rather than do a new prep. Or could do both if he's interested.
- Carolyn Barnette - I am nearly positive that Carolyn Barnett will offer Gender & Politics and propose one new course, but we can check in with her
- Tae Hyun - PA 470: add online and potentially in-person sections?

TBD:

- Mike McCammon - 206 or 241 depending on our CT hires
- Suzi Dovi - will she do POL 476 (women and the law) or stick with the plan to develop a new course on resistance? Wait to do this until we confirm with Charlotte, who may be interested in this course.

Things for Jeff & I to do:

- We need to see what Charlotte and Xavier want to do and see where their conversations with Edella went. We'll focus on PA 241 (in person and online), PA 410, and PA 331 (potentially both in person and online). Other options include PA 344 and POL 476.
 - As of now, I'm not sure where their discussion are re: Fall 22.
- Guidance on 101 vs 201 seats: I agree we should generally start increasing the 201 share where possible, and we can start using past enrollment trends to see where we can be more aggressive with this.
 - Specific courses to consider: ethics (330/331) and PA 470

To start, I am happy to reach out to Susan, Betsy, Daniel, and Carolyn. Perhaps we can confirm plans for Brad Thayer and Tae Hyun, then make plans to reach out to them both. Jeff and I will follow up with Charlotte and Xavier and thing more about the 101 vs 201 options.

Cheers,

Sounds good.

One additional thought. Brad Thayer (who taught 485 nat security) this past semester is a good option. Could either teach 485 again next Spring or some other course, including 419. Here is his discussion of what he is comfortable teaching.

United States foreign policy, international security, international relations theory, terrorism, international organization, comparative grand strategies, the causes of conflict, China and East Asian security issues, Russia and European security issues, political and social change and political violence, and cyber security and international politics

Thanks for all that detail, Alex. I think this all looks sensible but I'll review it in greater detail this afternoon.

Just a note on my classes: 360 numbers were down this year, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, 361 was not taught this year and there probably would be demand for it. If we knew of a qualified adjunct, I think it would get decent numbers, but it's not essential.

Subject: Re: SP23 Adjuncts Invitations and UG First Review

So many thanks for getting these conversations started, Angela.

A few general comments and then some responses to your specific questions.

- I think it would be good to check back with Jess and Christina. I believe some of the PhD offerings are going to have to change.
- It might be good to hold off a little while longer on the adjunct decisions until we have had a chance to finalize planning for Charlotte and Xavier.
- On the above, where do we stand on adding their classes for Fall (Jeff and Kirssa?)
- In general, I think we need to continue our push towards making sure that more of the online seats are reserved for 201 than for 101 students. There might be a couple of exceptions to this (476, for example). However, I think we need to start encouraging main campus students back in to the in person offerings where possible. Happy to have Jeff and Kirssa think over what makes sense on this.
- It would be great if you could reach out to Carolyn Barnett to get her preference on spring classes. She should be offering two classes in spring. I had previously discussed the possibility of gender and politics with her. That would be great.
- We are committed to offering something to Mike McCamman. I suspect it will be either 206 or 241 (depending on Charlotte and Xavier).
- I will take a look over possible PhD assignments for Spring to help gauge where we might need to find some cover.

On to your specific questions. Here are my initial thoughts. First the easy ones. (Sorry, not the same numbering as you had.)

A “yes” from me to your current plan for the following folks:

1. Brandon Tryon
2. Rich Harper
3. Rick Prater
4. Chris Wilson
5. John Leavitt
6. Judith McDaniel
7. Courtney Cooper
8. Ethan Orr
9. David Dow
10. Jake Amaru
11. Karen Clark
12. Chris Olson

A “no” from me on the following cases:

1. Colin Oglesbee. Assuming Charlotte will develop online 410, we probably do not need Colin in Spring.

2. Nahrain Rasho. We do not need 415 again. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

3. Malcolm Goggin. I think once per year (Fall) is probably sufficient for PA480.

4. POL424 (digital politics). Probably fine without it for Spring.

5. PA344 (law and policy). Probably fine without it unless either Charlotte or Xavier want to teach this.

6. POL360. Fine to wait until Jeff [REDACTED]

7. POL361. As above.

8. POL419. We have Brint teaching it online. Probably fine to not have it in person. Another option is we ask Daniel Arnon to teach this. It is in his plans for some stage. Perhaps Spring it could be if we delay him offering a new Israel class?

9. I say we go without POL204 in person in Spring. We will offer it twice online and can keep some seats for main campus students.

10. POL297/397. Jess has been planning for this class not to be offered. Model UN has been suffering in terms of enrollments. So, let's skip it for a year and reassess.

Some "maybes" or "possibilities" from me. I can always email these folks, if useful, to confirm plans:

1. Brad Thayer (POL485)

2. Susan Brewer-Osorio (POL347)

Next the ones that will likely require some more questions:

1. Betsy Palmer. I believe she might want to teach online. If that is the case, then yes to both classes. However, if she wants to be in person, we probably can not have her offer 407, as Lisa Sanchez will already be teaching that. If so, we need a different class for Betsy. Yes to 408 either way.

2. Our ethics offerings: PA330 and PA331. I think this all depends on what plan we have for Xavier. Is he teaching 331 in person and online? We need to get this determined and then build a plan for 330 and 331 around him. So, I suggest, the UG team come up with a plan for how many seats would be preferred in different modalities and then we work on that.

3. PA470. I say keep Suyeon's at 50 seats. We can have Tae Hyun offer either online (as he will in Fall) or even in person, if that is a priority. I am sure he'd appreciate an opportunity to teach in person. Heck, he might even be up for multiple offerings. We can then always augment with additional online sections from PhD students. 4. You highlighted POL476 (women and the law). I noticed Suzi is down to teach a class on resistance. If that is the plan, then OK. But having Suzi teach 476 might be better, no? If not, perhaps Charlotte? Thoughts from Jeff and Kirssa?

Subject: RE: Question ad 9524

Hi again,

We can cancel this ad—Isabel has let me know that she is not available to teach this summer. So it looks like the summer hires are good to go.

Art – give me a heads up when you begin to process the next round of FLPRS (and note to remove Isabel's course).

Thanks!

Hi Lacey,
Thank you so much for clarifying the situation- much appreciated. I think having a very generic ad as the one to copy forward would be great in theory, but that would really open up the flood gates for me to answer many inquiries. If the ads could be tailored a bit each time they go out (not necessarily course title specific) that would be helpful.

For now, I will reach out to Isabel to get her to apply and then we will be done with hires for the summer.

Good morning Angela,

Talent req9524 is for Isabela. I had asked Art to copy one of the old generic summer ads but I did not give him a specific req number and this was my oversight. We have three options moving forward:

1. Since we already know which course Isabela will be teaching, we can leave the ad as-is and proceed as normal. The language in the isn't terribly important since it does not get included in the offer letter.

2. We can change the language to say "in the area of Immigration and Refugee policy" to hopefully reduce the number of questions you are receiving
3. We can change the language to the more generic "in the areas of political science and public administration"

Please let us know how you would like for us to proceed.

Hi Art and Lacee,

I am wondering about the ad 9524 for summer adjunct. I am not sure who/what class this was for since it indicates a need for an instructor for Ethics in Public Admin, but we don't need an instructor for that (we have Dan Grossenbach assigned to do that and he already has an approved FLPR).

Was this intended to let us hire [REDACTED] She is the PhD who is graduating and scheduled to teach 7 week II (POL 388- Immigration & Refugee Policy)? I guess I'm just not sure what the ad is for and I am getting applicant questions.

Hi Jeff and Kirssa,

We can absolutely hold off on communicating anything to Dan or making any commitments until we know more. I don't think he is expecting a long-term commitment from us, but just keep that communication open and that we will take his preference in mind when assigning him to teach.

And I agree about letting students know about the 'overflow' class that PA 330 can be for PA 331. We have used it this way for so long and we even ask the 330 instructors to incorporate some CJ elements into the course because they likely have quite few in the program.

Hi Angela,

I'm in favor of this in principle. As of now, with only ~4 PMPC online majors, it seems like too much to have this course three times a year. But that would likely change if the CJS major goes online.

Also thinking aloud, if the CJS major goes online we could think about making it clearer that PA 330 can substitute for PA 331 so that it has a larger pool of students. This could also be used as part of our discussion with Jill when we talk through putting CJS online in a few weeks. We could also do something like offer PA 330 online in the summer, and then an in-person and online version in the fall/spring.

Does that all make sense? I'm just brainstorming over here. Could we ask if he'd be willing to teach spring/summer/fall, and then get back to him after our conversation with Jill?

Hi Jeff and Kirssa,

See the email below from Dan Grossenbach who teaches PA 330 for us - online only. What are your thoughts on asking him to teach the online version fall/spring/summer during first sessions? We can limit the 101 section of this and only open it to 201 Online campus students if necessary (which might be the case once CJS goes live in UA Online). We have to offer the in-person main campus section and it would be reasonable to nudge main campus students into that section rather than this online one...

Just thinking out loud on this one- Dan is a good instructor and an SGPP alum so I think we can entertain the idea of a longer commitment to him- even though we cannot offer her a lengthier or attractive contract (only semester to semester like most others).

Let me know what you think

Thanks Angela. Don't worry about the scheduling oversight. I'm flexible for teaching PA330 online most terms so it worked out. I understand how things can change and I'll plan to be open to whatever the need may be. If it were to become a predictable schedule, I'd probably request these online 7 week courses: spring (first), summer (first), and Fall (first). Thanks for all the support!

Hi Dan,

I am happy to discuss future teaching opportunities with you! Firstly, I want to apologize for the oversight in not communicating with you about the summer schedule. When I took over for Mark this last fall, I think it just fell through the cracks on my end.

You are correct that PA 330 is a required course for the PMPC majors and we offer it nearly every semester. The trick is always about offering enough seats but not too many. PMPC is our smallest major, with only about 100 students, so balancing student need is always challenging. And we now have added the PMPC degree to the UA Online campus (in addition to Main Campus) in hopes of attracting more students. That being said, I agree that it is important to offer our talented adjunct pool some consistency in scheduling so that there is predictability. If you were to teach the course for SGPP multiple times a year, what would be an ideal situation for you? I cannot commit to anything, but this would be helpful for us to plan ahead and see if we have opportunities for regular teaching commitments. Do you know what the plan is for having me teach PA330 after the summer? Are there adjuncts who teach a regular cycle of classes (i.e. every fall, spring, fall and summer, etc)? Since it's a required course with a steady flow of students, it seems that some regularity might make it easier to plan for everyone.

Good Afternoon SGPP Staff, Faculty and Adjuncts!

Yesterday was the deadline to submit Outstanding SGPP Senior Nominations, however, we did not receive a nomination for a PMPC student; as such, I am going to extend the call for nominations to next Wednesday, April 13, 2022.

If you know of a PMPC senior who you believe deserves recognition, please consider nominating them for the Outstanding Senior Award!

Please Note - To be eligible for nomination, students must be undergraduates, completing their degree in Spring or Summer, 2022, with a GPA of 3.5 or higher - You may connect with me to determine if a student you would like to nominate is eligible for this award.

We appreciate your help in ensuring our deserving students are recognized – please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns!

Good Morning All!

This is a quick reminder that we are still accepting Nominations for Outstanding SGPP Senior awards. As a reminder, we award 1 student from each major (POL, LAW, PMPC and CJS). Currently I only have nominations for LAW and POL students; if you have an PMPC and/or CJS senior who you believe deserves recognition, please consider nominating them for the Outstanding Senior Award.

Please Note - To be eligible for nomination, students must be undergraduates, completing their degree in Spring or Summer, 2022, with a GPA of 3.5 or higher. For your convenience, we will have a list of our top performing students (3.5 GPA or better) at the front desk in SS 315.

To nominate a student, please write a letter of recommendation on their behalf, discussing the nominee's qualities and achievements in scholarship, citizenship, and leadership. Letters can be dropped off in my mailbox in SS 315 or emailed to me (salers@arizona.edu) by Wednesday, April 6th at 3:00 pm. Our winning students will be announced at our Scholars Breakfast on Thursday, May 5, 2022 in the Kachina Lounge at the SUMC. Awarded students will be asked to give a short speech at the breakfast and nominating faculty will be asked to present and speak briefly about their nominated students.

Please feel free to contact me (salers@arizona.edu) with any questions.

Quick follow up- we could ask Dan Grossenbach to do a PA 330 section for online only in the fall? I hesitate to open that up to main campus with too many seats because we have hired a new instructor for the in-person section for fall (so we should fill those seats). But the trade off is that Dan only has like 5 students... hmmm.

Hi Kirssa,
You are correct that PA 330 and 345 do not have 201 sections associated with them for summer. I can add a few seats for both of them, but since there are only a handful of Online PMPC students, how many seats should we offer? We will have to ask the online advisors if 'SGPP' prefix courses count in their degree programs. These courses are specific to the GPP minor so I actually have no idea if they count for PMPC online because they don't count for PMPC main campus students.... I think.

POL 210 is not for SGPP students and (ironically) doesn't count for our degrees. It is the core AZ Gov course for all primary education students, so they get all those seats, year-round (5 sessions with 40 seats each).

For fall, it looks like we already have 201 section on all the online PA courses we are offering, but we do not have an online PA 330 or 331. That might be a problem...

Subject: Re: Summer Schedule for UG

Hi Angela,

Terribly sorry to ask this now, as the schedule is live and I didn't catch this before!

We just got a request from Emily (online advisor) to add more PMPC summer courses. My first reaction was that we have a number of PA courses scheduled! I noticed, though, that PA 330 and PA 345 in session 1 only have a main campus section, even though the courses are being offered online.

Am I reading that correctly? Did we have a reason to do only main campus sections, or can we insert an online section there? I believe we're fine in session 2, as we have a couple of relevant PMPC courses with 201 sections already.

(While I'm looking at the schedule, it seems like POL 210 and SGPP 304 are also main campus only - but maybe that's the way we want those? I'm not sure if those courses are relevant to Arizona Online programs.)

Apologies again. I wasn't looking at that and should have been.

I'll also quickly note that she asked about fall courses, as well, but I think the main question was for POL 483. Craig is on sabbatical and will teach it online in the spring. I'll clarify with her during the meeting about the fall schedule, and see if we might just offer substitutions to any students who need 483 to graduate.

Let me know if anything looks off to you ☺

Sabryna and Nina – just note that when the section column reflects '101/ 201' this is the Main Campus/ UA Online split. You can see the number of seats allocated to each section/campus in the 'Max Enrollment' column. The rest should be self- explanatory, but if it isn't, let me know!

Thanks for introducing yourself in a recent email and sharing with us upcoming events. I wanted to reach out to say "Hello" and e-meet you as well. I'm in Tucson, but it's hard to stay connected as an online adjunct instructor. Please be sure to have your Learning Outcomes noted clearly in their own section with a header - Learning Outcomes are action verbs and are measurable-- what students will be able to 'do' (not know) by the end of your course! Happy to answer any questions you may have about LO's

A general guideline is that a Learning Outcome could read something like this: "By the end of the semester students will be able to [insert verb] [insert an observable, measurable skill/action related to course content]." Whether Learning Outcomes are expressed in narrative form or a bullet point list, they indicate what students we be able to DO by the end of the course, not what they have LEARNED.

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the semester students will be able to:

- * define _____.
- * compare and contrast _____.
- * design _____.
- * solve _____.
- * defend _____.

It's important to note that good Learning Outcomes must be more specific and measurable than simply suggesting that students will "know," "understand," "appreciate," "be exposed to," "think about," or "be familiar with" certain course content by the end of the semester.

Please email your final version to Elena or I as soon as possible, but no later than Wednesday, February 2, 2022 please-- thanks! Thank you to those who have already emailed them - it is much appreciated

Please be sure to have your Learning Outcomes noted clearly in their own section with a header - Learning Outcomes are action verbs and are measurable-- what students will be able to 'do' (not know) by the end of your course! Happy to answer any questions you may have about LO's

*A general guideline is that a Learning Outcome could read something like this:
"By the end of the semester students will be able to [insert verb] [insert an observable, measurable skill/action related to course content]." Whether Learning Outcomes are expressed in narrative form or a bullet point list, they indicate what students we be able to DO by the end of the course, not what they have LEARNED.*

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the semester students will be able to:

- * define _____.
- * compare and contrast _____.
- * design _____.
- * solve _____.
- * defend _____.

It's important to note that good Learning Outcomes must be more specific and measurable than simply suggesting that students will "know," "understand," "appreciate," "be exposed to," "think about," or "be familiar with" certain course content by the end of the semester.

Thanks Everyone!

Thanks for the update, Angela! That sounds good to me - definitely useful to have some balance across sessions for CJ students, even if it means our overall SGPP offerings are more plentiful in session II.

Hi Jess,
I have one quick add to the summer schedule (I am still sorting out the details), but the advisors caught that I missed one of the CJ course (PA 345). I have emailed the adjunct to get the details sorted out. It will likely be during session II in order to offset the CJ electives in Session I. We will have a lopsided schedule, but it is what it is. It should be good--

Hi Jess,
Thanks for the feedback- quick follow up that [REDACTED] dates are just incorrectly noted. I will update that. As for the session enrollments, Alex is absolutely correct that the Fall/Spring second sessions are far fuller than the first sessions. In recent summers, we tend to see the opposite. The first session (and pre-session, if offered) is typically fuller so that students can complete their degrees in time for summer graduation. We typically try to offer an even number of seats in the summer sessions, but these last two summers have been all over the place with enrollments. If a student wants to take the course, they will enroll whenever it is offered. I am actually quite curious to see the enrollments for the in-person courses.

Hi Angela,

Thanks for putting this together! It generally looks good to me, with a couple of questions.

First, is [REDACTED] POL 417 supposed to be in the first session? The start/end dates listed seem to be a holdover from last year but also more closely align with the second session. I just figured that was a copy/paste thing though!

Second, Alex mentioned that the first session tends to full better than the second, and it looks like we have 7 classes in session 1 but 8 in session 2. I know [REDACTED] mentioned he could do either session so should we do 419 in session 1 instead of 2, in hopes of encouraging enrollment in the other classes that session? I'll gladly defer to the advisors on this point, though, and don't want to create new headaches or anything.

Cheers,
Jess

Do we have someone who has recently taught SGPP 304 who might be able to offer some guidance about how that course has been taught in the past? Or at least an old syllabus that could be shared with Seoungin? I imagine that will help her feel more confident and comfortable with that assignment.

Thanks so much for your efforts to pull this together!

I know Seoungin prefers to teach online, but perhaps we could see if she'd be willing and able to do POL 201 in person if there's a problem/delay with Alexander's comps? Although she is in the same boat (as are Sanho, Alex, and Dan) in terms of needing to pass comps in the spring, and thus having some uncertainty about that.

Perhaps we can follow up with Mai in the next couple of days to see if she is indeed interested in teaching (and if so, what course[s]), and if she might be able to do the second session as an adjunct rather than the first session. Again, I believe she needs to make an initial decision about her job offer by tomorrow, so once she makes that decision she should have a better sense of her timings for the spring/summer.

The plans for Dan and Alexis' teaching sound good to me. Hopefully they'll be amenable!

Hi Jess and Elena,

This is all great to know. I have updated the schedule attached here as best I can with their teaching requests. I have a few notes:

- Seoungin Choi requested only 2 classes (POL 201 and 324). POL 201 is already assigned for both sessions and 324 will not be popular enough to fill in the summer. I will follow up with her.
- Is it realistic for Alex Cloudt to be eligible to teach this summer (pass comps)? He is penciled in for 201 in-person (which would be a vital 'fill' for the summer so I want to be sure he is on track to pass
- Mai indicated that she could teach session I, but did not indicate what course. THIS WILL BE tricky if she plans to defend in spring and get her EAD card.
- Dan Detzi. PA/POL 419 in session I, in-person would be ideal. I will follow up with him
- Alexis Work- POL/LAS 204 in session II, online would be ideal. I will follow up with her

I will follow up when I know more. ☺

Hi both,

I now know that both Isabel and Mai have job offers, so I'm hopeful that those will work out and they will both complete in the spring. I'm not sure about Minwoo. I am Xiran's advisor and I know that he will not be able to graduate in the spring, and he may not be ready to graduate in the summer either, depending on his job and dissertation situation. I haven't heard anything from Alexis in awhile about her progress. My sense is that she will also not be ready to graduate this spring, but that's worth confirming with her and her advisor (Paulette). If you could follow up with these students (Minwoo, Xiran, and Alexis), Elena, that would be great. I think Mai will know more in the next couple of days about her job offer and whether she will take it, and as a result would definitely graduate in the spring.

It's definitely worth reaching out to Dan directly to see if he would be up for teaching this summer. Sorry I didn't realize he wasn't on that list!

Cheers,

Jess

She asked for the dates and deadlines and knows when she has to complete. We haven't heard back from Minwoo and Mai after they received their deadline emails. I can reach out to them if you like.

As soon as we know what the status is for Alexis and Xiran we can plan. Do their advisors know what their status is at this point?

Also Dan Detzi, hasn't responded to the email about teaching for summer. Should we reach out to him again? I know that Alex made a note that he can teach POL 419 in person in the summer.

Hi Angela,

This looks fairly complete, with a couple of exceptions. Apologies if I didn't copy you on my reply to Sanho Chung; I'll forward you his email now. There's also the potential for Isabel, Minwoo, and Mai to teach as adjuncts if they finish in time in the spring.

We do have two other students in that cohort who may not be ready to graduate this spring (or summer) and thus could be eligible for summer teaching as PhD instructors. Xiran Chen will be doing fieldwork for the first summer session so definitely can't teach then, and he may need to rapidly finish his dissertation if he gets a job to start in the fall, but if not he may be able to teach in the second summer session if he's back from Ghana in time for the start of those classes. I can reach out to him about this. He definitely won't be defending his dissertation in the spring, so I suppose we could still have him register for fall dissertation credits if need be. Alexis Work is another student who is supposed to graduate in the spring but I haven't heard anything about her progress, so she may still be eligible to teach as a grad instructor as well if she needs to delay graduation until fall 22. I can reach out to her directly as well, since I should probably get a sense of her progress anyway.

Unfortunately, we will have smaller and smaller cohorts in the years to come so our options for PhD student instructors over the summer will be slim! Are we able to reach out to some adjuncts to see if they want to teach, too? Sorry I don't really know how this works yet!

Cheers,
Jess

If you'd like to teach your own course this summer but haven't yet emailed Angela and me, please do so as soon as possible - complete instructions are as follows:

1. Please identify 2 or 3 courses you would be willing and able to teach and email them to Angela and me, in order of preference. Each PhD student will only be assigned to teach ONE class during the entire summer, but unfortunately we cannot guarantee your top choice(s).
2. Please identify which summer session(s) you will available to teach – if you can do either, please let us know if you have a preference for one or the other.
3. Please let us know if you prefer to teach online vs. in-person. Again, we cannot guarantee modalities, but we will do our best!
4. We are under some tight deadlines, so please let Angela and me know by 9:00am, Friday, December 10.

Subject: Teaching opportunities for summer 2022

Dear PhD students,

I'm writing to request some information from those of you who are interested in teaching a course in summer 2022. There are a few key details to keep in mind. First, classes will need to have (at a minimum) in the range of 15-20 enrolled students, otherwise the university may make us reduce the instructor's pay or cancel the course entirely. This means you should request a class that you believe will fill. Angela and our advising team have compiled a list of successful courses from recent summers to serve as a guide – please see the end of this email for the list of classes we would like to be able to offer.

Second, there will be two sessions, each running for 7.5 weeks. One session will run 5/16/2022-7/1/2022 and a second will run 7/5/2022-8/19/2022.

Finally, summer teaching salaries are $4,000 (pre-tax) per class, assuming the course enrolls at least 15-20 students.

Other important details:

- Please note that all PhD summer teaching assignments are dependent upon successful completion of comprehensive examinations and remaining in good academic standing.
- All PhD students must be registered for at least 6 units in the fall 2022 PRIOR to accepting their summer teaching position (this acceptance happens during the spring semester – someone from the business office will contact you).
- Most summer courses are taught online. If you think you would like to teach in-person, please note that those classes will meet every day, for several hours a day. We cannot guarantee modality for specific courses at this time, but your preference will be noted and we'll try to accommodate it.
- PhD students need to seek prior approval from me (Jess Braithwaite) before accepting summer teaching positions outside of SGPP.

Instructions:

1. Please identify 2 or 3 courses you would be willing and able to teach and email them to Angela and me, in order of preference. Each PhD student will only be assigned to teach ONE class during the entire summer, but unfortunately we cannot guarantee your top choice(s).
2. Please identify which summer session(s) you will available to teach – if you can do either, please let us know if you have a preference for one or the other.
3. Please let us know if you prefer to teach online vs. in-person. Again, we cannot guarantee modalities, but we will do our best!
4. We are under some tight deadlines, so please let Angela and me know by 9:00am, Friday, December 10, 2022.

List of courses:

- POL 201: American Natl Govt
- POL 202: International Relations
- POL/LAS 204: Comp Politics-Age of Globaliz
- PA/POL 206: Public Policy + Admin
- PA/SOC 241: Criminal Justice Admin

Subject: Re: Summer 2022

Thanks, Angela.

Have added a couple comments in the attached.

Three things to note:

- When Jess or Angela/Elena emails the PhD students, probably best to also include each of the SGPP classes as options to teach. When emailing them, do not tell them when the classes are listed in the spreadsheet the run. But, do ask them if they have preferences 2 or 3 preferences for classes and when they are available to teach -- session 1 or 2. We can then see if any of these make sense to add:
 - SGPP301: politics & policy of globalization
 - SGPP302: politics and policy of conflict
 - SGPP303: politics and policy of the developing world
 - SGPP304: politics of policymaking in the US
 - SGPP305: fundamentals of democratic politics
- Other than making sure we have 201 and 202 in each session, I have no strong preferences on which sessions classes run. So, let's be flexible here to (a) balance numbers across sessions; (b) accommodate availability of PhD instructors bearing in mind potential graduation of some students.

- I think we can offer 388 and/or 419 in person if suitable instructors are happy with that. If they do not fill, then we make a note to not repeat in the future. I just really do not have a good sense of how many domestic students will want to enroll.

Cheers

Alex

Hello Everyone,

I wanted to follow up with all of you after discussing the summer schedule with the Advisors.

Attached is the updated schedule with some notes.

- In-Person class options they think will meet enrollments:
 - POL 201, POL/PA 419, POL 388
 - Offering one course in each of the 7.5 Week sessions would be ideal for international students
- The think PA 406 will likely not fill if we want to remove it
- We need one section of PA 470 in the summer to meet CJS demand
- Request for a minor course - they would really like one of the 'SGPP' prefix minor courses if possible
- Request for a WE course, if possible

Let me know if you have any questions—

Hi all,

The plan Alex laid out for soliciting interest from PhD students sounds good to me. With respect to point (b), I think having students rank order 2-3 courses they feel comfortable and prepared to teach would work well, since we can't make any promises regarding a single course, a particular session, or in-person vs. online.

Let me know if you want me to write up a draft email, or if there's already some standard text from years past that could be recycled and updated with this year's list of classes.

Cheers,
Jess

A few thoughts:

- Chris Weber was only on the list because we added him to Josh Ridenour's D2L to solve some problems. So, he definitely will not be teaching 201 this Summer. It will be a PhD student.
- We can certainly add PA470 to the schedule. We should have a PhD student or recent grad student available for that.
- I know craig has sometimes taught over the Summer. He is going to be developing POL485 (Urban Public policy) for online this Spring. So, we could always offer that -- perhaps in place of 406 in the second session if Craig is interested in teaching it then.

Jess: How would you like us to approach summer teaching with the PhD students? We could send around a list of the classes we wish to offer and ask them (if they are current year 3 or above) to let us know (a) if they'd like to be considered for teaching in Summer 2022; (b) if so, which classes they'd prefer to teach -- they will only be able to teach one but a list of their three preferences might be useful; (c) if they have a first or second session preference/limitation; and (d) their willingness to teach in person, online, or both. How does that sound?

Angela/Jeff/Kirssa: Could you work (with advisors) on identifying a couple of classes to teach in person from this list that you think would actually enroll students. Or: Do the advisors have other classes in mind?

Cheers

Hello All,

Just wanted to loop back around to the summer schedule.

I have attached an updated summer schedule here- we don't need to have instructors to finalize the schedule, but we really want to have the course options finalized (or as best we can since RCS takes forever to add courses). The only issue I think the advisors will have is that there is no PA 470 offered, but I will confirm this with them at the UG team meeting on Friday, Dec 3. I will also ask them about the in-person course(s) that they think will work for summer. Please let me know if you see any issues outside of PA 470—

Paulette- I know you noted that there would be fewer classes in Summer- do you have some thoughts on how to proceed for ISS?

I am hoping to get the summer 22 courses entered into UAccess during the week of Dec 6 so that I can start updating the Fall 22 the week after that (fingers Crossed).

Thanks for this, Angela. I am also copying Jess so she can weigh in on PhD students for teaching assignments.

My thinking for UG classes is the following. But Jeff and Kirssa should comment, too. (I am referring here to 001 in person sections; 101 i-course sections; and 201 online sections).

Session 1:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL204 (101/201)

POL210 (101): Ethan Orr

Session 2:

POL201 (101/201)
POL202 (101/201)
POL206 (101/201)
PA406 (Bureacracy) (001 OR 101/201): We should hopefully be developing this course in Spring 2022.

We could also teach the following in either session in my mind:

PA241 (101/201): Mike McCamman
POL309 (Judicial Process) (101/201): Brandon Tryon
POL325 (Pol Psych) (001 or 101/201):
PA330 (Ethics for PA) (101/201): Dan Grossenbach (adding section 201)
POL388 (Refugee and immig policy) (001 OR 101/201):
POL417 (Dictatorship) (001 OR 101/201):
POL419 (Terrorism) (001 OR 101/201):
POL481 (Enviro Policy) (101/201):

This gives us the same number classes as last summer. We could increase the number of classes, but we should be cautious about adding classes that are not likely to be popular. I have tried to focus here on the classes I think we should be able to get good enrollments in.

I listed the adjuncts here.

The 12 without instructors listed would then be taught by existing PhD students.

- We currently have 15 PhD students that would be eligible to teach a class (comps or beyond after this year).
- 5 of these are in their final year ([REDACTED] So, we would need to get a clearer sense of when they are likely to defend in order for Angela to plan when to hire them -- as continuing students or as adjuncts).
- This means we could add up to 3 additional sections in summer to find a class for these people. However, we need to think about if anyone is unlikely to be around at the end of the AY and/or if any folks are likely to be hired as RAs on projects over the Summer.
- It makes sense to have the PhD students potentially teach any in person classes, as this will be a useful experience. However, we need the advisors to be confident we have the numbers of students demanding classes in person.

Happy to hear folks' thoughts for Summer.

Cheers

Thanks for this, Angela. I am also copying Jess so she can weigh in on PhD students for teaching assignments.

My thinking for UG classes is the following. But Jeff and Kirssa should comment, too. (I am referring here to 001 in person sections; 101 i-course sections; and 201 online sections).

Session 1:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL204 (101/201)

POL210 (101): Ethan Orr

Session 2:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL206 (101/201)

PA406 (Bureacracy) (001 OR 101/201): We should hopefully be developing this course in Spring 2022.

We could also teach the following in either session in my mind:

PA241 (101/201): Mike McCamman

POL309 (Judicial Process) (101/201): Brandon Tryon

POL325 (Pol Psych) (001 or 101/201):

PA330 (Ethics for PA) (101/201): Dan Grossenbach (adding section 201)

POL388 (Refugee and immig policy) (001 OR 101/201):

POL417 (Dictatorship) (001 OR 101/201):

POL419 (Terrorism) (001 OR 101/201):

POL481 (Enviro Policy) (101/201):

This gives us the same number classes as last summer. We could increase the number of classes, but we should be cautious about adding classes that are not likely to be popular. I have tried to focus here on the classes I think we should be able to get good enrollments in.

I listed the adjuncts here.

The 12 without instructors listed would then be taught by existing PhD students.

- We currently have 15 PhD students that would be eligible to teach a class (comps or beyond after this year).
- 5 of these are in their final year ([REDACTED]). So, we would need to get a clearer sense of when they are likely to defend in order for Angela to plan when to hire them -- as continuing students or as adjuncts).
- This means we could add up to 3 additional sections in summer to find a class for these people. However, we need to think about if anyone is unlikely to be around at the end of the AY and/or if any folks are likely to be hired as RAs on projects over the Summer.
- It makes sense to have the PhD students potentially teach any in person classes, as this will be a useful experience. However, we need the advisors to be confident we have the numbers of students demanding classes in person.

Happy to hear folks' thoughts for Summer.

Cheers

Hello Everyone,

I wanted to send this rollover schedule for summer 2021 to start the discussion of coordinating the summer 2022. I do not plan to start working on summer until after thanksgiving, but I wanted to put this on your radar.

FYI- the UG Advisors have requested 2 in-person courses for our international students for next summer, if possible.

Hi all,

The plan Alex laid out for soliciting interest from PhD students sounds good to me. With respect to point (b), I think having students rank order 2-3 courses they feel comfortable and prepared to teach would work well, since we can't make any promises regarding a single course, a particular session, or in-person vs. online.

Let me know if you want me to write up a draft email, or if there's already some standard text from years past that could be recycled and updated with this year's list of classes.

Cheers,

Thanks, Angela!

A few thoughts:

- Chris Weber was only on the list because we added him to Josh Ridenour's D2L to solve some problems. So, he definitely will not be teaching 201 this Summer. It will be a PhD student.
- We can certainly add PA470 to the schedule. We should have a PhD student or recent grad student available for that.
- I know craig has sometimes taught over the Summer. He is going to be developing POL485 (Urban Public policy) for online this Spring. So, we could always offer that -- perhaps in place of 406 in the second session if Craig is interested in teaching it then.

Jess: How would you like us to approach summer teaching with the PhD students? We could send around a list of the classes we wish to offer and ask them (if they are current year 3 or above) to let us know (a) if they'd like to be considered for teaching in Summer 2022; (b) if so, which classes they'd prefer to teach -- they will only be able to teach one but a list of their three preferences might be useful; (c) if they have a first or second session preference/limitation; and (d) their willingness to teach in person, online, or both. How does that sound?

Angela/Jeff/Kirssa: Could you work (with advisors) on identifying a couple of classes to teach in person from this list that you think would actually enroll students. Or: Do the advisors have other classes in mind?

Cheers

Hello All,

Just wanted to loop back around to the summer schedule.

I have attached an updated summer schedule here- we don't need to have instructors to finalize the schedule, but we really want to have the course options finalized (or as best we can since RCS takes forever to add courses). The only issue I think the advisors will have is that there is no PA 470 offered, but I will confirm this with them at the UG team meeting on Friday, Dec 3. I will also ask them about the in-person course(s) that they think will work for summer. Please let me know if you see any issues outside of PA 470—

Paulette- I know you noted that there would be fewer classes in Summer- do you have some thoughts on how to proceed for ISS?

I am hoping to get the summer 22 courses entered into UAccess during the week of Dec 6 so that I can start updating the Fall 22 the week after that (fingers Crossed).

Thanks for this, Angela. I am also copying Jess so she can weigh in on PhD students for teaching assignments.

My thinking for UG classes is the following. But Jeff and Kirssa should comment, too. (I am referring here to 001 in person sections; 101 i-course sections; and 201 online sections).

Session 1:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL204 (101/201)

POL210 (101): Ethan Orr

Session 2:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL206 (101/201)

PA406 (Bureacracy) (001 OR 101/201): We should hopefully be developing this course in Spring 2022.

We could also teach the following in either session in my mind:

PA241 (101/201): Mike McCamman

POL309 (Judicial Process) (101/201): Brandon Tryon

POL325 (Pol Psych) (001 or 101/201):

PA330 (Ethics for PA) (101/201): Dan Grossenbach (adding section 201)

POL388 (Refugee and immig policy) (001 OR 101/201):

POL417 (Dictatorship) (001 OR 101/201):

POL419 (Terrorism) (001 OR 101/201):

POL481 (Enviro Policy) (101/201):

This gives us the same number classes as last summer. We could increase the number of classes, but we should be cautious about adding classes that are not likely to be popular. I have tried to focus here on the classes I think we should be able to get good enrollments in.

I listed the adjuncts here.

The 12 without instructors listed would then be taught by existing PhD students.

- We currently have 15 PhD students that would be eligible to teach a class (comps or beyond after this year).
- 5 of these are in their final year [REDACTED] So, we would need to get a clearer sense of when they are likely to defend in order for Angela to plan when to hire them -- as continuing students or as adjuncts).
- This means we could add up to 3 additional sections in summer to find a class for these people. However, we need to think about if anyone is unlikely to be around at the end of the AY and/or if any folks are likely to be hired as RAs on projects over the Summer.
- It makes sense to have the PhD students potentially teach any in person classes, as this will be a useful experience. However, we need the advisors to be confident we have the numbers of students demanding classes in person.

Happy to hear folks' thoughts for Summer.

Cheers

Alex

Hi Alex and Jess,

I am including the message I sent in Dec 2019 (I cannot seem to find my email from Dec 2020), but it was a follow up to an email from Chris (referencing the salary increase to $4000 for Grad student instructors):

My email to PhDs who qualified to teach in summer 2020:

Greetings Everyone!

I just wanted to send a quick follow up to Chris's email with some additional details:

Important Details:

- Please note that all PhD summer teaching assignments are dependent upon successful completion of comprehensive examinations and remaining in good academic standing.
- All PhD students must be registered for 6 units in the fall 2020 PRIOR to accepting their Summer teaching position (this happens during the spring semester- Kelly or Beth will contact you).
- All summer courses are taught ONLINE. If you would like to teach in-person, those classes meet every day for several hours a day (the specific scheduling has not yet been sorted out)
- PhD students need to seek prior approval from Chris Weber before accepting summer teaching positions outside of SGPP.

Instructions:

1. Please select 3 courses you would like to teach and email them to me, in order of preference. Each PhD student will only be assigned to ONE class for the summer sessions.
2. Please select which summer sessions that you would be available to teach during- in order of preference.
3. We are under some tight deadlines, so please let me know by 9:00am, Friday, December 13, 2019. This will allow Mark and I a week to put together the summer schedule.

Please let Mark and I know if you have any questions

Chris' email earlier that day:

Dear PhD Students,

I'm writing with some good news. We are able to increase summer teaching salaries to $4,000 (pre-tax). However, there are several important changes to our summer teaching policy. First, classes will need to have 20 or more enrolled students, otherwise the class will be canceled. This means you should request a class that you believe will fill. Mark and Angela have compiled a list from last summer to serve as a guide. Second, there will be two sessions, each 7.5 weeks. One session will run 5/13/2020-6/28/2020 and a second will run 7/1/2020-8/16/2020. If you are eligible to teach this *summer, please contact Angela and Mark with your teaching preferences.

Thanks.*

Hi all,

The plan Alex laid out for soliciting interest from PhD students sounds good to me. With respect to point (b), I think having students rank order 2-3 courses they feel comfortable and prepared to teach would work well, since we can't make any promises regarding a single course, a particular session, or in-person vs. online.

Let me know if you want me to write up a draft email, or if there's already some standard text from years past that could be recycled and updated with this year's list of classes.

Cheers,

Jess

Thanks, Angela!

A few thoughts:

- Chris Weber was only on the list because we added him to Josh Ridenour's D2L to solve some problems. So, he definitely will not be teaching 201 this Summer. It will be a PhD student.
- We can certainly add PA470 to the schedule. We should have a PhD student or recent grad student available for that.
- I know craig has sometimes taught over the Summer. He is going to be developing POL485 (Urban Public policy) for online this Spring. So, we could always offer that -- perhaps in place of 406 in the second session if Craig is interested in teaching it then.

Jess: How would you like us to approach summer teaching with the PhD students? We could send around a list of the classes we wish to offer and ask them (if they are current year 3 or above) to let us know (a) if they'd like to be considered for teaching in Summer 2022; (b) if so, which classes they'd prefer to teach -- they will only be able to teach one but a list of their three preferences might be useful; (c) if they have a first or second session preference/limitation; and (d) their willingness to teach in person, online, or both. How does that sound?

Angela/Jeff/Kirssa: Could you work (with advisors) on identifying a couple of classes to teach in person from this list that you think would actually enroll students. Or: Do the advisors have other classes in mind?

Cheers

Hello All,

Just wanted to loop back around to the summer schedule.

I have attached an updated summer schedule here- we don't need to have instructors to finalize the schedule, but we really want to have the course options finalized (or as best we can since RCS takes forever to add courses). The only issue I think the advisors will have is that there is no PA 470 offered, but I will confirm this with them at the UG team meeting on Friday, Dec 3. I will also ask them about the in-person course(s) that they think will work for summer. Please let me know if you see any issues outside of PA 470—

Paulette- I know you noted that there would be fewer classes in Summer- do you have some thoughts on how to proceed for ISS?

I am hoping to get the summer 22 courses entered into UAccess during the week of Dec 6 so that I can start updating the Fall 22 the week after that (fingers Crossed).

Apologies. I neglected to mention one thing. It would be great if we could initially cap the 201/202/204/206 classes at 40 seats (20 in online and 20 icourse). We could then potentially raise the caps again, but this should help us to spread the load a little more evenly between the two sessions in the first instance.

Thanks for this, Angela. I am also copying Jess so she can weigh in on PhD students for teaching assignments.

My thinking for UG classes is the following. But Jeff and Kirssa should comment, too. (I am referring here to 001 in person sections; 101 i-course sections; and 201 online sections).

Session 1:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL204 (101/201)

POL210 (101): Ethan Orr

Session 2:

POL201 (101/201)

POL202 (101/201)

POL206 (101/201)

PA406 (Bureacracy) (001 OR 101/201): We should hopefully be developing this course in Spring 2022.

We could also teach the following in either session in my mind:

PA241 (101/201): Mike McCamman

POL309 (Judicial Process) (101/201): Brandon Tryon

POL325 (Pol Psych) (001 or 101/201):

PA330 (Ethics for PA) (101/201): Dan Grossenbach (adding section 201)

POL388 (Refugee and immig policy) (001 OR 101/201):

POL417 (Dictatorship) (001 OR 101/201):

POL419 (Terrorism) (001 OR 101/201):

POL481 (Enviro Policy) (101/201):

This gives us the same number classes as last summer. We could increase the number of classes, but we should be cautious about adding classes that are not likely to be popular. I have tried to focus here on the classes I think we should be able to get good enrollments in.

I listed the adjuncts here.

The 12 without instructors listed would then be taught by existing PhD students.

- We currently have 15 PhD students that would be eligible to teach a class (comps or beyond after this year).
- 5 of these are in their final year ([REDACTED]). So, we would need to get a clearer sense of when they are likely to defend in order for Angela to plan when to hire them -- as continuing students or as adjuncts).
- This means we could add up to 3 additional sections in summer to find a class for these people. However, we need to think about if anyone is unlikely to be around at the end of the AY and/or if any folks are likely to be hired as RAs on projects over the Summer.
- It makes sense to have the PhD students potentially teach any in person classes, as this will be a useful experience. However, we need the advisors to be confident we have the numbers of students demanding classes in person. Happy to hear folks' thoughts for Summer.

Cheers

Alex

Hello Everyone,

I wanted to send this rollover schedule for summer 2021 to start the discussion of coordinating the summer 2022. I do not plan to start working on summer until after thanksgiving, but I wanted to put this on your radar.

FYI- the UG Advisors have requested 2 in-person courses for our international students for next summer, if possible.

Thanks-

Hello All,

Just wanted to loop back around to the summer schedule.

I have attached an updated summer schedule here- we don't need to have instructors to finalize the schedule, but we really want to have the course options finalized (or as best we can since RCS takes forever to add courses). The only issue I think the advisors will have is that there is no PA 470 offered, but I will confirm this with them at the UG team meeting on Friday, Dec 3. I will also ask them about the in-person course(s) that they think will work for summer. Please let me know if you see any issues outside of PA 470—

Paulette- I know you noted that there would be fewer classes in Summer- do you have some thoughts on how to proceed for ISS?

I am hoping to get the summer 22 courses entered into UAccess during the week of Dec 6 so that I can start updating the Fall 22 the week after that (fingers Crossed).

Hi Everyone,

Just a quick follow up from today's meeting that I have confirmed that POL/PA 436 is a WE course so I have emailed Javier about this. But I have also attached his syllabus from SP 20 which is the most recent one we have. I have also reached out to Alex re: additional PA/SOC seats/section for spring. The PA 330 Req groups has been updated for the 101/201 section with Dan Grossenbach.

For the attached excel (from analytics) I THINK I have found the historical catalog level requirement groups for all PA and POL courses. IF I read the table correctly, columns F/G are the courses required for columns H/I.... am I reading this correctly? IT looks like out POL courses are required for A LOT of classes. BUT please correct me if I am misinterpreting this info from analytics. Also attaching the requirement groups table for SGPP.

Thanks!

Hello Jeff and Kirssa,
I chatted with Mike this morning about PA 330 for the fall of 22 and I wanted to bring all the heads together on this conversation. [REDACTED] I wanted to propose we consider having Stu Brody teach the course (attached cv here). He has taught an ethics course for us in Fall 2019 (pa 333) but has not taught since. Mike has indicated that he would work with Dan Grossenbach (teaches 330 online now) and Stu to update the course syllabus content to be a theoretical and applied ethics course.

What are the thoughts on having Stu teach PA 330 in the Fall 22? Mike please feel free to jump in if I have misstated something. 😊

At some stage, it would be great if you could discuss this with the UG team. It'd be nice for us to have a sense of what capacity we think we need for these two classes between in person and online over the average year. With PMPC online now, we are going to eventually need to have a good balance.

As you have noted, probably not a rush on this until we are thinking about Fall schedule.

Hi Alex,

Thanks for the note on Spring. Stu would be flexible to teach in-person or online. Dan Grossenbach stopped by the other day and let us know that he may no longer be pursuing a PhD. If this is the case, Dan would be available to teach ethics in the Fall. I think for now we should keep Stu in mind for courses that we need to offer, but I don't see an immediate need for him to offer a course. His Fall 2019 course had an enrollment of 19.

Hi Edella,

Looks like SGPP has a few adjunct faculty who are also eligible for mentor matches – please let me know if you'd like to make a match or indicate "pass" if not this year?

We're hoping to send out vouchers 9/16 so any updates by 9/15 would be appreciated. (PS this is from the latest list I pulled a few weeks ago; looks like Jen Cyr wasn't on it at the time and there may be a few others people missing too, but if they're out of state it'd probably be right to 'pass' anyway?)

Good afternoon,

I am emailing to make sure the Dean's office is up on the latest mentor/mentee matches in your unit. We're thrilled to be able to return this year to our normal practice of reimbursing, up to $40, the cost of a meal together; we'll be sending vouchers and information in early Fall to all of the college's 'matches'.

Please:

- (1) update/confirm matches below. The mentor field may be blank because of a new hire, a mentor resigned or retired, or a match was never finalized from last year.
- (2) correct whatever is not right. Our systems of record change daily so if there's anyone here who shouldn't be, or you want to add someone (including Adjunct entry-level faculty) please do that!

NOTE: best if you yourself are not a mentor, especially to tenure-eligible faculty, so you can serve as H/D for the purposes of promotion evaluation (if you're mentor, there is a perceived conflict of interest since mentors are typically not considered independent evaluators).

I think that's a good idea.

Philosophy teach a bunch of different kinds of ethics classes. So, I suppose we could always allow students to count those as a short term fix for a semester or two if we are short of seats?

OK if I say that Grossenbach's plan to switch to Summer is OK?

Hi Alex,

Dan Grossenbach is going to be taking PhD courses beginning Spring 2022. He is wondering if he can move to teaching in Summer only. This would mean possibly cancelling his Spring 2022 ethics course. Do you have any opinion on this? He said he is willing to teach if we really need him, but he would prefer to clear his schedule and be fully devoted to taking courses.

RE: Nominations for 2021 SBS Outstanding Staff Awards

The staff of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences have always made significant contributions to our units and across the University. Through these difficult times we've seen staff step up even more. Each year, it is our great pleasure to recognize these individuals and teams who make a difference on campus by presenting the SBS Outstanding Staff Awards.

This year the College will extend four SBS Outstanding Staff Awards (one of which can be a team award) and one Deans Award for Excellence. Each recipient will receive a plaque and a $1,000 cash award. The cash award has increased significantly this year to recognize the important work staff do in support of the mission of our college. This is our time to recognize the outstanding staff in SBS!

To submit your nomination, please use the following link <https://insite.sbs.arizona.edu/nominations>.

The deadline for nominations (including three letters of support) is Friday, April 9 at 5:00 PM. Additional instructions and criteria information are on the landing page. A Selection Committee comprising staff members from outside SBS will review the nominations and make their recommendations to our office.

Again, I strongly encourage your participation. Let's show our outstanding staff how much we appreciate them!

See below for past outstanding staff award winners:

Angela,

I hope you're doing well. I was asked by a student to submit a letter of recommendation for a scholarship she's applying for. I'd like to help her with this but am curious if there is official SGPP letterhead template I could use for this. I presume she's asking me this in my university role as an adjunct instructor. If you know of any university policies on appropriate limitations for how the official letterhead is to be used, that would be helpful as well. Thanks as always!

Hi All,

There was a mix up with the COVID project code the university asked the College to use so it delayed these transactions. The system was not recognizing it so it was rejecting the transactions college wide. These positions are being funding with COVID funds and must be tracked by this specific project code. We are hoping to get them all routed for approval by end of this week/ early next week. The student will receive an email from the talent system once approved (hopefully by tomorrow). If the student has not previously worked for the University they must provide I-9 documentation (or if we have expired documentation).

I will also email the students and provide an update for them too.

Hi Eva,

Thanks so much for sending this info to [REDACTED] but we should probably clarify for the faculty instructors and the hired graders that they are graders and not 'TAs' because those are separate job descriptions. Just clarify that they will not be responsible for any instruction, but to assist with the assessment of submitted student work -- or something like that. I just want to be very clear that graders cannot 'teach'.

Hi Angela,

Thanks for getting us all straightened out. I can answer a couple of your questions.

First, the funding deadline. It remains open because if we become aware of additional need, we can submit additional requests, if there is money available.

Second, we have been notified. I was told at H&D meeting yesterday and Eva received an email from SBS with our request and that it has been approved.

Third, these will be non-competitive hires for the undergrads and MPAs. We will have Craig/Christina identify MPAs, faculty (such as what Samara already did) identify undergrads, and Chris and Alex will work on the PhD identification.

Hope this helps. Let me know if I can answer any additional questions.

Best,
Edella

Hi All,

I think this is a great idea and I think this is a wonderful way to help financially support students. Just an FYI- I have changed the email to Eva directly on this

I reviewed the hyperlink policy page and I have one question- when will we be notified that we have been awarded the funds? I only ask because the website indicated that the application for funding deadline is May 5 which leads me to think the funds are not for spring 21... but for later? Or am I reading this incorrectly?

I am happy to act as the lead on this for the faculty who have been offered the grader positions and I can work with Eva directly on the hires.

Alex, do you have any further direction on how we are to hire people-- if these will be student hires through the 'Handshake' system, or are they hired via Talent, non-competitive hires... I can see that the funds will be awarded directly to dept accounts (with a project code to be used for payment tracking), but there seems to be some information missing from this website in order for us to proceed...

I am happy to help wherever I can - just need a little clarity in logistics really.
Thanks,

Hi Alex,

Your email makes a great deal of sense to me. And, I just finished a zoom call with Eva when I received your email. This is what she shared:

undergraduates and MPA students will be hourly workers

PhD students who are TA/RAs are allowed up to 6 hours of work a week which will be paid as supp comp

we have to be very careful with international students as hiring them under this process may have negative consequences for their visas

Given the above, I very much like your plan Alex. We seek to hire ugs, MPAs, and consider Kelly or Cheryl. We only target existing TA/RA as last resort. In addition, Samara had a list of undergraduates who have taken her class and whom she would be happy to have work with her. This is what she said in her email:

There are plenty of students who did great in my class last semester who could be excellent graders. I know we're not supposed to contact them about this, so I'm not sure of their availability but a few good options:

Subject: Grading support for caregivers

Hi Angela,

We recently submitted a request for funds to support the hiring of some graders to provide support to instructors who are faced with challenging caregiving responsibilities during COVID-19.

Edella was told yesterday by SBS that we are free to proceed under the assumption that we will be granted these funds by the Provost's Office.

We requested 80 hours each of grading support for the following instructors. These hours are to be used this semester.

- Frank Gonzalez (80 hours)

- Dan Grossenbach (80 hours)
- Samara Klar (80 hours)
- Paul Schuler (80 hours)
- Yotam Shmargad (80 hours)

We requested $25/hour plus ERE to hire Graduate students. However, we can change the plan to hire UG students at $16/hour if this is the preference of the individual instructor. If the instructors prefer to hire one of their former UG students, they will be responsible for identifying the person and making sure they comply with guidelines and rules. If they prefer to hire a graduate student, I would prefer that we identify the individual. We should not hire anyone who is already on a 0.5FTE assistantship, so I want to make sure that these colleagues do not try to hire someone on such a contract. However, we could offer hours to Kelly Gordell or Cheryl Ellenwood or ask Craig and Christina to identify MPA/MPP students.

There are some guidelines and rules

here: <https://provost.arizona.edu/content/course-support-caregiving-instructors>

Would you mind helping me to coordinate with the five listed instructors? I want to make sure that we have just one line of planning on this, so that they stick to the rules as far as possible.

I have also CC'd the Business Center here, as they will lead on hiring once we identify graders.

Does this make any sense?

Cheers

Alex

Please be sure to have your Learning Outcomes noted clearly in their own section with a header - Learning Outcomes are action verbs and are measurable-- what students will be able to 'do' (not know) by the end of your course! Happy to answer any questions you may have about LO's

A general guideline is that a Learning Outcome could read something like this: "By the end of the semester students will be able to [insert verb] [insert an observable, measurable skill/action related to course content]." Whether Learning Outcomes are expressed in narrative form or a bullet point list, they indicate what students will be able to DO by the end of the course, not what they have LEARNED.

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the semester students will be able to:

- * define _____.
- * compare and contrast _____.
- * design _____.
- * solve _____.
- * defend _____.

It's important to note that good Learning Outcomes must be more specific and measurable than simply suggesting that students will "know," "understand," "appreciate," "be exposed to," "think about," or "be familiar with" certain course content by the end of the semester.

Please be sure to have your Learning Outcomes noted clearly in their own section with a header - Learning Outcomes are action verbs and are measurable-- what students will be able to 'do' (not know) by the end of your course! Happy to answer any questions you may have about LO's

A general guideline is that a Learning Outcome could read something like this: "By the end of the semester students will be able to [insert verb] [insert an observable, measurable skill/action related to course content]." Whether Learning Outcomes are expressed in narrative form or a bullet point list, they indicate what students we be able to DO by the end of the course, not what they have LEARNED.

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the semester students will be able to:

- * define _____.*
- * compare and contrast _____.*
- * design _____.*
- * solve _____.*
- * defend _____.*

It's important to note that good Learning Outcomes must be more specific and measurable than simply suggesting that students will "know," "understand," "appreciate," "be exposed to," "think about," or "be familiar with" certain course content by the end of the semester.

Hi Dan,

I hope your spring semester is going smoothly so far! I have good news for you- SGPP has been approved for funding for a few graders for the Spring 2021 semester through the Office of the Provost initiative and you will be getting one for your course PA 330 001! I am including Eva Ybarra on this email to facilitate the hire for you.

Your grader can be one of two options:

- An Undergraduate student of your choosing (80 hours approved- average 5 hours/week, $16.00 hourly pay rate)
- A grad student that is selected for you by the SGPP Directors (80 hours- average 5 hours/week, $25.00 hourly pay rate)

Please let us know asap how you would like to proceed, and we can get the hiring process started.

Please note that you will be noted as this grader's supervisor and you will be responsible for approving their entered work time on a biweekly basis in UAccess Employee/Manager Self-Service (please coordinate with your grader on the logistics of time entry and approving to ensure that your grader is paid every pay period). If time is not approved by the supervisor, student workers will not get paid. If you have not approved time for a student worker in the past, Eva can assist you with gaining the provisioning privileges and training you will need.

Hi Angela,

Thanks for getting us all straightened out. I can answer a couple of your questions.

First, the funding deadline. It remains open because if we become aware of additional need, we can submit additional requests, if there is money available.

Second, we have been notified. I was told at H&D meeting yesterday and Eva received an email from SBS with our request and that it has been approved.

Third, these will be non-competitive hires for the undergrads and MPAs. We will have Craig/Christina identify MPAs, faculty (such as what Samara already did) identify undergrads, and Chris and Alex will work on the PhD identification.

Hope this helps. Let me know if I can answer any additional questions.

Hi All,

I think this is a great idea and I think this is a wonderful way to help financially support students. Just an FYI- I have changed the email to Eva directly on this

I reviewed the hyperlink policy page and I have one question- when will we be notified that we have been awarded the funds? I only ask because the website indicated that the application for funding deadline is May 5 which leads me to think the funds are not for spring 21... but for later? Or am I reading this incorrectly?

I am happy to act as the lead on this for the faculty who have been offered the grader positions and I can work with Eva directly on the hires.

Alex, do you have any further direction on how we are to hire people-- if these will be student hires through the 'Handshake' system, or are they hired via Talent, non-competitive hires... I can see that the funds will be awarded directly to dept accounts (with a project code to be used for payment tracking), but there seems to be some information missing from this website in order for us to proceed...

I am happy to help wherever I can - just need a little clarity in logistics really.

Thanks,

Hi Alex,

Your email makes a great deal of sense to me. And, I just finished a zoom call with Eva when I received your email. This is what she shared:

undergraduates and MPA students will be hourly workers

PhD students who are TA/RAs are allowed up to 6 hours of work a week which will be paid as supp comp

we have to be very careful with international students as hiring them under this process may have negative consequences for their visas

Given the above, I very much like your plan Alex. We seek to hire ugs, MPAs, and consider Kelly or Cheryl. We only target existing TA/RA as last resort. In addition, Samara had a list of undergraduates who have taken her class and whom she would be happy to have work with her. This is what she said in her email:

There are plenty of students who did great in my class last semester who could be excellent graders. I know we're not supposed to contact them about this, so I'm not sure of their availability but a few good options:

- [REDACTED]

Subject: Grading support for caregivers

Hi Angela,

We recently submitted a request for funds to support the hiring of some graders to provide support to instructors who are faced with challenging caregiving responsibilities during COVID-19.

Edella was told yesterday by SBS that we are free to proceed under the assumption that we will be granted these funds by the Provost's Office.

We requested 80 hours each of grading support for the following instructors. These hours are to be used this semester.

- Frank Gonzalez (80 hours)
- Dan Grossenbach (80 hours)
- Samara Klar (80 hours)
- Paul Schuler (80 hours)
- Yotam Shmargad (80 hours)

We requested $25/hour plus ERE to hire Graduate students. However, we can change the plan to hire UG students at $16/hour if this is the preference of the individual instructor. If the instructors prefer to hire one of their former UG students, they will be responsible for identifying the person and making sure they comply with guidelines and rules. If they prefer to hire a graduate student, I would prefer that we identify the individual. We should not hire anyone who is already on a 0.5FTE assistantship, so I want to make sure that these colleagues do not try to hire someone on such a contract. However, we could offer hours to Kelly Gordell or Cheryl Ellenwood or ask Craig and Christina to identify MPA/MPP students.

There are some guidelines and rules
here: <https://provost.arizona.edu/content/course-support-caregiving-instructors>

Would you mind helping me to coordinate with the five listed instructors? I want to make sure that we have just one line of planning on this, so that they stick to the rules as far as possible.

I have also CC'd the Business Center here, as they will lead on hiring once we identify graders.

Does this make any sense?

Cheers

Alex

Yes, I agree.

I think that the sooner we have all the programs online, the safer we are against any odd decision-making surrounding the new global campus/Ashford limiting new online programs. I do not think there is any real risk of this. But, better to be safe.

I am convinced that JP is not operating on a rational basis here. So I see how he might view this in that way.

I am inclined, though, to move ahead because the logic is consistent with our claim for tenure track faculty on CJ. We are open to hiring CT and adjuncts to fill out offerings on programs where we have some TT faculty coverage.

Thanks, Edella.

241 will be offered once or twice a year online. Brad is going to teach it online in Fall 2021. We will likely also have a PhD student offer it online in Summer if we have suitable student available.

If we then do move the degree online, we can increase the frequency of offerings online.

Hi Edella

Jill (from Online) just reached out about Spring course developments. We already have two lined up for development: Adam's networks class and Paul's dictatorship class.

We can add one more under the current arrangements. I suspect that if we all agree to PMPC going online, we could add two.

Here is what PMPC will require to be online (beyond the into classes, which all exist):

- PA330 Ethics :: Grossenbach has been teaching this online. We are already at capacity. So, we could do with offering it more frequently. Probably OK in the short term. Worth having a longer term solution to combine with CJS if that moves online.
- PA393 Internships :: I have chatted in the past with Susan about developing this. So, we could plan to develop in FY22.
- PA406 Bureaucracy :: John Tidd had been teaching online. We have spoken with Courtney Cooper about teaching this in the future. McGuire would be an alternative, if Cooper chooses instead to just focus on teaching the intelligence class. Could line this up to develop in FY22.
- PA410 finance :: Rich Prater teaches this online. We probably would need to offer more frequently. But probably OK in short term. Worth having a longer term solution to combine with CJS if that moves online.
- PA470 pub orgs :: We have now developed this for online. So, we should be OK.
- PA480 pub policy :: Malcolm Goggin teaches this online at present. We have seat capacity. Could also offer McGuire the chance to develop this anew, perhaps in conjunction with some of the rest of you.
- PA481 environ policy :: Not typically taught online yet. Should line up to be team developed (Baldwin, Bakkenen, Henry, Schlager) in FY21 -- I think we should add this in the Spring.
- PA 483 urban policy :: Not typically taught online yet. Would we have a team for this or just Craig? Could line up for FY22.

So, I will let you email Jill and Yissel about PMPC possibly going online. I can then follow up with a bit of a plan for what that would require in FY21 and FY22.

Cheers

Subject: Confirming POL Online Courses for SP21 Developments

Hello Alex,

As we proceed with Political Science course developments, can you confirm the 3 Spring Classes and the instructors for us (we are finalizing our list for the Digital Learning folks). Below is from your email to me about the Spring.

PA	403	Political networks		Have invited Adam Henry	21SP	21FA
POL	417	Dictatorship		Have invited Paul Schuler	21SP	21FA
POL	330	Minority groups in American politics		NOT YET INVITED	21SP

- In yellow are the two classes that I have so far arranged for Spring 2021 development -- POL417 and PA403. The instructors are lined up for those developments. So, you can pass their names along to be contacted in Spring. We would then plan on adding those two classes to the Fall schedule with Schuler and Henry teaching them, respectively.
- As per our last meeting, we are then deciding on one final class to begin development in Spring 2021 for delivery in Fall 2021. The identity of this class will depend upon our meeting in a couple of weeks -- i.e., depends upon whether we launch criminal justice studies. At the moment, I hope to invite folks to develop POL330 (minority politics). But this could change.

Jill

Hi Jill

I'd be happy to chat but I think it is easier for me to pass along a document and then ask Mark Barnard (copied) to confirm my response to your second point.

1. On course developments.
 - a. I am attaching my version of the spreadsheet which should be up to date.
 - b. The classes in dark green have all been developed and are on the current Fall or Spring schedules.
 - c. The classes in a lighter green are currently "being developed." Both will be offered in Summer 2021 session for the first time. That schedule has not yet been arranged. But we will process them with the Summer 2021 schedule.
 - d. In yellow are the two classes that I have so far arranged for Spring 2021 development -- POL417 and PA403. The instructors are lined up for those developments. So, you can pass their names along to be contacted in Spring. We would then plan on adding those two classes to the Fall schedule with Schuler and Henry teaching them, respectively.
 - e. As per our last meeting, we are then deciding on one final class to begin development in Spring 2021 for delivery in Fall 2021. The identity of this class will depend upon our meeting in a couple of weeks -- i.e., depends upon whether we launch criminal justice studies. At the moment, I hope to invite folks to develop POL330 (minority politics). But this could change.
 - f. The classes at the bottom of the page are those that we then hope to subsequently line up for development in Summer and Fall 2021 and Spring 2022. This list also depends upon moving CJS online.
2. On Spring 2021 schedule.
 - a. All of our POL201, POL202, POL204, and POL206 classes would now have 60 person seat capacities. Ideally, these would be evenly split (30 each) between 101 (main campus i-course) and 201 (online) sections. It looks as if two things are happening here. Mark can hopefully confirm if either of these are accurate.
 - i. Potentially, not all of these have been switched to 60 person total capacities.
 - ii. We have also been pushed to accommodate some section 401 (global) students, so it may be that some of the numbers look to be below capacity because there are also seats dedicated to 401 global students.
 - b. Mark has recently requested a change to many of our UG online classes to have them equally balanced between 101 and 201 sections. He can confirm if your numbers reflect this or are from prior to this request being processed.
 - c. We will be adding a third POL201 (101/201) class for Spring with a total of 60 seats. In fact, Mark, please go ahead and add this to second session.
 - d. We will also add a section of POL413, which is always popular. We can add this to either session at this point depending upon

Again, happy to talk through any of this once we get a sense from Mark of whether what you sent through looks accurate.

Cheers

Alex

Hi Jill,

We currently have 50 to 60 seats of both 201 and 202 in the Spring.

So, I think we will plan on offering an additional section of 201 -- likely in session 2.

I will then likely use our other spare instructor to teach POL413 -- hopefully online. This is a popular class for students in both LAW and POL (I still have to confirm the format of the class.)

Hope this sounds OK.

Hi Alex,

Thanks for the check in on this. So if I trust the forecasting tool it predicts that we will need a total of about 41 seats for POL 201 for Spring 21 and for POL 202 it predicts about 32 seats needed.

I'm not sure how to break that out based on options. It is possible we could fill more but I want to be sure I'm not setting you up for any disappointment.

What makes the most sense based on those predictions?

The predictions are in the last column (below)

Thanks,

Jill

Dear Fall 2020 instructors,

For me, the last week has been exhausting. I feel like I maxed out the number of tabs in my mental browser and now I cannot find anything I need. So many things are happening, and I want to share a few updates that might help you:

- Student Course Surveys will be available through an opt-in process this semester. To opt in, contact your departmental administrator to let them know you'd like to order. The deadlines to opt into Student Course Surveys are 11/11 for regular-semester courses, 11/25 for 7W2 courses, and 12/5 for 8W2 courses. For more information on ordering, please contact Becky Pérez, rperez@arizona.edu.
- Faculty Affairs and the Office of Instruction and Assessment (OIA) are administering a follow-up survey to determine how we can best support your work during the pandemic. The deadline is 12/4/20. To learn more about results from our Spring 2020 survey, please visit the Faculty Affairs Reports and Data page and scroll to the bottom.
- OIA is looking for instructors willing to participate in a video project to share their Fall 2020 successes to help other UArizona instructors plan for their spring teaching. If you are willing to share your story, please visit this short survey by 11/16/20.
- Most importantly, Wednesday, 11/11/20 is a University holiday to honor Veterans Day.

This semester has given me a new appreciation for the complexity of our institution and the astonishing degree of coordination required to keep us moving forward. As we inch toward the end of the semester, I am thankful for the opportunity to collaborate with so many dedicated and creative colleagues and students in our amazing community.

Remember to pace yourselves, and stay safe!

Hi Dan,

So, you know we are working with the HLC to help maintain strict syllabus standards for courses... well we will need a quick update to you fall syllabus, but I am going to assume you already know the info -- they need a weekly course assessment section. It doesn't have to be date specific, but can be 'Week 1, Week 2'. But it should identify the readings and assignments, quizzes, papers, etc. that will be covered or due that week. It should be incorporated into the syllabus, but it can be the last page that we just add on. This specific list also helps us when students who have graduated reach out to verify course content when they apply to graduate programs.

Thanks so much!

Hello Sylvia and Dan,
I am pleased to hear that this student has responded to you and you are going to meet up. The University is not prohibiting in-person meetings for instructors/TAs and students, strong strongly discouraging them. Keep in mind that you (as the instructor) cannot require an in-person meeting, but you may accept an invitation to do so from a student. Does this make sense?

I agree with Sylvia that, if you are following CDC COVID guidelines, you should be fine. What I will gently reiterate is that the conversation you have with the student will likely contain FERPA protected information (class performance, grades, etc.) so be mindful of your surroundings and the volume of your voices so as to maintain a sense of confidentiality for the student. Should the student communicate anything to you that you find alarming, please reach out to Sylvia and Myself and we can help guide you through a mental health reporting process so that university mental health staff can start/continue a conversation with the student.

Thank for your willingness to reach out, Dan- the students will appreciate it.

Learning Outcomes (Not Learning Objectives) Guidelines per HLC:

A general guideline is that a Learning Outcome could read something like this:
“By the end of the semester students will be able to [insert verb] [insert an observable, measurable skill/action related to course content].” Whether Learning Outcomes are expressed in narrative form or a bullet point list, they indicate what students we be able to DO by the end of the course, not what they have LEARNED.

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the semester students will be able to:
define _____.
compare and contrast _____.
design _____.
solve _____.
defend _____.

It’s important to note that good Learning Outcomes must be more specific and measurable than simply suggesting that students will “know,” “understand,” “appreciate,” “be exposed to,” “think about,” or “be familiar with” certain course content by the end of the semester.

Quick notes:

- See attached Map for campus distribution sites
- See attached schedule for location times (Sunday, Aug 23- Friday, Aug 28, 2020)
- You must pick up your mask yourself- at this time, delegates are not allowed
- You will need your Cat Card to obtain your mask as this is how they will be tracking distribution (no exceptions- it can be old, they just need the 16 digit number)
- If you do not wish to pick up your mask at this time, they can be picked up anytime, beginning Saturday, August 29, 2020, at the UArizona Main Bookstore

Subject: Fw: Spring 2021 teaching modalities

Hi Both

I just emailed colleagues to ask if they prefer to switch their Spring 2021 class modalities. We will see what they say.

Couple quick requests:

1. Do you know if all of the Spring 2021 adjuncts are on the spring adjuncts email list?
2. Would you mind putting a version of the current Spring class schedule on google sheets so that we can collectively detail requests from colleagues?

Anything I have neglected to consider here?

Cheers

Alex

Subject: [sgpp_faculty] Spring 2021 teaching modalities

Dear Colleagues,

I am writing now regarding Spring 2021 classes for SGPP. If you are not due to teach any classes for SGPP in Spring 2021, you can feel free to disregard this message.

I appreciate that there are still great uncertainties regarding how the coming Fall semester is going to work out on campus. However, it is already time for us to consider how we want to teach our schedule of classes for Spring 2021.

The expectation is that the UArizona will continue with four teaching modalities for Spring 2021: in person (how classes are traditionally run on campus); flex in person (which provides a hybrid of in person and remote); live online (which is synchronous online); and iCourse (which is asynchronous online). You can find more details about these modalities here: <https://teachingmodels.arizona.edu>

If you were already due to be teaching a class online (whether as an iCourse for main campus students and/or as a fully online class for our online campus students), you do not need to make any decisions. Your classes will continue as planned.

If you were due in Spring 2021 to teach an in person class, I would appreciate if you would take some to think about whether you would like to request a change to the listed modality for this class. You have the following options:

- Stay with the plan to teach your class(es) in person. You do not need to do anything to stay with this modality. No action needed.
- Switch from in person to "flex in person". Please email me to let me know this is your preference.

- Switch from in person to "live online". Please email me to let me know if this is your preference. Please note, however, that switching to live online means that you are giving up your physical classroom space. So making this switch makes it difficult to anticipate any future switch back to in person or flex in person for the Spring 2021 semester.

If you would like to request a switch at this time, please do so by August 15th.

I do not know for sure that we will have future opportunities to make these switches. However, I am optimistic that you will be able to request a switch at a later date. So if you'd rather allow some time to pass before making this decision for Spring 2021, I think that you can probably delay your decision.

Best wishes,

Alex

Hi Dan,

Happy to help- I have attached some specific instructions here for you.

In D2L, you start by requesting your course site: <https://csr.d2l.arizona.edu/Default.aspx>, and then follow the guidelines for importing previous courses.

Please keep in mind that it imports the class exactly as it was (so all dates and deadlines will need to be edited).

Dear Colleagues,

I am writing to all instructors, grad students, and faculty involved in teaching for SGPP this coming Fall semester. You have been receiving a lot of messages from UA central administration. So, this is my attempt to try to consolidate what I think are some important considerations as we head in to the Fall semester.

There are three main block of text below my sign off that I have tried to clearly label.

1. The first of these is a message sent from the Office of the Provost to all UArizona students this past week. Basically, this lays out the current plan for a staged re-entry on to campus for classes. ALL classes will begin as scheduled on August 24th. However, those that are designated with an in-person or flex in-person modality will only re-enter physical class spaces as laid out in this plan. Unfortunately, there will be confusion over timing. The leadership have identified target dates for the three stages for in person education. HOWEVER, these all depend upon the data showing that this is feasible. So, the message here is to expect to hear more. Bottom line: All SGPP classes will begin in live online mode (unless listed as fully online). You will receive notifications regarding when in person will be possible (assuming you requested to be in person). For those of you that opted for live online, you will remain that way the whole semester.

2. The second block of text is a suggestion for some things to pay close attention to for a quick start to the semester. This includes some tips from OIA and some resources that are available to us all.
3. The third block of text focuses upon a series of workshops that the OIA are making available ahead of the start of the semester. They have a great track record with these workshops. So I recommend - without having yet participated - them all to you if you are at all concerned about running your classes live online.

Hope that you are all doing well.

Cheers

Alex

1 Message sent to students by the Provost this past week:

Last week, we announced the fall semester will begin as scheduled on August 24, with a mix of in-person and remote instruction delivered via four modalities (In-Person, Flex In-Person, Live Online and iCourse). Our reentry plan starts with the arrival of students onto all of our campuses by August 24 and includes a two-week on-ramp approach to optimize our ability to deliver In-Person instruction. We will gradually introduce additional In-Person courses. Using this approach, we can welcome you back into In-Person courses as quickly as possible, while safeguarding the health and well-being of our campuses and surrounding community.

This means that if you are registered for an In-Person or Flex In-Person course, some of your courses might be online at the start of the semester on August 24 and then move to In-Person mode by the week of September 8.

You can see when and how your In-Person or Flex In-Person course(s) will meet by checking UAccess Student on or after August 3 and again on August 10. Click on view more details on your class schedule for the class notes section, and the details of your class will be identified prominently in the note.

The On-Ramp Approach

Beginning August 24: Hands-On, In-Person instruction

Only hands-on courses – such as labs, medical, research, and fine and performing arts studios – and those courses scheduled for outdoor spaces will be held in person on our campuses.

All other In-Person and Flex In-Person courses will begin online on August 24.

Beginning August 31: Small In-Person courses

The next stage of the reentry process will increase our campus presence with In-Person and Flex In-Person classes with 30 or fewer students.

All other In-Person and Flex In-Person classes will proceed online during Stage 2.

Beginning September 8: Larger In-Person classes, after Labor Day

We will proceed with larger In-Person classes resuming on our campuses.

Campus Services and Support

For those who plan to live on campus, we look forward to welcoming you to the dorms for move-in as scheduled, and you can live on campus while engaging in all course modalities. Follow Housing & Residential Life for more information.

Other main campus support services will be in operation, including selected library spaces and services, the Student Union's food services, and the BookStore. Campus Recreation will provide a range of services to ensure that you can safely remain active. Campus Health will continue to provide robust support for our students. Support beyond the classroom, such as advising, student aid counseling, career development, tutoring, supplemental instruction and cultural centers, will continue online until further notice.

Wildcat Wellness

It is up to each and every Wildcat to help ensure that we can move through these first few weeks of reentry quickly and effectively. By following good public health practices – reducing the number of in-person interactions we have each day, wearing a face covering, physically distancing, and following good personal hygiene and disinfectant routines – we can be learning together in-person as soon as possible.

Thanks for your patience and understanding as our plans continue to evolve.

Stay Safe, Stay Healthy, and Bear Down!

2 Getting set up for a successful start to the semester:

- Communicate with your students, now. Let them know you are looking forward to meeting them, and share with them your plan for course structure during the first few weeks. Your warm communication will mean a lot to your students, who are generally even more uncertain about what the semester holds than we are. For guidance on different ways to reach out, see these Communication Suggestions.
- Set up a course site in D2L that provides a consistent, week-by-week structure for all your course elements. See Step 5 in the Planning for Teaching guide, take one of the Build Your D2L Course Site workshops described above, or contact our fantastic D2L consultants for targeted help.
- The Teaching Models website provides descriptions and examples of teaching in the distanced in-person, flex in-person, and live online modalities, along with resources to support instructors as they flesh out their plans.
- The Planning for Teaching guide provides step-by-step guidance for getting your course ready, regardless of modality.
- OIA have one-step scheduling for Zoom consultations.
- UITs have some tech items/gear that you can borrow (if available): <https://it.arizona.edu/service/gear-go>

Teaching was something I've considered for a few years, but after having done it, I really feel this is a calling for me. Hi Mark. I've appreciated all the support from Angela, D2L, prior instructors, and the library folks in getting this class set up. I'm excited to enter our first day of class today with the 20 students and have already met several of them via video. With how things have affected the university and being a new adjunct, I wanted to ask if you still need me to teach PA330 (ethics) in the fall. I'm available so please let me know if that's still on.

We want to reassure you that this will not require any additional work or changes on your part. If you have any questions or concerns, the SGPP staff and faculty are always here for you.

The parameters for these 401 sections are as follows:

- All classes will remain capped at 40 seats.
- Priority seating will be given to SGPP majors so please let students know that they have to work with their SGPP Academic Advisor to be enrolled in the course (if seats are available).
- If the 401 section seats do not fill, those seats will be offered to main campus and online students to utilize.
- Section 401 students will be held to the same academic standards as 101/201 section students.
- Be aware of the 401 section when requesting your D2L course sites for fall and be sure it is included in your course.

I have also included an email for online instructors from UA Global below. Please do not hesitate to reach out to Angela or I if you have any questions or concerns regarding these online 401 sections-- or anything else!

From UA Global:

Dear Instructor:

If you are teaching an online class in Fall 2020 you may notice the addition of a new section. This new section was created as part of the Global Direct (GLBD) launch announced on May 4, 2020 (<https://uanews.arizona.edu/story/university-arizona-launches-global-campus>). The 400-numbered sections are primarily for international students who cannot come to campus in Fall 2020 because of travel restrictions and the goal is to accommodate their learning in Fall 2020, online, and hopefully have them on campus in Spring 2021.

We are in the process of adding seats for Global Direct students to all Arizona Online classes (outside of independent study) and this project will be done by June 1, 2020 when students are expected to start registering. In addition, some curated iCourses will include Global Direct sections as approved by their college.

Thank you in advance for providing opportunities for UArizona students to continue and start their educations during this trying time.

Subject: Course Seat adjustments for Fall
Date: Saturday, May 16, 2020 10:25:02 AM

Hello Everyone,

I wanted to let you know about a bit of a 'project' we have been working on since Tuesday (May 12) regarding fall online course seats (for 101 and 201 sections only). You may notice that most of our online offerings are now reduced to a combined 30 or 35 seat capacity rather than the regular 40 seat capacity. This change is due to the UA Global directive that is requiring all depts across campus to offer 10 seats to UA Global students in nearly all graduate and Undergraduate, 101 and 201 sections.

SGPP has submitted the list below of SGPP classes to UA Global, and Amy Kimme Hea, that we believe we are able to offer seats in. We have not offered 10 seats in all classes though- some course we have offered 0 seats, others, just 5 seats. Please know that we have and will continue to resist when UA Global requests are not going to work for SGPP students/instructors.

I know this isn't ideal for anyone (instructors, students, or advisors) but please know that we will be making accommodations for OUR student first- so if you need a seat, let Mark or I know and we will sort it out by adjusting the combined 3 section seat ratios (our online courses will now be listed as 'POL XXX: 101/201/401' in the respective catalogs). We are trying to be accommodating to this new venture in UA Global because the university hopes that it will lead to new, on-campus international students in the Fall 21. But we will not be jeopardizing our student's degree programs in order to meet the needs of UA Global.

Hi Mark and Angela. I hope things you're as well as can be in these weird times. I've been putting things together for the PA330 summer I class and had a couple questions. I'm unclear on who to ask so I've cc'd you both.

I've decided to keep true to the general format Vance laid out in his class rather than reinvent the wheel. I have some other reading and assignments I prefer but the bones of the course I think are pretty good. I'd like to look over some of his assigned readings but it's hard to locate them in the library because the description isn't specific enough or the author name isn't mentioned for me to find the right piece. Do you know how I can find all the readings?

I've taken the online tutorial and quizzes on D2L and have set up a practice site. I believe I can build a site and then transfer it to the real site on the first day of class, right? Or will I start the course site sometime before that? Also, how do I provide the assigned reading materials on D2L? Is there a way to link to them via the U of A library or does the department have to purchase the rights to use the sections I assign?

Thanks in advance for bearing with the new guy.

I've taken the online tutorial and quizzes on D2L and have set up a practice site. I believe I can build a site and then transfer it to the real site on the first day of class, right? Or will I start the course site sometime before that? Also, how do I provide the assigned reading materials on D2L? Is there a way to link to them via the U of A library or does the department have to purchase the rights to use the sections I assign?

Thanks in advance for bearing with the new guy.

Hi Edella,

I have attached two summer offer letters for your signature. Once I get the signed letters back from you, I will send to the employee.

If for some reason you cannot electronically sign them, your email approval will be sufficient and I will have Elena add your electronic signature.

There will be one more offer letter for a new hire, Dan Grossenbach that will be generated directly from Talent. We will see how that goes, as it is the first time using it.

Thank you,
Beth

I have looped in Beth as well for summer contracts as well.

Keep in mind:

- Students can see the summer schedule now, but enrollment doesn't begin until the first week of April
- all summer UG courses are now 7.5 Week sessions and no longer pre-session and the 2, 5 week sessions.

- Craig smith is the only faculty teaching this summer for MPA/MPP.
- Jeff, Annie, Paulette and Kirssa are teaching for ISS.
- Summer PhD salaries are $4000, provided they have 20 students

Mark- do you recall who was scheduled to teach PA 344 & 330?

Hi Everyone,

Summer Session will be sending more info out, by Monday. This will contain the dates, etc. that I need to use for the submission. I looked for, and don't seem to have, the summer session instruction list. Could someone sent that to me or if it's on the drive, let me know where and I can grab it. It will take me time anyway, to set up all the position numbers and funding distribution for each instructor.

Subject: [provostoffice-all-faculty] COVID-19 Campus Mitigation Plan / Guidance on Summer 2020 - Academic Session, Study Abroad Programs, and K-12 Camps

View this email in your browser

We are writing to clarify the institution's position on Summer Session 2020 courses and Study Abroad 2020 summer programs. We realize that faculty, staff and students need to be able to make decisions now for what their summer plans will include, despite the many uncertainties we are facing. Accordingly, we have developed the following guidelines with the objective of providing some clarity on these aspects of our operations for the next 3 months.

Domestic Summer Session Courses

- All domestic Summer Session 2020 courses that are planned to start in May and June must be moved to an online-only format.
- Courses that are planned to start on 1 July 2020 or later may plan to operate in person and enroll accordingly.
- On or before May 1 we will issue guidance (i.e., go / no-go) regarding in-person courses that are scheduled to begin on 1 July or later. Instructors should please be prepared to cancel the class or migrate to an online format if the COVID-19 conditions continue to require it.
- University of Arizona dual degree students at global locations will continue to follow the protocols of their host institutions.

Study Abroad Summer 2020 Programs

- All University of Arizona Study Abroad programs starting in May and June 2020 will be cancelled.
- Study abroad programs that are planned to start on 1 July 2020 or later may plan to continue to operate and may enroll accordingly.

- Leaders of faculty-led Study Abroad programs who would like to explore moving their program's start date to July, should contact the Global Study Abroad office.
- On or before May 1 we will issue guidance (i.e., go / no-go) regarding Study Abroad programs that are scheduled to begin on 1 July or later. Instructors should please be prepared to cancel the program if the COVID-19 conditions continue to require it.

K-12 Camps and Day Programs for Summer 2020

- All domestic University of Arizona online summer activities for K-12 students should proceed as planned.
- All domestic University of Arizona in-person activities for K-12 students, including day camps and overnight camps, starting in May and June 2020 will be cancelled.
- Domestic in-person activities and programs for K-12 students that are planned to start on 1 July 2020 or later may plan to operate and enroll accordingly.
- Leaders of domestic in-person camps and activities for K-12 students are welcome to explore moving their program's start date to 1 July or later.
- On or before May 1 we will issue guidance (i.e., go / no-go) regarding domestic in-person activities and programs for K-12 students that are scheduled to begin on 1 July or later. Instructors should please be prepared to cancel the activity if the COVID-19 conditions continue to require it.

Thank you for your continued patience as we make these hard decisions to ensure the health and safety of our community.

Sincerely,

Liesl Folks, Ph.D., MBA

Hi All,

Some thoughts:

1. Grossenbach for 330 sounds good to me. So long as we can fill it twice, let's do it.
2. 419 (terrorism) I think I'd shoot for Sangmi Jeong before Drew, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
3. Mai would be great for the dictatorship class (417).
4. Isabel and Kelly for 201.
5. Xiran and Jie Ming for 202.
6. Alexis for 204.
7. Kijoon for 206.
8. Leah for 470.
9. Qianhui for 480.

10. Alejandro for SGPP303.
 11. Mike for 241.
 12. Joseph for 437 or 454.
 13. The above would give us 13 out of the 14 that are listed for the PhDs (+ Sangmi as adjunct).
- Feel about right?

Cheers

Hi Alex,

Thank you for your well thought out response! I have gone with the recommendations you made below. The schedule looks great! In addition to what I previously sent you, we have also added PA 330 for 7.5 week two. An updated summer schedule is attached.

Thank you again,

Hi All,

Some thoughts:

1. Grossenbach for 330 sounds good to me. So long as we can fill it twice, let's do it.
2. 419 (terrorism) I think I'd shoot for Sangmi Jeong before Drew, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
3. Mai would be great for the dictatorship class (417).
4. Isabel and Kelly for 201.
5. Xiran and Jie Ming for 202.
6. Alexis for 204.
7. Kijoon for 206.
8. Leah for 470.
9. Qianhui for 480.
10. Alejandro for SGPP303.

11. Mike for 241.
 12. Joseph for 437 or 454.
 13. The above would give us 13 out of the 14 that are listed for the PhDs (+ Sangmi as adjunct).
- Feel about right?

Cheers

Hello All,

Just a quick request from the advisors: can we see if Dan Grossenbach could do PA 330 online this summer and in fall? The Advisors are really worried about not offering that specific class more frequently since its still core for CJ and PMPC.

They advisors are still conversing about courses, but we will let you know as soon as they have some suggestions.

Thanks so much for this, Mark.

Nothing obvious stands out as problematic to me here. So long as the intro classes and the main PhD classes from which TAs might come are not overlapping, we should be good.

1. We would not want to offer two online sections of 347.
2. I think Suzi offering 323 should be fine, right?
3. Edella and I will chat about [REDACTED] so should be able to confirm by end of week.
4. Is the need for PA331 covered in part by offering 330 from Grossenbach?

Subject: Fall 2020 Schedule

Hi Alex and Faten,

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] I have attached the Fall 2020 Undergraduate schedule for your review. Please let me know what questions or concerns you have. I am able to make easy changes until January 7th.

Some things to note:

1. I have left POL 347 highlighted to indicate that these sections are subject to change. The details of these sections are still being determined by Faten and Edella.
2. I have also left POL 428 highlighted because Suzi requested to change her Fall 2020 course offering to POL 323. Would that be an acceptable change?
3. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
4. The advisors have requested an additional section of PA 331. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] We can determine if we want to add another section of PA 331 later if need be.
Please let me know if you have a preference at the moment.

Angela is currently finishing the MPA/MPP, ISS, and PhD schedule, so Alex can look forward to reviewing that soon. 😊

If you see this while you are away, thank you for taking the time during your travels to review it. Enjoy your time with family!

Stuart H. Brody, Esq.
HC – 2 Box 286
Nogales, AZ 85621

SUMMARY OF CURRENT TEACHING, PUBLIC SPEAKING AND CONSULTING EXPERIENCE

Mr. Brody's professional work centers on leadership training, particularly the principles by which ethical decision-making can be taught and practiced. He draws from more than thirty years as a former political leader in New York, advisor to prominent political figures, including Presidential candidates, and as a business strategist for private industry.

Mr. Brody is former Adjunct Professor of Business Ethics at the State University of New York at New Paltz, former Ethics Counsel to the State of New York's Department of Environmental Conservation, and Visiting Scholar at the Center for the Study of Ethics in Public Life at the State University of New York, where he now occupies the permanent role of Senior Scholar.

He is Founder of IntegrityIntensive www.integrityintensive.com. He lectures nationally to municipal organizations and civic groups and consults with private business corporations on ethics and integrity training and leadership. The following are among his keynote speaking engagements:

New York State Association of Counties
New York State Conference of Mayors
New York State Association of Towns
Utah Association of Counties
American Management Association
Society for Human Resources Management
Wall Street Human Resources Association
New York City Chamber of Commerce
Florida Association of Counties
Pennsylvania County Commissioners
Texas Association of Counties
Oregon Association of Counties
Missouri Association of Counties
Stevenson University
National Association of Counties

His book entitled: The Law of Small Things: Creating a Habit of Integrity in a Culture of Mistrust, will be published in January 2019 by Berrett-Koehler. The Law of Small Things evolved from Stu's many years observing "good people" trapped in a culturally dysfunctional understanding of virtue and public integrity. He is committed to dispelling these illusions and paving the way for more authentic personal living and inspired public leadership.

SUMMARY OF LEGAL EXPERIENCE

Mr. Brody is an accomplished employment attorney, an expert on transportation matters, labor policy and alternative dispute resolution:

Thirty five years as a labor/employment attorney in private and public sectors (both union and management representation) in all aspects of labor law and employment discrimination, trial and appellate litigation, including cases before the Supreme Court of the United States

Lectured extensively on labor and employment issues and alternative dispute resolution; citations in labor and employment relations periodicals available on request

Professional arbitrator: Former member of the American Arbitration Association panel of labor arbitrators, National Mediation Board panel, New York Office of Collective Bargaining panel, New York State Education Department panel

General Counsel, Amalgamated Transit Union, Local 241, Chicago (representing the 12,000 employees of the Chicago Transit Authority bus system) 1983-1986; developed system of expedited arbitration covering 12,000 employees of the Chicago Transit Authority, and mediated numerous labor-management accords

Co drafted the Illinois Public Employee Relations Act

As member of the Regional Transportation Authority ("RTA") Board of Directors, (the equivalent of New York's MTA) 1983-1984, authored a plan for major pension payment deferrals tied to employee job security, thus securing firm financial footing for transportation in Northeast Illinois.

As Labor Coordinator, Chicago World's Fair Committee, created method of resolving potential labor conflicts arising in the course of World's Fair construction and operation; plans for the 1992 Chicago World's Fair were cancelled

As Labor Advisor to Illinois Attorney General, developed mediation strategies to resolve disputes between the Steelworkers and United States Steel regarding the latter's shutdown of its Chicago Works facility, 1985

PA 330: Ethics for the Public Administrator

Instructor Information

Name:

Email:

Office Location:

Office Hours:

Course Description & Objectives

The course is in 4 parts. The first section is an overview of individual ethics that we bring to situations in the workplace, particularly in the public organization through moral reasoning or intuitively. The second section explores the application of individual ethics. The third section is the four components to ethics as management or organizational ethics; individual LEADERSHIP, individual MEMBERSHIP, organizational STRUCTURE and organizational CULTURE. The fourth section features applications of ethics in the public organization and the final section is two illustrations of organization deviance, Enron and NASA.

This is a required course for all Public Management and Policy students. It is a course in applied ethics and not a course in philosophy or religion. Instead, the course allows students to become aware of the ethical frameworks that they are already employing in anticipation of ethical dilemmas in the workplace. Second, the course seeks to answer, in part, what a manager can do to facilitate ethical conduct in the workplace.

Course Format and Teaching Methods

This is an in person class that meets once a week Mondays 5:30pm-8pm. In class time will be dedicated to discussions about course material and topics among peers and some lecture for clarification. All learning materials, and assignments will be administered via the D2L course site.

Required Texts

All Readings are on D2L. Be advised that this saves you money, but there will be two reading quizzes.

Course Requirements & Grading

Exams (Total 400 points): 1 midterm worth 200 maximum points and 1 final worth 200 points.

Writing Assignments (Total 400 points): Scenario assignment worth 200 points and 1 Op-Ed piece worth maximum 200 points. These writing assignments must be turned in to the D2L dropbox. Further details will be provided on D2L.

Reading quizzes (Total 40 points): 2 reading quizzes worth 20 points each.

Participation (Total 160 points): There are a total of 16 weeks in the semester, so you will be able to earn 10 points for each week via small assignments, quizzes, attendance, and discussions posts. Details will be determined each week.

All submitted assignments should be typed, 12 pt font, single-spaced, page numbers, and must include a proper heading with name, course name/number, instructor name, date, and assignment name.

Final grades will be calculated with the sum of points earned through the semester, and be assigned as follows:

900-1000 = A

800-899.99= B

700-799.99= C

600-699.99= D

PA 330: Ethics for the Public Administrator

Spring 2017

Instructor Information

Name: Stephanie Celaya-Serventi

Email: scelayas@email.arizona.edu

Office Location: Social Sciences 328A1

Office Hours: Tu Th 12pm-1pm

Course Description & Objectives

The course is in 4 parts. The first section is an overview of individual ethics that we bring to situations in the workplace, particularly in the public organization through moral reasoning or intuitively. The second section explores the application of individual ethics. The third section is the four components to ethics as management or organizational ethics; individual LEADERSHIP, individual MEMBERSHIP, organizational STRUCTURE and organizational CULTURE. The fourth section features applications of ethics in the public organization and the final section is two illustrations of organization deviance, Enron and NASA.

This is a required course for all Public Management and Policy students. It is a course in applied ethics and not a course in philosophy or religion. Instead, the course allows students to become aware of the ethical frameworks that they are already employing in anticipation of ethical dilemmas in the workplace. Second, the course seeks to answer, in part, what a manager can do to facilitate ethical conduct in the workplace.

Course Format and Teaching Methods

This is an in person class that meets once a week [REDACTED]. In class time will be dedicated to discussions about course material and topics among peers and some lecture for clarification. All learning materials, and assignments will be administered via the D2L course site.

Required Texts

All Readings are on D2L. Be advised that this saves you money, but there will be two reading quizzes.

Course Requirements & Grading

Exams (Total 400 points): 1 midterm worth 200 maximum points and 1 final worth 200 points.

Writing Assignments (Total 400 points): Scenario assignment worth 200 points and 1 Op-Ed piece worth maximum 200 points. These writing assignments must be turned in to the D2L dropbox. Further details will be provided on D2L.

Reading quizzes (Total 40 points): 2 reading quizzes worth 20 points each.

Participation (Total 160 points): There are a total of 16 weeks in the semester, so you will be able to earn 10 points for each week via small assignments, quizzes, attendance, and discussions posts. Details will be determined each week.

All submitted assignments should be typed, 12 pt font, single-spaced, page numbers, and must include a proper heading with name, course name/number, instructor name, date, and assignment name.

Final grades will be calculated with the sum of points earned through the semester, and be assigned as follows:

900-1000 = A

800-899.99= B

700-799.99= C

600-699.99= D

0-599.99 = F/E

Readings

All Readings are on D2L. Be advised that this saves you money but there will be two reading quizzes.

Course Description & Objectives

The course is in 4 parts. The first section is an overview of moral reasoning that we bring to situations in the workplace, particularly in the public organization. The second section is approaching ethics from an intuitive position. The third section is the four components to ethics as management; individual LEADERSHIP, individual MEMBERSHIP, organizational STRUCTURE and organizational CULTURE. The fourth section features applications of ethics in the public organization and the final section is two illustrations of organization deviance, Enron and NASA.

This is a required course for all Public Administration students. It is a course in applied ethics and not a course in philosophy or religion. Instead, the course allows students to become aware of the ethical frameworks that they are already employing in anticipation of ethical dilemmas in the workplace. Second, the course seeks to answer, in part, what a manager can do to facilitate ethical conduct in the workplace.

Course Requirements & Grading

Course requirements include a midterm worth 100 maximum points, TWO extended assignments (Scenario and Op-Ed piece) worth maximum 200 points, a final exam worth 100 points and participation is worth a maximum of 80 points. The participation grade is based on 8 homework assignments, and attendance quizzes. All assignments should be typed. Late homework assignments will not be accepted. Finally, there are two scheduled reading quizzes worth a total of 10 points each for a total of 20 points. No makeup opportunities will be granted. You must be present the day of the quiz or you will receive a zero for that portion of your grade. Only approved advanced excuses by the instructor and illness/emergency (with appropriate documentation) will be honored.

450-500 = A

400-449= B

350-399= C

300-349= D

0-299 = F

The use of personal electronics such as laptops, tablets, cell phones and other mobile devices is distracting to other students and the instructor. Their use can degrade the learning environment. Therefore, students are not permitted to use these devices during the class period. If I display a long or involved page on the ELMO in class, I will later place on D2L.

Students are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. Students are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog. See: <http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/codeofacademicintegrity>.

Plagiarism will not be tolerated, particularly in your two writing assignments. My required format for research (you must turn in evidence of your research) makes it difficult to plagiarize. Please note the student Code of Academic Integrity: <http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/codeofacademicintegrity>.

Attendance Policy

The UA's policy concerning Class Attendance and Administrative Drops is available at: <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2012-13/policies/classatten.htm>

The UA policy regarding absences on and accommodation of religious holidays is available at <http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/religiousobservanceandpractice>

Absences pre-approved by the UA Dean of Students (or Dean designee) will be honored. See: http://uhap.web.arizona.edu/chapter_7#7.0

Participating in course and attending lectures and other course events are vital to the learning process. As such, attendance is required at all lectures and discussion section meetings. Students who miss class due to illness or emergency are required to bring documentation from their healthcare provider or other relevant, professional third parties. Failure to submit third-party documentation will result in unexcused absences.

Prohibited Behavior

Threatening Behavior is prohibited. “Threatening behavior” means any statement, communication, conduct or gesture, including those in written form, directed toward any member of the University community that causes a reasonable apprehension of physical harm to a person or property. A student can be guilty of threatening behavior even if the person who is the object of the threat does not observe or receive it, so long as a reasonable person would interpret the maker’s statement, communication, conduct or gesture as a serious expression of intent to physically harm.

Procedures for Mandatory Reporting of Threatening Behavior

If threatened by any student’s conduct to the point of reasonable fear of immediate physical harm to self, others or property:

1. Leave the area immediately.
2. Call the Police by dialing 9-1-1 to request that an officer come to the location. Inform the Police if it is a repeat occurrence.
3. Anyone who observes what appears to be threatening behavior must report it to the Dean of Students Office and in the appropriate case file a Student Code of Conduct Complaint (see ABOR 5-403).
4. University employees who observe what appears to be threatening behavior must also report it to their supervisor or Department Head, who should report it to the Dean.

Disciplinary Process

In addition to any law enforcement action, the Dean of Students Office will investigate complaints against students and will keep records of such complaints and investigations in accordance with the Student Disciplinary Procedures (ABOR Policy 5-401, et seq.). Such records are subject to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act and may be shared with faculty and other University Officials who have a legitimate educational interest, and those persons who need to know in a health or safety emergency, including any person who was the object of the threat. The person observing a threat or being threatened by a student is to complete the Student Code of Conduct Complaint Form and send it to the Dean of Students Office. This will initiate the Student Disciplinary Procedures regarding the student who is charged with exhibiting threatening behavior. Within 24 hours, the Dean of Students Office will email the person who submitted the form to confirm that the form has been received. The Dean of Students Office will communicate the progress of the investigation within ten calendar days to the person who was the object of the threat.

The University of Arizona
Ethics for Public Administration – PA 330
In-person Rm. [REDACTED]

Fall 2021

Professor: Michael Polakowski, Ph.D.

Office hours: available after class or by appointment through email/ZOOM

Office: 329 Social Science Bldg, Phone: 621-1678

Email: mpolakow@email.arizona.edu

This course provides undergraduate majors in the School Government and Public Policy with a basic foundation in applied ethics in both public and nonprofit sectors. It is not a course in philosophy or religion. Instead, the course allows students to become aware of the ethical frameworks that they are already employing in anticipation of ethical dilemmas they may find in the workplace. As citizens, and potentially government employees, we believe that Westernized democracies require personal and professional ethical commitments to guide behavior in public/private organizations as well as the decision-making that takes place in public service. We will often investigate ethical considerations of contemporary figures/institutions to assess whether these individuals/organizations have lost their ethical foundations.

While this is a lecture course, there will be daily opportunities for students to become involved in an interactive discussion. The dates outlined below are advisory and may change as the semester progresses. While all of the material in the text is beneficial to read we will not deal with each facet of it within the lectures. Moreover, lectures will often contain material not contained in the text; therefore, it is important that you attend, and participate in, lectures as well as keeping up with the assigned readings.

Course Learning Outcomes: By the end of the semester students will be able to:

- Understand and apply basic ethical theories and principles in different public management contexts and institutions.
- Develop a framework to assist students in identifying, articulating and addressing ethical dilemmas both historically and in contemporary public/non-profit institutions.
- Understand and evaluate the value of ethical behavior/orientation in shaping the trust and effectiveness of public institutions.
- Become familiar with ways to identify and strengthen ethical leadership building strategies.
- Readily identify and discuss examples of ethical leadership, and lapses thereof, in public management.

EXAMS: There will be two exams throughout the semester. The exams will be comprised of short essay, identification/description, matching and fill in the blank types of questions. While the exams are not cumulative you should expect that there are themes that carry through the entire course and you will be required to recall information presented in the earlier portion of the semester. Each of the exams will each count 30% toward your final grade. Lectures, films and guest speakers may present information that is not included in the readings. Therefore, while attendance is on the honor system you will be responsible for this information on the exams as well as any time or date changes that may occur in class. Make-up opportunities do not exist. If you miss an exam you may elect to withdraw. All exams are expected to be set up on D2L, although this may change as the semester progresses, so as long as you have a connection that allows you in to D2L this should not be a problem. Even though online, there will be a designated time for these exams and your participation is required.

ATTENDANCE and Lecture questions: Attendance is expected and will be required for successful completion of exams and essays. 10% of your grade will be based upon attendance in the form of periodic questions supplied during lectures. You will have a timeframe within which to complete these. Failure to do so will result in a 0 points for each question missed. The 10% of your grade will be spread equally across the number of opportunities that occur throughout the semester.

LATE WORK POLICY: As a rule, work will not be accepted late except in case of documented emergency or illness. You may petition the professor in writing for an exception if you feel you have a compelling reason for turning work in late. If you know you will be absent you should let us know ahead of time and request some accommodation.

HOMEWORK ESSAYS: There will be several homework essays throughout the semester. These will likely coincide with a presentation, lecture, film or other time sensitive events that you would have to view or read and evaluate according to instructions provided. These will be turned in on D2L. There will typically be a timeframe within which these need to be completed. As long as you regularly check your D2L account you should receive these notifications. Make sure you stay on top of this. The Homework essays will be worth 30% of your final grade. The weight of these will be distributed equally across the number of essays assigned.

Grades:

University policy regarding grades and grading systems is available at:

<http://catalog.arizona.edu/2015-16/policies/grade.htm>

A = 90% - 100%

B = 80% - 89.99%

C = 70% - 79.99%

D = 60% - 69.99%

E = below 60%

Student Code of Academic Integrity:

Students are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. Students are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog. See:

<http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/academic-integrity/students/academic-integrity>.

Classroom Behavior:

To foster a positive learning environment, students may not text, chat, make phone calls, play games, read the newspaper or surf the web during lecture and discussion. Students are asked to refrain from disruptive conversations with people sitting around them during lecture. Students observed engaging in disruptive activity will be asked to cease this behavior. Students who continue to disrupt the class will be asked to leave lecture or discussion and may be reported to the Dean of Students.

The Arizona Board of Regents' Student Code of Conduct, ABOR Policy 5-308, prohibits threats of physical harm to any member of the University community, including to one's self. See: <http://policy.arizona.edu/threatening-behavior-students>.

Notification of Objectionable Materials:

Although course content may be deemed offensive by some students, such materials are deemed important for the learning process. Students are not excused from interacting with such materials, but they are certainly encouraged to express well-formed opinions that express those objections and their reasons for them.

Accessibility and Accommodations:

It is the University's goal that learning experiences be as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on disability or pregnancy, please let me know immediately so that we can discuss options. You are also welcomed to contact Disability Resources (520-621-3268) to establish reasonable accommodations. For additional information on Disability Resources and reasonable accommodations, please visit <http://drc.arizona.edu/>.

If you have reasonable accommodations, please plan to meet with me by appointment or during office hours to discuss accommodations and how my course requirements and activities may impact your ability to fully participate. The accessible table and chairs in this room should remain available for students who find that standard classroom seating is not usable.

Course website will be evolving on D2L throughout the semester.

The website contains the course syllabus; PowerPoint slides used in lecture; and may occasionally contain some additional course readings. In the event of a class cancellation or change I will post the information the night before on the website rather than try to hit you all with an email. It is your responsibility to check this periodically.

TEXTBOOKS:

Mackey, David A. and Kathryn M. Elvey (2021) Society, Ethics, and the Law: A Reader. Jones and Bartlett Learning. (also an e-reader option) (SEL in syllabus)

ONLINE reading provided throughout the semester. These readings will be used in the exams and online activities whether they appear in the syllabus.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course provides undergraduate majors in public administration with a foundation in applied ethics in the public and nonprofit sectors. It is based on the premise that public leaders in Western liberal democracies require personal and professional ethical commitments to guide their behavior and decision making in public service. It attributes the worsening crisis in public trust and institutional legitimacy in the U.S., in large part, to increasing unethical and dysfunctional leadership in the public arena.

The course is organized into five sections: moral reasoning, ethics and intuitionism, ethical decision making, leading ethical organizations, and ethical skill building. This course is a required course for public administration majors. Readings, class discussions and exercises, assignments and exams are designed to help students build an ethical foundation for their future careers in public agencies and nonprofit organizations.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Understand and apply basic ethical theories and principles to different public management situations and contexts.
2. Understand the emotional, cognitive and social psychological processes that influence rational ethical decision making and observe them in students' own experiences.
3. Develop a conceptual framework to help students identify, articulate and address ethical dilemmas and leadership challenges in the context of 21st century problems and institutions.
4. Understand and analyze the value of public leadership ethics in shaping their future effectiveness in public service.
5. Build and strengthen ethical management and leadership skills and capabilities.

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Class Preparation and Participation: Participation in the weekly class discussions and activities is required in this course. Your full attention and active participation in discussion are needed for your own learning and skill development. Your engagement will also contribute to the learning of your classmates. Participation means being present in class and contributing to class discussions with comments and questions informed by the assigned reading and actively engaging in class activities. Preparation means completing the readings and other assignments and being ready to actively participate in all small group and full class discussions.

It is difficult to assess preparation and participation in a class of 36 students. However, if I observe a student who is consistently not engaging fully in class discussions or small group exercises, I will notify the student by email, request an explanation and encourage him/her to visit me during office hours. If the situation persists, I will dock the student's final course grade by up to one-half of a letter grade.

10-Minute Inclass Essays (20%): I expect every student to complete the assigned weekly readings, take notes and keep a list of observations or questions to raise in class. In addition, you should consider the "Questions to Ponder" that I will post ahead of each week's readings. Over the course of the semester, there will be 4 inclass "pop" essay quizzes based on the "Questions to Ponder."

Journal Keeping and Entries (10%): You are to keep a journal during the course reflecting on the readings and class discussions as well as direct observations of ethical issues raised in your current work/life/courses, the contemporary political arena, and reflections on past ethical issues you have experienced or observed. This journal will be private and read by you only, except that your journal entries become the source for sharing 2 written examples of relevant ethical issues, tensions, dilemmas, or challenges and how you have handled them. These entries will be the basis for discussion in small group Ethics Clinics over the course of the semester.

Movie Review (10%): Public leaders and the ethical choices they make have been dramatized in numerous movies over the years (e.g. All the President's Men, Charlie Wilson's War, The Report). The class will develop a movie list during the semester and students will select movies to watch outside of class and then write a review of the movie focusing on the ethical dilemmas presented and explain how they were addressed based on different ethical frameworks and the consequences of those ethical decisions.

Mid-Term Exam (30%): An inclass closed book mid-term exam will be given during Week 8, March 4). You will be allowed one page, double sided of notes to reference during the exam. There will be no new readings assigned for that week, so you can concentrate on preparing for the exam. The exam questions will cover the readings and class discussions during the first seven weeks of the course. There will be a combination of true/false questions, short answer questions, and a case to analyze.

Final Exam (30%)

A closed book final exam will be scheduled for the week after classes in May.

GRADING

4 10-minute essays	20
2 journal entry cases	10
Movie review	10
Midterm Exam	30
Final Paper Leadership Approach and Capabilities	30
	100%

I will use a standard grading scale for the midterm and final exams: 90-100=A, 80-89=B; 70-79=C; 60-69=D; 59 and lower=E. The 10-minute essays, journal entries and movie review will be graded on a 4 point scale (0= not present; 1= adequate but incomplete understanding; 2=solid grasp of material; 3=excellent essay in form and content)

There is not an expected grade distribution for this course. You are expected to deliver at least a Solid (B) performance. Of course, you should all be striving for Exceptional (A) performance, and the stronger everyone performs, the higher the class interaction, the mutual learning, and the productivity of the class in general. That said, A's are earned by those who produce truly outstanding work above and beyond that of other students.

All assignments are due on the dates and times noted in the syllabus. As a rule, work will not be accepted late except in case of documented emergency or illness. You may request in writing an exception if you feel you have a compelling reason for turning work in late. Late assignments will be docked a letter grade a day for each day of unexcused lateness.

Requests for incompletes (I) and withdrawal (W) must be made in accordance with university policies which are available at <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2014-15/policies/grade.htm#I> and <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2014-15/policies/grade.htm#W> respectively.

Honors Class Students: In addition to the other course requirements, the honors students are required to write an Honors Literature Review Essay. This involves completing a scholarly review of 4-6 academic peer-reviewed articles on a topic agreed upon by the student and the instructor. This comparative analysis may focus on either a deeper exploration of a section of the class or an outside review of a topic not covered, but related to the class. Some students may find the scholarly review as a gateway to beginning the first chapter of their Honors thesis.

EXPECTATIONS

This course is intended to help you prepare for your future career in the public or non-profit sectors. Please take advantage of my office hours (Wednesdays 2-4) or make an appointment to meet with me early in the semester so I can be of assistance to you in this course and in your successful completion of your chosen undergraduate major.

The syllabus is a “working” syllabus. I reserve the right to adjust the topics and the assigned readings as necessary. I will not alter the course requirements or the grading arrangement.

My expectations of you are to behave professionally and respectfully toward your fellow students and toward me. We will generate appropriate class ground rules during the first class.

Attendance: You are allowed one excused absence with no make-up requirements, although I encourage you to borrow class notes from a fellow student in addition to completing the readings. More than one absence will trigger a requirement for make-up work to demonstrate your completion of the readings and other assignments for the missed week. More than one unexcused absence will lead to a half-letter grade reduction for the course; more than two absences will result in a full-letter grade reduction.

Please take advantage of my email and office hours (posted above). I will strive to be as responsive and timely as I can. That said, do not count on getting prompt email responses from me after 5:00pm on Fridays through Sunday evening. During the week I will try to get back to you within 24 hours at the very latest.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

It is the University’s goal that learning experiences be as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on disability, please let me know immediately so that we can discuss options to ensure your full participation in the course. You are also welcome to contact Disability Resources (520-621-3268) to establish reasonable accommodations. For additional information on Disability Resources and reasonable accommodations, please visit <http://drc.arizona.edu/>.

If you are eligible for reasonable accommodations, please plan to meet with me by appointment or during office hours to discuss accommodations and how my course requirements and activities may impact your ability to fully participate.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

(For more details, see: <http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/academicintegrity>)

You are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. You are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog. See: <http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/academic-integrity/students/academic-integrity>.

Students assume full responsibility for the content and integrity of the academic work they submit. The guiding principle of academic integrity shall be that a student's submitted work, examinations, reports, or projects must be that student's own work, unless clearly following the rules for allowable group work. Students shall be guilty of violating the University’s Code of Academic Integrity, and be subject to proceedings under it if they cheat, fabricate, plagiarize, or represent others work as their own. You are responsible for reading and understanding the University's policy as described in the above Web Site and conduct yourself in accordance with the University's Code.

The University Libraries have some excellent tips for avoiding plagiarism available at:

PA 330: Ethics for the Public Administrator

Instructor Information

Name: Dan Grossenbach

Email: dgrossenbach@email.arizona.edu

Office Hours: flexible – on campus, phone, or online

Phone: [REDACTED]

Course Description & Objectives

The course is in four parts. The first and largest section is an overview of ethical theories that underlie the values of American government. The second part introduces moral reasoning and ethical decision making. The third section explores ethics in the context of a governmental organization. The fourth and final section is the development of a plan for ongoing ethical skill-building.

This is a required course for all Public Management and Policy students. Through assigned readings, thought-provoking class discussions, video lectures, and rigorous course work and quizzes, the course will guide students to become aware of the ethical reasoning behind their beliefs and actions. Students will also be trained to confront ethical dilemmas in the government workplace. Ultimately, students should conclude the course with the ability to:

- Define, compare, and contrast the key ethical theories that influence American government and assess them by the strengths and weaknesses of each theory.
- Identify the values and principles within any ethical dilemma and to employ a seven-step process for determining appropriate decisive action.
- Describe the obstacles of moral reasoning and ethical decision making within the context of a government workplace and how to overcome them.
- Design and execute an ongoing skill building plan for a future career as a public administrator.

Course Format and Teaching Methods

The course is an online course. All learning materials, discussions, and assignments will be administered via the D2L course site and UA email. Whenever possible, in person discussions about course material and topics with peers and/or instructor are encouraged, though not required.

Required Texts and Lectures

All Readings and Lectures are on D2L.

Course Grading

Writing Assignments (400 points): 1) scenario analysis, 2) movie review, 3) op-ed piece, and 4) skill-building plan. Each assignment is graded on a maximum 100 points each.

Quizzes (300 points): 3 quizzes covering the readings, lectures, and discussions from the first three sections of the course worth 100 points each.

Final Exam (150 points): comprehensive of all four sections of the course

Participation (Total 150 points): There are 15 full weeks in the semester. One discussion thread session and one live video chat session will take place each week. There will be no discussion thread or video chats the week of Thanksgiving.

Discussion Threads: (Total 75 points) You can earn 5 points for participating in each discussion session posted in the D2L Discussion tab. Topics will correspond to the content within each week's module. Full credit for each discussion session requires: 1) at least one post from you on the topic, and 2) at least one thoughtful response to any other comment posted by the instructor or classmates. Topics are revealed in the D2L Discussion tab each Monday by noon and grading on discussion posts closes every Friday at noon.

Small Group Video Chat: (Total 75 points) You are automatically awarded 5 points each week for watching the recorded Zoom sessions at your convenience. You can earn an additional 5 extra-credit points for participating in each live video chat via Zoom in D2L each Wednesday at noon.

Course Requirements

All submitted assignments should be typed, 12-point font, double-spaced, page numbered, and must include a proper heading with student name, course name/number, instructor name, date, and assignment name. Be sure to note your sources when necessary with MLA, APA, or Chicago style citations (see section on academic integrity below).

Final grades will be calculated with the sum of points earned through the semester, and be assigned as follows:

900-1000 = A
800-899.99= B
700-799.99= C
600-699.99= D
0-599.99 = F/E

PA 330: Ethics for the Public Administrator

Instructor Information

Name: Dan Grossenbach

Office Hours: flexible – on campus, phone, or online

Email: dgrossenbach@email.arizona.edu

Phone: [REDACTED]

Course Description

The course is in four parts. The first and largest section is an overview of ethical theories that form the values of American government. The second part introduces moral reasoning and ethical decision making. The third section explores ethics in the context of a governmental organization. The fourth and final section is the development of a plan for ongoing ethical skill-building.

This is a required course for all Public Management and Policy students. The course will guide students to become aware of the ethical reasoning behind their beliefs and actions. Students will also be trained to confront ethical dilemmas in the government workplace.

Learning Objectives

- Define, compare, and contrast the key ethical theories that influence American government and assess them by the strengths and weaknesses of each theory.
- Identify the values and principles within any ethical dilemma and to employ a seven-step process for determining appropriate decisive action.
- Describe the obstacles of moral reasoning and ethical decision making within the context of a government workplace and how to overcome them.
- Design and execute an ongoing skill building plan for a future career as a public administrator.

Course Format, Materials, and Teaching Methods

The course is an online course. All learning materials, lectures, discussions, and assignments will be administered via the D2L course site and UA email. Whenever possible, in person discussions about course material and topics with peers and/or instructor are encouraged, though not required. All readings and course materials are on D2L.

Course Requirements & Grading

The due date for all required readings, discussions, lectures, quizzes, and final exam will be posted in advance on the D2L course site. A weekly email from the instructor each Wednesday by noon will remind students of important dates, course requirements, and lecture times.

Writing Assignments (300 points): two assignments graded on a maximum 150 points each: 1) scenario analysis and 2) skill-building plan.

Quizzes (300 points): three quizzes covering course content since the prior quiz worth a max total of 100 points each.

Final Exam (175 points): comprehensive of the entire course

Participation (Total 225 points): There are 16 weeks in the semester. One discussion thread session will take place each week except for the last week which will be reserved for a final exam study session. You can earn up to 15 points each week for participating in each discussion session posted in the D2L Discussion tab. Topics will correspond to the content within each week's module and require that you have completed the course content posted for that week (readings, videos, lectures, etc). Full credit for each discussion session requires:

- 1) one comment from you on the weekly topic (5 points) due noon each Friday,
The instructor will respond to your comment by noon the following Monday
- 2) response to the instructor's question (10 points) due noon each Wednesday.

Video Lectures: a video lecture on the weekly topic will be posted for viewing each week (approximately 45 min). This class is designed for asynchronous learning which means that all course content can be completed at your own pace with no required live interaction with the professor or classmates. However, since such interaction is helpful and encouraged, students can earn 5 points of EXTRA CREDIT for live participation in each video lecture presented each week (75 points max per semester). The lectures are required viewing so they will be recorded and available anytime on D2L following each live event (date & time TBD).

Required Format for Assignments

All submitted assignments (papers) should be typed, 12-point font, double-spaced, page numbered, and must include a proper heading with student name, course name/number, instructor name, date, and assignment name. Be sure to note your sources when necessary with MLA, APA, or Chicago style citations (see section on academic integrity below).

Grading

Grading for submitted work will be updated each week. Final grades will be calculated with the sum of points earned through the semester, and be assigned as follows:

900-1000 = A

700-799.99 = C

0-599.99 = F/E

Selling class notes and/or other course materials to other students or to a third party for resale is not permitted without the instructor's express written consent. Violations to this and other course rules are subject to the Code of Academic Integrity and may result in course sanctions. Additionally, students who use D2L or UA email to sell or buy these copyrighted materials are subject to Code of Conduct Violations for misuse of student email addresses. This conduct may also constitute copyright infringement.

PA 330: Ethics for the Public Administrator

Spring 2022 Seven Week - First

Instructor Information

Name: Dan Grossenbach

Office Hours: flexible – on campus, phone, or online

Email: dgrossenbach@arizona.edu

Phone: [REDACTED]

Course Description

This course is designed to equip students with sound moral reasoning and ethical decision making for a professional career in public service based on the values of American government. Students will learn to identify the ethical reasoning behind their beliefs and actions. Students will also be trained to confront ethical dilemmas in the workplace. It is a required course for all Public Management and Policy students.

Learning Objectives

- Define, compare, and contrast the key ethical theories that are consistent with the American system of government and critically assess each theory.
- Identify the values and principles within an ethical dilemma and to employ a seven-step process for determining appropriate decisive action.
- Describe the obstacles of moral reasoning and ethical decision making within the context of a government workplace and how to overcome them.
- Develop skills necessary to engage in sensitive and controversial cultural issues respectfully and professionally in a pluralistic environment.

Course Format, Materials, and Teaching Methods

This course is offered in an asynchronous online format. Course requirements can be completed at your own pace within posted deadlines without required live interaction with the professor or classmates. However, in person discussions about course material and topics with peers and/or instructor are encouraged when feasible. All learning materials, lectures, discussions, and assignments will be administered via the D2L course site and UA email except for the required textbook. A video lecture for each of the two weekly topics will be posted for viewing by noon each Wednesday (approximately 30-45 min). This is in addition to required readings or video content posted in the content tab each week.

Required Text

Mackey, David A. and Elvey, Kathryn M. (2021) Society, Ethics, and the Law: A Reader. Jones & Bartlett Learning.

This book is available in paperback or digital format ISBN 9781284199642

Course Requirements & Grading

The due date for all required readings, discussions, lectures, quizzes, and final exam will be posted in advance on the D2L course site or in email notifications. The instructor may remind students of important dates, course requirements, and lecture times but students are expected to keep track of important dates after initial notification.

Writing Assignments (600 points): four short papers graded on a maximum 150 points each.

Final Exam (190 points): comprehensive final exam

Participation (Total 210 points): One discussion session will take place each week in the D2L Discussion tab for 30 points each. This is your opportunity to sharpen your knowledge and interact directly with your professor. As an open forum, you may also observe and interact with other conversations, but the graded portion is based only on your discussion with me. It's expected that you have completed the course content posted for that week (readings, videos, lectures, etc), that you provide thoughtful and engaging content, and respond to all follow-up questions. Topics presented in the discussion thread each week may relate to content from Week A, Week B, or both. Discussion posts are due 5pm every Friday throughout the term. Answers to instructor follow-up questions are due within 3 calendar days after each question is posted. Tip: Activate D2L notifications so you're alerted to any new posts.

Required Format for Assignments

All submitted assignments (papers) should be typed, 12-point font, double-spaced, page numbered, and must include a proper heading with student name, course name/number, instructor name, date, and assignment name. Be sure to note your sources when necessary (see section on academic integrity below).

Grading

Grading for submitted work will be updated each week. Final grades will be calculated with the sum of points earned through the semester, and be assigned as follows:

900-1000 = A
800-899.99 = B

700-799.99 = C
600-699.99 = D

0-599.99 = F/E

Violent Crime and Political Order

POL/PA 436, Fall 2020
School of Government and Public Policy
The University of Arizona

Instructor: Javier Osorio

josorio1@email.arizona.edu
www.javierosorio.net
Office: 125 Social Sciences Building
Office Hours: by appointment.
Phone: 520-621-4607
Version: 3/5/2020

Course Description:

This course explores the intriguing world of organized criminal violence from a political-economy perspective. The course will help students to develop analytical skills to understand the root causes of organized criminal violence and to critically assess the effectiveness of counter-narcotic efforts. The course has a comparative perspective with a particular emphasis on Latin America. The course is divided into five main sections. The first part overviews theoretical foundations highlighting the differences and similarities of political and criminal order. The second section analyzes illicit markets from an economic perspective. The third section surveys the historical origins of the drug control regime and evaluates its implications for Latin America. The fourth part analyzes the main characteristics of violence and discusses key economic, social, and political determinants. Finally, the fifth section explores the causes and effects of drug violence in Latin America.

Course Objectives:

The readings, assignments, and in-class activities of this course are designed to help students develop analytical skills to understand the economic and political aspects of crime and illicit markets. After successfully completing this course, students will be able to:

1. Define the foundations of the political-economy operating in illicit markets.
2. Compare and contrast the empirical and methodological challenges of measuring crime and drug markets.
3. Gain familiarity with the history, characteristics, and policy consequences of the international drug control regime.
4. Understand the economic, social, and political factors influencing violence in illicit markets.
5. Apply the theoretical models to understand the dynamics of crime and illicit markets in Latin America.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Define the basic supply and demand mechanics of illicit markets and the way drug control policies affect them.

2. Articulate and critically analyze the difficulties of generating systematic measures crime and drugs.
3. Compare and contrast how poverty, social norms, and politics influence drug related violence in Latin America.
4. Engage in theoretically-grounded and evidence-based discussions about illicit drugs and crime.

Course Requirements:

The final grade is determined by the student's performance on the following assignments: attendance; participation in lecture sessions and in class activities; weekly reading questions; midterm exam; infographic, and final exam. Below, you will find each requirement explained in detail.

1. Class attendance

- Students are expected to attend to all class sessions.
- Students are required to arrive on time.
- Students are required to remain in the class room for the entire session.
- If you expect to be absent because of religious observances, please send me an email at the beginning of the semester.
- In the case of an emergency, students are expected to notify the professor before class.
- Each week we will have two different types of class sessions:
 - Lecture sessions: The instructor will prepare a lecture highlighting the main aspects of the assigned readings and students are expected to engage in the conversation.
 - Student activity sessions: In order to promote active learning, students will engage in individual or group activities related to the topics discussed each week.

2. Participation and readings (25% of final grade)

- Students are expected to read all assigned readings before class. This requires students to critically engage the readings.
- Students are required to bring the assigned reading to every class.
- Active participation in the discussion is a strong requirement. The key pedagogical component of this class is to collectively unpack and analyze the assigned materials. We will do so by dissecting its different components and arguments, questioning them, exploring their implications, and thinking out loud about them. Due its collective and dynamic nature, this class is not a space for passive learning. As such, each student is expected to provide valuable contributions to this common intellectual endeavor.
- Students are required to actively participate in both lecture sessions and in student activity sessions.

3. Weekly Reading Question (15% of final grade)

- Each week, students will find one or two questions posted on D2L related to the corresponding assigned readings for a total of 15 weeks.
- Students are required to submit their responses each week before the second class meeting. This means that students should complete all assigned readings and submit their responses by XX TBD XX, every week.
- The questions will require students to reflect on what they read, but responses should be short and to the point. Responses should be no longer than one paragraph. Vague responses or responses that fail to demonstrate familiarity with assigned readings will not receive full credit.
- Weekly Reading Questions will be graded according to the following criteria:

- No Submission/Late Submission/Careless Submission - 0 points
- Vague or inadequate response- 0.5 points
- Clear response demonstrates familiarity with readings – 1 point

4. Midterm Exam (20% of final grade)

- The Midterm exam will be on XX TBD XXX, during the regularly scheduled class.
- The Midterm structure consists of an in class exam with multiple choice and short answer based on the assigned readings, lectures, and discussions.

5. Infographic (20% of final grade)

- Each student will create an infographic related to any of the topics covered in class.
- The infographic should be clear, well informed/documented, and visually engaging.
- The infographic will be due on XX TBD XXX. Please submit your infographic via D2L before class.
- Infographics will be graded according to the following criteria:
 - Convey a clear main message (related to the topics discussed in class).
 - Support the key message with solid, reputable, and verifiable information.
 - The evidence or data must be clearly documented.
 - Use of creativity to provide a visually engaging narrative to convey the message.
- Here are some recommendations on how to create infographics:
 - <https://blog.hubspot.com/marketing/create-infographics-with-free-powerpoint-templ>
 - <https://venngage.com/blog/7-essential-rules-create-infographics/>

6. Final Exam (20% of final grade)

- The final exam will be on XX TBD XX at XX TBD XX. The exam structure will be the same as the Midterm exam.
- Please see University's Final Exam Policy and Regulations: <https://www.registrar.arizona.edu/courses/final-examination-regulations-and-information>

Grade Distribution and Scale:

The following table presents the grade distribution for this course :

Grade Distribution
Assignments	Percentage	Date
Participation	25 %
Weekly reading questions	15 %
Midterm exam	20 %	TBD
Infographic	20 %	TBD
Final exam	20 %	TBD

The following table presents the grading scale for a corresponding letter grade:

Grading Scale
Lettergrade	Scale
A	90-100%
B	80-89%
C	70-79%
D	60-69%
E	59% or less

Course Policies:

1. Electronic etiquette

- Use of cell phones, earbuds or headsets of any kind, unauthorized laptop or other distracting electronic use is not allowed in class.
- Refraining from using electronics during class will help us to engage more effectively in a stimulating intellectual conversation without distractions.
- Students are expected to behave maturely. Please demonstrate respect for yourself, your peers, and instructor by giving your full attention and participation during class.
- Students using unauthorized electronics or engaging in distracting activities will be warned once. If the behavior persists, students will be asked to leave the class with no credit for attendance or participation that day.
- Please mute your cell phones in class.
- Students are required to use their University of Arizona email.
- When sending an email, please be respectful, clear and concise. Long substantive questions are more suitable for class discussions or office hours than email exchanges.

2. Academic Policies

- Please consult the UA Academic Policies Website:
<https://academicaffairs.arizona.edu/syllabus-policies>
- This site includes information regarding:
 - Absence and class participation
 - Threatening behavior
 - Accessibility and Accommodations (Disability Resource Center)
 - Code of Academic Integrity
 - Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy

5. Diversity and Inclusion:

- The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) recognizes the richness of diversity and inclusion as critical components of intellectual and civic excellence. We are committed to fostering environments in which our students, staff, faculty, community partners, and visitors can participate fully, regardless of race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, socioeconomic status, citizenship status, size, ability, language, religion, or any other characteristic. We recognize that the disciplines of political science and public affairs do not yet reflect the complexity of our increasingly multicultural society, and that the substance of these disciplines is subject to polarized worldviews. Accordingly, we promote open, critical, and respectful dialogue and practices. To ensure that all members of the SGPP community thrive, we condemn expressions of discrimination and hate, and support pedagogies to explain and challenge all manifestations of unconscious bias in the classroom, on campus, and in the community. The School has established the Committee for Diversity and Inclusion to identify and coordinate activities to support our efforts to foster diverse and inclusive intellectual environments.
- In line with the University of Arizona's vision of diversity, this course will provide an environment of recognition, acceptance, and interaction of all the aspects that enrich diversity in our pursuit of excellence.
- Participants in this course are strongly encouraged to move beyond recognizing diversity and inclusion as ideal or desirable goals, and actively engage in embracing, practicing, and promoting diversity and inclusion in the classroom and in their daily activities and relationships.
- At the beginning of the course, students will be asked about the pronoun (he/she/they) they want to be addressed with.

6. Infants and Children in Class Policy:

- Babies and children are welcome in class. In case of occasional minor illnesses or unforeseen disruptions in childcare, you can bring your baby or child to class.
- Mothers who are breastfeeding an infant, or expressing milk, may do so in class without the permission of the instructor. I ask everyone in class to be respectful and contributing to a family-friendly environment. If you prefer to breastfeed or breast-pump outside of class, you may take time out of class. You could use the lactation room or my office to do so while we are in class.
- In all cases where babies and children come to class, I ask that you sit close to the door so that if your little one needs special attention, you may step outside until their need has been met. I also ask non-parenting students to reserve seats near the door for parenting classmates.
- College is hard and even more so if you are a parent. Sleep deprivation, tiredness, stress, and unforeseen circumstances are real obstacles for anyone. Feel free to share with me your student-parent status so I can offer special accommodation if needs arise. Although I have high expectations for all students in class, I am always happy to offer support for those who need it.

7. Subject to Change:

- Information contained in the course syllabus, other than the grade distribution and UA policies, may be subject to change with advance notice as deemed appropriate by the instructor.

By the way, it is yet unclear whether the board will allow public comments or admit in-person attendees, but we will be there in either case to support safety in our schools for ALL students and staff. This will be a chance to personally meet the district parents and residents who are most actively pursuing this goal. We won't be there empty-handed. We're bringing pizza, and it's "COMIN' IN HOT!"

PPLEMENTAL NARRATIVE:

Initial Case Narrative by C. C. Goode #8689 on 04/25/23 at 1430 hrs.
Initial Dictation Time = 3:31 mins.

On 04/25/23, at 1001 hours, I took a telephonic report in reference to a public list call at the address of Valley View Early Learning Center. I made contact with [redacted] where [redacted] advised she had seen on Facebook, from a group by the name of Catalina Pothills School District Concerned Citizens, who advised they were going to give people go in there "hot" and she was concerned they were going to have firearms. When asking what she meant by that, she advised there have been an ongoing issue with the state board and she has a child who goes there and she did not want it documented, and to see if we were going to send any officers out there. I advised that we would, that we actually had off duty officers arriving 1630 hours today. She was asking if we could get somebody there earlier, just due to the concerns of the safety of the children. [redacted] went on to state she thought the children and parents would be showing up at 1530 hours.

I advised I would get in contact with the School Resource Officer (SRO) supervisor, who was Sergeant J. E. Jones #7331, whom I made notifications to. Shortly after, I was advised by the superintendent that the meeting would actually be cancelled and they would be sending out a media release very soon, which I was still pending on waiting for the flyer that would be sent out. [redacted] was given the case number and my name and badge number. She was asking if her people would need to call just to raise the concern. I advised her no, due to Sergeant Jones dealing with it already. She said she understood. The case number was then given to her and my name and badge number and I advised her if she had anything else to call back.

This concludes my involvement with the incident.

PA	299	This course is required for public administration students and is four parts. The first section is devoted to the context of ethics in the public and non-profit sectors. Specifically, the students will read, discuss and contrast applied ethical postures, e.g., consequentialist and deontological. Most of the course will be devoted to the learners resolving ethical dilemmas in criminal justice organizations, health and human services organizations and government generally. The final section will examine larger issues in the civic culture.	Undergraduate	-
PA	330	This is a course in applied ethics and not a course in philosophy or religion. Using short lectures and interactive discussions the course allows Criminal Justice students to view the systems and issues within in it from the basic philosophical positions of teleology, deontology and virtues ethics. Using those frameworks, it allows the students to view ethical issues from the basic ethical standing points.	Undergraduate	-
PA	331	This class will survey the various forensic sciences and technologies used in the investigation and prosecution of criminal cases. This course is intended as an introduction to forensic science for those who intend to work in the criminal justice and legal community. We will also discuss the role of forensic science in famous case studies and current criminal cases.	Undergraduate	-
PA	332

PA	333	This is an elective course for all Criminal Justice students in applied ethics and integrity in the workplace. Using reality-based scenarios, the students will be asked to analyze and formulate plans about how they will react to issues of integrity conflicts while clearly identifying conflicts of integrity. Students will analyze contemporary case studies to explore the ethical implications and complex decision-making situations that arise in criminal justice related environments. This course will draw distinction between ethics as a system of rules to eliminate conflicts of interest, and integrity, more broadly construed as the context for resolving multiple and competing interests, or "duties" when there is no code instructing appropriate action.	Undergraduate	-
PA	335	This course will investigate how the U.S. Constitution, State Constitutions, courts and case law have shaped today's American correctional systems. Although the impact of litigation on community corrections will be explored, the emphasis will be on how prisoner litigation has impacted the subculture of inmates inside today's American correctional facilities.	Undergraduate	-
PA	336	This is a survey course of the criminal legal process through a study of the court processes. This three-unit, interactive course involves a review of the jurisdictional authority of courts from city to district to federal district court as well as a review the appellate process for each jurisdictional level. In addition, students will learn about the roles of judges, lawyers, courthouse and administrative support personnel in the context of criminal and civil law proceedings. The course will also cover the responsibilities of probation officers, social workers and the various professional roles of criminal justice specialists in the legal process.	Undergraduate	-
PA	337	Students will learn about the nature, etiology, and treatment of sexual deviance; the link between sexual behavior and sex crimes, and current issues in laws concerning sex offenses. Students will consider the social and psychological distinctions between consensual sexual encounters, prostitution, pornography and predatory conduct.	Undergraduate	-
PA	338	This course examines guns from historical, criminological, political, legal, sociological and cultural perspectives. Grounded in the American context, the course focuses on the relationship between gun rights and gun rules; between crime and self-defense; and between the past and present politics of guns.	Undergraduate	SOC 338

PA	344	Analysis of selected principles of criminal law, criminal procedure and correctional law.	Undergraduate	-
PA	345	This course will give students an introduction into the management of the many different and complex types of critical incidents whether man-made or natural. Students will examine the nature of critical incidents learning to identify objectives, common characteristics and the vast array of variables that can impact the success of incident mitigation. Students will explore different scenarios investigating the role of first responders, the use or lack of basic incident command principles which includes identifying the different Stages, Phases and Strategies of the incident itself. This course will also probe the different leadership styles, the effects of Critical Incident Stress and the intrinsic difficulties associated with Hazardous Materials and Weapons of Mass Destruction.	Undergraduate	-
PA	346	This course will identify the dynamics that drive the accumulation and distribution of capital; investigate how modern economic growth and the diffusion of knowledge have allowed countries to limit inequalities on the apocalyptic scale predicted by Marx; illustrate how the optimistic expectations of growth of the aftermath of World War II have not been met and the effects this has had on the structures of capital and inequality; and analyze how the assumption of constant growth has influenced the development of legal institutions.	Undergraduate	POL 346
PA	347	This course will explore the definition, history and types of homicide.	Undergraduate	-
PA	348	The course will offer a better understanding of how decisions are made in the criminal justice system and how discretion is used, in the framework of our society and the criminal justice system. This will be a fast paced, current events based course that should be challenging for the student in policy and course discourse. Each module will build upon the last to culminate in a broad overview of the problems and elements related to discretion and decision-making.	Undergraduate	-

PA	350	While modern police departments have always been at odds with the citizens they serve, the events of recent years have thrust this dichotomy into the public spotlight. The conflict is contentious and a resolution is not entirely clear. This course examines the police and their role and authority, the most common ways that police abuse that authority, the consequences of police abuses, and efforts to curtail police abuse of authority.	Undergraduate	-
PA	351	This course is designed to provide an in-depth understanding of community policing. The history of policing is examined in such a way as to explain why this concept became so important in American policing in the 1960's and how that idea has evolved into the 21st century. Proactive policing and problem solving are emphasized along with overcoming resistance to community policing within police bureaucracies. Students will gain an understanding of the benefits and challenges of creating partnerships with the community and how to implement policing strategies with regard to creating safe neighborhoods, improving the quality of life for communities, reducing specific and/or violent crime and preventing potential acts of terrorism.	Undergraduate	-
PA	352	This course will explore the definition, history and types of American based gangs and some globalized gangs. The course will seek to connect lecture and text with real world events. Classroom activities and discussion will be emphasized with the objective of assisting the student in understanding and evaluating his/her own beliefs and values concerning the topic of gangs. This course will include the study of gangs, guest speakers involved in this field of work, simulation and discussion. Gang prevention, intervention and interdiction strategies will be covered and assessed as community strategies to gang problems. As a result, students should have a better overall understanding of the gang issues that confront American society from the individual to the societal level.	Undergraduate	-

	Policy makers have long struggled to regulate intoxicating substances, including alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and opioids. While some of these substances are widely used for recreational or medicinal purposes, they can have significant deleterious effects on both the individual and societal levels. Furthermore, although evidence suggests that some policies to limit consumption of these substances may improve social welfare, other policies may unintentionally exacerbate societal inequality and cause further harms to public health and safety. In this course, we will analyze the various policy approaches that have been used to manage intoxicating substances, paying particular attention to the policy actors that have been involved, policy mechanisms that have been used, and the consequences of these responses. Simultaneously, we will explore the principles and analytic tools commonly employed during evidence-based policy making, and examine how they may be used to address regulation of intoxicating substances. While we will investigate efforts to regulate a variety of substances, we will pay

This is a one-semester undergraduate seminar on cybercrime, surveillance, and privacy. While the development of the internet and related technologies have fundamentally transformed society, not all of these changes have been positive. In addition to facilitating rapid economic and social exchange, the internet has also transformed traditional methods of engaging in and investigating criminal actions, and enabled entirely new categories of illicit activities. Careful regulation of the internet can maximize social benefits while disincentivizing harmful activity. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability to engage with decisionmakers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of cyber-related policy problems. The class will begin by exploring the engineering and infrastructure necessary to implement commonly-used consumer technologies such as telephones and the internet. We will then turn to the ways in which this technology can be used for harmful ends, including cyber crime, cyber terrorism, and cyber warfare. As the internet has also transformed the tools that can be used to counteract these harmful activities, we will then discuss electronic surveillance and the ways that electronic surveillance can challenge and complicate long-standing societal understandings of privacy. We will conclude with a series of case studies, where we will further investigate the topics learned in

PA	433	The nonprofit sector plays a critical role in helping people in need through the provision of social services such as employment training, housing, and individual and family programs. Today nonprofit organizations are being pressured to function more effectively while facing greater competition for resources and reduced government support. From this perspective alone, nonprofit management matters. As such, the emphasis of this course is to connect theory and practice by examining a variety of management tools and practices used in managing nonprofit organizations. Through a combination of readings, case studies, and discussions, students will gain an understanding of the management and leadership issues facing nonprofit organizations. In the context of examining the overall legal status of individuals, the course focuses on particular laws and judicial systems that are affected by mental health status and/or age or juvenile status of offenders, victims and community members.	Undergraduate	-

PA	482	This course introduces the concept of sustainable development as a policy goal, and explores the complex role of governance systems in promoting or inhibiting sustainability. Four major barriers to environmental sustainability are examined, including: 1) path dependency of policy choices, 2) collective action dilemmas, 3) conflicts over values and beliefs, and 4) the difficulty of translating scientific knowledge about coupled human and natural systems into effective policy solutions. This course emphasizes the understanding of practical solutions to problems of sustainability that are grounded in theories of public policy and management.	Undergraduate	PPEL 482

PA	510	Civil society plays an increasingly active role in policy implementation. Non-governmental organizations, non-profits, advocacy organizations, and similar groups provide research and analysis to inform policy makers; sit on advisory boards; represent the public interest in rule-making and planning exercises; directly deliver services and implement programs; and monitor and evaluate government programs. As a result, students planning future careers as public servants are likely to work closely with civil society organizations, and students planning future careers with non-profit organizations are likely to spend time working with government agencies. This course prepares students to work effectively across sectors in the policy implementation process.	Graduate	-
PA	511	We are best positioned to lead organizations if we understand human behavior and group dynamics. This course will incorporate management principles, organizational behavior, and change theory into a framework that students can use to enhance organizational culture and increase organizational effectiveness. PA	561A	Global climate change is widely considered the greatest threat confronting societies and governments today. Over the last decade a consensus has developed among natural and physical scientists over the likely causes of global climate change. Businesses, governments, and citizens have begun to respond by developing a variety of strategies, policies, and institutional arrangements designed to reduce human contributions to climate change and promote adaptation to the environmental impacts that are beginning to emerge. These "policy" responses are truly diverse in form and scale, from voluntary carbon markets and business certification programs, to command and control type regulations, to international treaties.	Graduate	-

PA	572	Quantitative methods in political science and policy research are changing rapidly. The rise of the internet has brought in new sources of text, network, geographical, image, video, and other data. Meanwhile, computing storage and processing capabilities continue to expand, while data and code sharing norms have made it so that anyone with a computer and internet connection can have access to a growing set of tools and methods for modeling and interpreting patterns. This course focuses on the extraordinary work that is emerging in politics and policy as a result of these recent advances, with a broad set of applications ranging from health and defense to environmental and agricultural policy. The course highlights current trends, challenges, and new directions for political and policy researchers in academia, government, and the private sector, focusing on how these new data sources and methodologies are being used to solve problems in social science and public policy.	Graduate	-

POL	396A	This seminar will introduce students majoring in international relations to relevant career paths in the governmental and private-sector fields. It will do this through a series of speakers, readings and class discussions, as well as relatively brief written assignments. The seminar will concentrate most heavily on US government careers, but it will also cover intergovernmental organizations, global corporations, and non-profit organizations having an international focus. It will encourage students to think critically about various international careers, including how those careers might fit with their skills, interests, and broader goals. The seminar will accordingly take a fairly practical approach, rather than one that is more theoretical or conceptual.	Undergraduate	-

POL	401	Water is a necessary resource, but also a scarce one. It is this scarcity that produces the conditions for the emergence of conflict among potential users, hence requiring the creation of institutional structures that establish rules that seek to accomplish an efficient utilization of water. This class examines such structures in a variety of levels -state, federal, and international- and analyzes how they affect issues of quality and quantity of provision, ecological balance and biodiversity, and conflict and cooperation among users. In particular, we will focus mainly on the rules governing how water is used, the politics of water decision-making, and whether or not the rules are effective at providing adequate amounts of clean water for human consumption and ecosystem maintenance.	Undergraduate	-

POL	How can we best explain the emergence and spread of nonviolent protest and violent conflict across the Middle East and North Africa region during the so-called 'Arab Spring'? What mechanisms facilitated the diffusion of democratic norms, ideas, and institutions across eastern Europe and the former Soviet states in the wake of the decline of communism? How, after being so deeply entrenched in western practice, can we account for the sudden and comprehensive abolition of the atlantic slave trade in the nineteenth century? This course explores a set of opportunities for and significant threats to international security. We will explore the mechanisms via which norms and political opportunities and ideas spread globally. We also examine the potential for various forms of violence and instability to spread across national borders. Our focus will be placed upon combining solid logical frameworks with cutting-edge empirical evidence to identify the channels and mechanisms via which diffusion and contagion occur. Students will be introduced to up-to-date analyses of process of contagion and diffusion with a view towards them being able to offer educated forecasts as to where instability is most likely to strike in the future.	Undergraduate	-
POL	What conditions are sufficiently 'dire or inspiring' to make someone take up arms and risk his (or her) life as part of a rebel group? By the end of this advanced undergraduate-level course, you will be able to answer this question just like the leading academic minds in the field of international relations. This class will provide you with extensive exposure to the quantitative study of civil wars around the world. We will start off by determining what constitutes a civil war and how this form of conflict is different from (or comprises) events such as international war, protests, riots, coups, genocide, and terrorism. We will then examine what factors that influence the onset, duration, termination, and recurrence of civil wars. Also, we will discuss some international dimensions of civil wars: the spread of conflicts across borders, refugee flows, and interventions.	Undergraduate	-
POL	The class will teach concepts from political science around the domestic and foreign policy of managing political violence and conflict, through the lens of international relations and comparative politics. POL	420	Policy makers have long struggled to regulate intoxicating substances, including alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and opioids. While some of these substances are widely used for recreational or medicinal purposes, they can have significant deleterious effects on both the individual and societal levels. Furthermore, although evidence suggests that some policies to limit consumption of these substances may improve social welfare, other policies may unintentionally exacerbate societal inequality and cause further harms to public health and safety. In this course, we will analyze the various policy approaches that have been used to manage intoxicating substances, paying particular attention to the policy actors that have been involved, policy mechanisms that have been used, and the consequences of these responses. Simultaneously, we will explore the principles and analytic tools commonly employed during evidence-based policy making, and examine how they may be used to address regulation of intoxicating substances. While we will investigate efforts to regulate a variety of substances, we will pay particular attention to developments surrounding the legalization of marijuana.	Undergraduate	PA 420

This is a one-semester undergraduate seminar on cybercrime, surveillance, and privacy. While the development of the internet and related technologies have fundamentally transformed society, not all of these changes have been positive. In addition to facilitating rapid economic and social exchange, the internet has also transformed traditional methods of engaging in and investigating criminal actions, and enabled entirely new categories of illicit activities. Careful regulation of the internet can maximize social benefits while disincentivizing harmful activity. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability to engage with decisionmakers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of cyber-related policy problems. The class will begin by exploring the engineering and infrastructure necessary to implement commonly-used consumer technologies such as telephones and the internet. We will then turn to the ways in which this technology can be used for harmful ends, including cyber crime, cyber terrorism, and cyber warfare. As the internet has also transformed the tools that can be used to counteract these harmful activities, we will then discuss electronic surveillance and the ways that electronic surveillance can challenge and complicate long-standing societal understandings of privacy. We will conclude with a series of case studies, where we will further investigate the topics learned in

POL	421 class by applying them to a series of contemporary policy issues.	Undergraduate	PA 421

The digital revolution is changing politics. From Barack Obama's use of the Internet to drive his presidential campaign, to the upheaval of the Arab Spring and the emergence of new social movements like #OccupyWallStreet, digital technology is challenging and changing established institutions on a number of fronts. This course introduces students to the history of the Internet and the emerging technologies that are defining the Digital Age. It places emphasis on the role of technology in politics and its implications for democracy and citizen rights. The course will cover a wide range of issues related to governance of the internet, privacy and security, the role of the media and open source development.

Prominent observers have identified phenomena of two types that have driven the development of the field. First, private actors around the world have pursued greater access to interact with public administrations at both the international and local levels, including across borders. In some cases, private actors have also begun to perform functions traditionally reserved for public entities. Second, international and local public administrations have begun to network, interfacing directly with one another, and bypassing the conventional channels of diplomatic relations. The study of global administrative law is, in a basic sense, the study of these phenomena.	Undergraduate	-

The evolving relationship between law and religion has had a profound influence on American political life and discourse since the country's founding. This course is designed to develop familiarity with that history and the resulting major tenets of the First Amendment's religion clauses. Taking as our starting point the concept of the separation of church and state, we examine what this idea has meant in U.S. Constitutional law. Class time will be structured around in-depth study of the Constitution and of Supreme Court precedents, and will integrate these formative Supreme Court decisions and decisions from state and lower federal courts into the social and historical contexts from which they derive meaning. In addition, the course will survey the scholarly treatment of such threshold questions as the meaning of "religion" in society, and will evaluate the evolving notion of religious liberty in a pluralistic society. We conclude with an examination of current legal debates and cases and of the prominent role of religious discourse about law, social change, politics and culture in today's society.

Ultimately, all political phenomena, including issues related to international security, boil down to interactions between humans - usually, groups of humans. As such, people's lay theories and beliefs about how humans think and make decisions in groups significantly affect how they approach political issues, including those related to international security. Research on group psychology offers a means of informing, critically evaluating, and improving these lay theories and beliefs. Decades of research have been done in the fields of social and political psychology on how groups of people interact with one another, why interactions between and within groups often become hostile or counter-productive, and how interactions between and within groups can be adjusted in ways that encourage cooperation and peace. In this course, we will seek to understand, broadly: why do groups sometimes conflict and sometimes cooperate with one another? We will start by broadly reviewing what psychologists have discovered regarding inter- and intra-group behavior. Students will then learn about what small-scale laboratory research has told us about when and why conflict versus cooperation might result from group interactions. Next, we will spend considerable time examining how this research has been applied to understanding a range of international security issues, including war and peace, ethnic conflict, terrorism, genocide, international trade, foreign aid, immigration, and refugees. Assignments will require students to critically evaluate their own as well as others' understandings of how group psychology influences contemporary international security issues and come up with concrete, novel ways in which group psychology might inform efforts to handle international security issues now and in the future.

This course will guide students through advanced applications of computational methods for social science research. Students will be encouraged to consider social problems from across sectors, like health science, education, environmental policy and business. Particular attention will be given to the collection and use of data to study social networks, online communities, electronic commerce and digital marketing. Students will consider the many research designs used in contemporary social research and will learn to think critically about claims of causality, mechanisms, and generalization in big data studies. Graduate requirements include additional readings and a more in-depth final paper than is required at the undergraduate level.

POL	516A	There are numerous historical cases of strategic nonviolent conflict, also called civil resistance or people power, with dynamic and recent examples from across the Middle East and North Africa during the Arab Spring. Yet while the study of violence has long defined the field of international security, scholars have only recently begun to examine the causes and effects of nonviolent conflict. This course is designed to overview these movements of nonviolent, antigovernment dissent, including their emergence, movement dynamics, and outcomes.	Graduate	-

POL	520A	This course is intended to be a survey of the political science literature's understandings about how terrorist campaigns come to a close. Prior to tackling questions of the end of terrorism head-on, we will first survey the literatures on definitions and theories of terrorism. Our survey of the various fates of terrorist groups and campaigns will explore (a) how governments use force to try to end terrorism, (b) occasions when governments and terrorist participate in negotiations to find a solution to their incompatibility, (c) outcomes in which groups achieve victory or are defeated, and (d) scenarios in which groups opt to reorient away from violence into other legal and illegal activities. POL	523A	U.S. Immigration policy is vast and complex. Passed at the federal and state level and implemented at the local level, immigration policies have a myriad of consequences- intended and unintended. We will explore the various types of immigration policies, their goals, and consequences with an eye toward evaluating their efficacy. In particular, we will consider immigration policy from the perspective of border flows- who and what flow across our borders and the ability of the U.S. government to control those flows. We will also consider the historical and political context underpinning immigration policy today as well as explore the feasibility and need for reforms in the future. Together we will question the validity and necessity of national borders while weighing security, humanitarianism, geopolitical relations, terrorism, race, and capitalism, and freedom.	Graduate	-

However, before concrete strategies can be formulated to deal with this concern, the nature and dynamics of Islamist mobilization itself must be understood. To do that, this course will benefit from the knowledge generated through years of study in different parts of the world and in various disciplines in identifying: What is it? What causes it? What motivates an individual to join an Islamist group and possibly use violence? Under what conditions will these groups moderate, and when will they radicalize? Overall this course is designed as a resource for students of political science and international security studies as well as broad audiences in the social sciences seeking to understand the emergence, evolution, and possible futures of what commonly called political Islam.	Graduate	-
POL	547A	Latin America is a region that faces multiple political, social, and economic challenges. Some of these are cross-cutting, including the very real problems of crime and violence. In Latin America, crime and violence are common occurrences. They have multiple sources and have wide ranging impact. We will consider the causes of crime and violence, as perpetrated by state and non-state actors, as well as violence toward particular groups. We will also examine how countries address crime and violence and the extent to which reform is possible.	Graduate	-

However, constitutions, almost by definition, do not always provide the details for how the various powers that are created are to be used in practice. At various junctures in American history, responses to security threats, both traditional and non-traditional, have created constitutional dilemmas for the US Government. In this course, we will explore how the US Supreme Court has attempted to resolve the constitutional conflicts over how foreign affairs are conducted by the United States. We will examine the justifications for the specific constitutional powers of both the legislative and executive branches and the potential sources of conflict that these powers create. Finally, we also explore the ways in which the presence of armed conflict or security crises shape constitutional law within the United States.	Graduate	-

Countries such as the US, China, and Russia that once were separated by great distances are now connected by cyber at the speed of light. This change requires us to rethink what we know about security, international relations, and war. To complicate matters, the Internet has instantiated differently in different States due to bureaucratic, political, cultural, and economic factors and has shaped each State in different ways. Understanding these cyber-differences is critical for understanding the role of networks in Security for each State and the role of "attribution", "retaliation", and "deterrence" in State-relations. This course provides students with qualitative data and models for understanding and being able to articulate the relevance of cyber to their studies, career, and world. The course is divided into four sections: - An introduction to the course: "US leadership in Cyberwar". - Cyber competition between US and Russia - US-China cyber-relations - Cyber-deterrence Though we are focusing on cyber and the Superpowers (US, China, and Russia), the lessons drawn can be applied to all states and to some degree to non-state actors such as terrorist groups.

This course provides an introduction to the politics of cybersecurity in the U.S. as well as the European Union (EU). Starting with a discussion of key concepts of cybersecurity, the class continues to analyze how U.S. and EU cybersecurity policy making differ. Recently, both the U.S. and EU passed new cybersecurity legislation laying different emphasis on privacy protection, crime prevention and the involvement of tech businesses in the policy process through public private partnerships. Why are the U.S. and Europe applying different approaches to cybersecurity policy? The goal of the course is to answer this question by comparing the institutions, actors and process of cybersecurity policy making in the U.S. and the EU. While both follow different approaches to cybersecurity policy as such, they agree on the need of enhanced international cooperation on the issue. The course ends with a unit on the current state of cybersecurity cooperation across the Atlantic and the implications of the politics of cybersecurity on the future of transatlantic relationship.

GEOINT processes and capabilities are designed to gain intelligence about the national security or an operational environment, visually depict this knowledge, combine the knowledge with other information sources, and present knowledge in a way that is appropriate to the decision-making environment. GEOINT supports key mission areas related to the national security of the U.S. including informing policymakers; supporting military, intelligence, and homeland security operations, and facilitating intelligence collaboration. Domestic politics and foreign policy were once considered to be separate entities, such as in the old fashioned statement that governments could afford either "guns or butter." A more contemporary account notes that various ways that domestic politics and foreign policy are intertwined. Domestic politics shapes the foreign policy decisions of a country and foreign policy often impinges on domestic politics. Topics covered in this class will include the role of the president, Congress, the bureaucracy and the courts in determining foreign policy. Conflicts and cooperation between these government entities will be highlighted. How public opinion and interest groups influence foreign policy also will be covered. Finally, the efforts of foreign policy decisions on domestic politics will be considered. Upon completion of this course, students will have a fuller understanding of how domestic politics and foreign policy are intertwined.

This course focuses on the role international organizations (IOs) play in contemporary global politics. IOs have become an increasingly common feature of the political landscape. Institutions shape state behavior in areas such as trade, security, the environment, and human rights. The course provides background on the historical development of major multilateral IOs. We pay special attention to how institutions are designed. We then assess each organization's performance record. Specific questions include: Does UN peacekeeping promote post-war stability? Is the ICC an effective tool for protecting human rights? How do the IMF and World Bank approach global development? To answer these questions, we consider internal policy reports, outside commentary, instructional videos, podcasts, and academic analyses.

This is a one-semester Ph.D. seminar on technology policy. Technology can and has fundamentally transform people, societies, economies, and environments. Careful regulation and management of technology can encourage changes that improve social welfare and minimize unintended consequences. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability engage with decision makers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of technology-related policy problems. The first half of the course will delve into the mechanisms used to analyze policy problems and identify potential solutions, with special attention paid to those mechanisms that frequently appear in the technology policy context. Wherever possible, these mechanisms will be illustrated with examples from technology policy. The second half of the course will be comprised of a series of case studies, using the tools learned in the first half of the course to comprehensively analyze a series of technology policy questions.

These case studies will include examples related to surveillance and privacy, cyber warfare, algorithmic fairness, bioethics, and space policy.

The purpose of this course is to introduce students to historical and contemporary perspectives in American Politics. As a subfield, American Politics scholars rely on a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches. Though many of the readings will be drawn from the top 3 journals in our field, the APSR, AJPS, and JOP, you will find that the literature spans several disciplines (economics, psychology, and sociology, to name a few). This course serves as a foundation for the study of American Politics, especially as it pertains to mass political behavior and how elites function within the three branches of government. As such, we will focus on a variety of topics important in political science, such as racial politics, economic decision-making, political campaigns, ideology, congress, the presidency,

We begin with a review of key questions in regression analysis as well as the problem of selection bias in evaluating treatment effects in the real world versus an ideal experiment. We then turn to randomization as a potential solution but address difficulties in theory and practice. Thus, we spend the bulk of the semester focusing on quasi-experimental techniques - such as regression discontinuity, difference-in-difference, matching, and IV - that allow researchers to exploit instances of natural experiments to (arguably) identify a causal relationship, paying special attention to key testable and untestable assumptions that may underlie each technique. Students will learn the theory behind the techniques, apply techniques to real-world policy data, and critically read cutting-edge policy studies that utilize the methods across a wide range of real-world topics including

This class introduces graduate students to the systematic conduct of research based on the study of a relatively small number of cases. It exposes them to multiple qualitative data collection methods and analytical techniques. It also provides students with the tools to fruitfully integrate multiple methods into their

POL		In this course, you will learn how to design, implement, and analyze experiments in political science. The course is loosely organized into three sections. We will start by considering experimental design discussing the key virtues of experimental research and then how to best achieve strong experiments in practice. The second unit focuses on the varieties of experiments common to political science including laboratory experiments, natural experiments, field experiments, and survey experiments. We will consider the characteristics of each, and along the way, address some of the challenges associated with the implementation of experiments, such as attrition, effective randomization, and spillover effects. The third section is devoted to the empirical analysis of experimental results. We will cover the analytical tools common to experimental research and address issues of mediation as well as heterogeneous treatment effects. Throughout the semester, each student will design an experiment related to your own particular substantive interests. We will use parts of each class session to give each other feedback on how to improve that design (against the backdrop of the particular topic we are covering).	687	Graduate	-
POL		When people use the internet, they leave behind traces of their political behaviors and social interactions across space and time. While these digital traces are typically created and collected by businesses and governments for their own internal purposes, they are often available to researchers either incidentally or explicitly on behalf of these organizations. Digital trace data have the potential to broaden the scope and scale of political and social research, but require knowledge of computational tools and methods that are typically not taught to social scientists. Moreover, digital trace data present new legal and ethical considerations, since they often contain sensitive, individual-level information. Digital trace data also present conceptual challenges, some which are not new to political and social scientists, like representativeness, and others that are unique to the web, including algorithmic confounding.	688	Graduate	-
POL	695A	Capstone project, in which students develop a portfolio that overviews their academic work in the context of their professional goals. This should be taken as the final course of the ISS M.A. degree.		Graduate	-
POL		The purpose of the methods workshop is to supplement our PhD methods courses by providing additional methods training to our PhD students. This course will present students with information and techniques to collect and sort data for research purposes.	697	Graduate	-

POL	697A	This workshop is designed as an introduction to and initial exploration of the many issues that academics face in graduate school and the profession. We place close attention upon issues related to entering academia and teaching and the classroom experience. The purpose of the course is to help you understand what you need to do to succeed in the academic world. To that end, we will discuss a variety of important topics and issues that arise in the profession and consider concrete strategies for dealing with them.	Graduate	-
POL	697B	This workshop is designed for PhD students in their third semester as an introduction to norms and expectations regarding student research in the discipline. We place close attention to issues related to the development of an independent research plan, with specific focus upon the second year project.	Graduate	-
POL	697C	This course is designed for students in their fourth year who are soon to enter the job market. It will provide an introduction to what to expect on the market as well as an opportunity to draft important materials to be included in job applications.	Graduate	-
POL	697D	This course is the third of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to guide and inspire students as they refine their second-year papers and prepare their project presentations, which will be delivered to members of the School later in the spring semester. This course builds on themes from past professional development workshops as well as POL 680, in a more applied manner as students finalize their work on a specific project and learn how to receive and engage with feedback in a constructive manner.	Graduate	-
POL	697E	This course is the fourth of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to guide and inspire third-year students as they begin to develop ideas for their dissertation project, specifically through the process of preparing the prospectus document. We will work through strategies to identify potential motivating questions based on broader research agendas/interests, identify key components of the prospectus document, and discuss how to support dissertation research by building useful committees and pursuing grants and fellowships.	Graduate	-

POL	697F	This course is the final of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to prepare fourth-year students to discuss their research and general skill sets with audiences beyond academic circles. We will examine and engage in activities like writing op-eds or blog posts as well as other public-facing methods for sharing research, developing policy-relevant research questions, incorporating public engagement into our classrooms, and pursuing employment outside academia.	Graduate	-
POL	697M	Directed and independent academic research designed to supplement training in the Military Intelligence Captains Career Course (MICCC) at Fort Huachuca, Arizona.	Graduate	-
POL	699	Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work. Graduate students doing independent work which cannot be classified as actual research will register for credit under course number 599, 699, or 799.	Graduate	-
POL	794	The course is designed to provide a foundation for graduate level research design course. The 45-hour module, consisting of tutorials, readings, assignments, and quizzes, addresses topics such as literature reviews, managing citations, information access policies, thesis titles, and copyright basics. This online course is specially geared to International Security Study students.	Graduate	-
POL	900	Individual research, not related to thesis or dissertation preparation, by graduate students.	Graduate	-
POL	910	Research for the master's thesis (whether library research, laboratory or field observation or research, artistic creation, or thesis writing). Maximum total credit permitted varies with the major department.	Graduate	-
POL	920	Research for the doctoral dissertation (whether library research, laboratory or field observation or research, artistic creation, or dissertation writing).	Graduate	-
SGPP	300A	SGPP 300A, "United States" covers substantive areas that comprise the fields of American politics, public administration and policy. Topics include public policy and government, political institutions, and electoral policies. Attention to issues of common pool resource consumption, equality, fairness and hypocrisy as relevant to public policy and governance, especially in the U.S. setting.	Undergraduate	-

SGPP	300B	Covering the areas of comparative politics and international relations, addresses important substantive areas such as international and domestic conflict and conflict management; political economy (international and national); political institutional design (both within states and international); interest articulation, aggregation, and elite-mass relations; politics of nationality and religion; and decision-making.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	301	This course seeks to provide a greater appreciation of what we call "globalization"? and some of its implications for international politics, national security, and the prospects for global management of transnational problems. We will also examine the deepening interconnection of technological, economic, and sociocultural trends that characterize much of globalization; and introduce students to the need for a multidisciplinary approach.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	302	This course aims to present some of the major theoretical approaches to conflict. It examines theories that attempt to explain the causes, dynamics and conditions of conflicts, be they international or domestic. We will focus on organized violence at four levels: the global system; the state or regime; social/ethnic groups; and the individual. By the end of the course students should know the main approaches to understanding what violence is, why warfare and violence occur, and how to apply those approaches to concrete cases.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	303	How do the levels of corruption and accountability vary in the developing world? To what extent are they determined by the levels of economic development, political culture, political institutions or individual preferences? What kind of trajectories do we observe in the development of regimes and policies? What role do people play in bringing about regime transitions and democratization? Our discussion will focus on regime dynamics, institutions, and popular mobilization in the developing world to understand the complex problems that these countries face.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	304	This course will focus on an introduction to how politics influences and constrains how public policy is made. The nature of the institutions of the government of the United States and the public policy process will be examined and discussed in relation to democratic values and policy outcomes.	Undergraduate	-

SGPP	305	The objective of this class is develop a more complete understanding of what a democracy is, as well as the core requirements for democracy to endure. Students will learn the fundamental tenets of democracy and gain appreciation for the complex concept of democracy. They will examine the different definitions and fundamental requirements for a state to be considered a democracy.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	396H	An Honors special topics seminar course for Honors Active Juniors and Seniors. Course includes small group discussion, research, and presentations on a variety of government & public policy related special topics of interest. Current research, relevant issues, historical perspectives and guest speakers may be included. Honors sophomores may enroll with consent of the department.	Undergraduate	-

Subject Code	Catalog Number	Course Title	Description	Academic Career Description	Crosslisted Courses
PA		206 Public Policy and Administration	Theory and practice of executive agencies, including policy making and other functions, processes, personnel and fiscal management, and administrative law.	Undergraduate	POL 206
PA		221 Health, Human Services and Public Management	This course will provide a general survey of significant issues in the health, human services and public management fields. Secondary emphasis will be placed on how policy is made and implemented in the three subject areas. The use of and interpretation of data and practical examples will be stressed.	Undergraduate	SOC 221
PA		236 Globalization and Security	This course will cover the relationship between the globalization of key world systems and changes in systems of security maintained in and across the nations.	Undergraduate	POL 236
PA		291 Preceptorship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of instruction and practice in actual service in a department, program, or discipline. Teaching formats may include seminars, in-depth studies, laboratory work and patient study.	Undergraduate	-
PA		299 Independent Study	Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work.	Undergraduate	-
PA		330 Ethics for the Public Administrator	This course is required for public administration students and is four parts. The first section is devoted to the context of ethics in the public and non-profit sectors. Specifically, the students will read, discuss and contrast applied ethical postures, e.g., consequentialist and deontological. Most of the course will be devoted to the learners resolving ethical dilemmas in criminal justice organizations, health and human services organizations and government generally. The final section will examine larger issues in the civic culture.	Undergraduate	-
PA		331 Criminal Justice Ethics	This is a course in applied ethics and not a course in philosophy or religion. Using short lectures and interactive discussions the course allows Criminal Justice students to view the systems and issues within in it from the basic philosophical positions of teleology, deontology and virtues ethics. Using those frameworks, it allows the students to view ethical issues from the basic ethical standing points.	Undergraduate	-
PA		332 Survey of Forensic Science	This class will survey the various forensic sciences and technologies used in the investigation and prosecution of criminal cases. This course is intended as an introduction to forensic science for those who intend to work in the criminal justice and legal community. We will also discuss the role of forensic science in famous case studies and current criminal cases.	Undergraduate	-

PA	333 Integrity and the Criminal Justice System	This is an elective course for all Criminal Justice students in applied ethics and integrity in the workplace. Using reality-based scenarios, the students will be asked to analyze and formulate plans about how they will react to issues of integrity conflicts while clearly identifying conflicts of integrity. Students will analyze contemporary case studies to explore the ethical implications and complex decision-making situations that arise in criminal justice related environments. This course will draw distinction between ethics as a system of rules to eliminate conflicts of interest, and integrity, more broadly construed as the context for resolving multiple and competing interests, or "duties" when there is no code instructing appropriate action.	Undergraduate	-
PA	335 Constitutions, Courts and Corrections	This course will investigate how the U.S. Constitution, State Constitutions, courts and case law have shaped today's American correctional systems. Although the impact of litigation on community corrections will be explored, the emphasis will be on how prisoner litigation has impacted the subculture of inmates inside today's American correctional facilities.	Undergraduate	-
PA	336 Court Process and Procedures	This is a survey course of the criminal legal process through a study of the court processes. This three-unit, interactive course involves a review of the jurisdictional authority of courts from city to district to federal district court as well as a review the appellate process for each jurisdictional level. In addition, students will learn about the roles of judges, lawyers, courthouse and administrative support personnel in the context of criminal and civil law proceedings. The course will also cover the responsibilities of probation officers, social workers and the various professional roles of criminal justice specialists in the legal process.	Undergraduate	-
PA	337 Sex Offenses, Offenders and the Criminal Justice System	Students will learn about the nature, etiology, and treatment of sexual deviance; the link between sexual behavior and sex crimes, and current issues in laws concerning sex offenses. Students will consider the social and psychological distinctions between consensual sexual encounters, prostitution, pornography and predatory conduct.	Undergraduate	-
PA	338 Guns in America	This course examines guns from historical, criminological, political, legal, sociological and cultural perspectives. Grounded in the American context, the course focuses on the relationship between gun rights and gun rules; between crime and self-defense; and between the past and present politics of guns.	Undergraduate	SOC 338

PA	340 Police Management	This course examines the principles of administration, management, politics and leadership with emphasis on their applicability to police planning, organization, direction, control, and personnel management.	Undergraduate	-
PA	343 The Crime Problem	Theory and research on the nature, causes and control of crime from an interdisciplinary perspective.	Undergraduate	-
PA	344 Law and Public Policy	Analysis of selected principles of criminal law, criminal procedure and correctional law.	Undergraduate	-
PA	345 Critical Incident and Emergency Management	This course will give students an introduction into the management of the many different and complex types of critical incidents whether man-made or natural. Students will examine the nature of critical incidents learning to identify objectives, common characteristics and the vast array of variables that can impact the success of incident mitigation. Students will explore different scenarios investigating the role of first responders, the use or lack of basic incident command principles which includes identifying the different Stages, Phases and Strategies of the incident itself. This course will also probe the different leadership styles, the effects of Critical Incident Stress and the intrinsic difficulties associated with Hazardous Materials and Weapons of Mass Destruction.	Undergraduate	-
PA	346 Growth, Inequality, and the Law	This course will identify the dynamics that drive the accumulation and distribution of capital; investigate how modern economic growth and the diffusion of knowledge have allowed countries to limit inequalities on the apocalyptic scale predicted by Marx; illustrate how the optimistic expectations of growth of the aftermath of World War II have not been met and the effects this has had on the structures of capital and inequality; and analyze how the assumption of constant growth has influenced the development of legal institutions.	Undergraduate	POL 346
PA	347 Nature of Murder	This course will explore the definition, history and types of homicide.	Undergraduate	-
PA	348 Discretion and Decision Making	The course will offer a better understanding of how decisions are made in the criminal justice system and how discretion is used, in the framework of our society and the criminal justice system. This will be a fast paced, current events based course that should be challenging for the student in policy and course discourse. Each module will build upon the last to culminate in a broad overview of the problems and elements related to discretion and decision-making.	Undergraduate	-

PA	350 Police Accountability	While modern police departments have always been at odds with the citizens they serve, the events of recent years have thrust this dichotomy into the public spotlight. The conflict is contentious and a resolution is not entirely clear. This course examines the police and their role and authority, the most common ways that police abuse that authority, the consequences of police abuses, and efforts to curtail police abuse of authority.	Undergraduate	-
PA	351 Police Community Relations	This course is designed to provide an in-depth understanding of community policing. The history of policing is examined in such a way as to explain why this concept became so important in American policing in the 1960's and how that idea has evolved into the 21st century. Proactive policing and problem solving are emphasized along with overcoming resistance to community policing within police bureaucracies. Students will gain an understanding of the benefits and challenges of creating partnerships with the community and how to implement policing strategies with regard to creating safe neighborhoods, improving the quality of life for communities, reducing specific and/or violent crime and preventing potential acts of terrorism.	Undergraduate	-
PA	352 Gang Theory	This course will explore the definition, history and types of American based gangs and some globalized gangs. The course will seek to connect lecture and text with real world events. Classroom activities and discussion will be emphasized with the objective of assisting the student in understanding and evaluating his/her own beliefs and values concerning the topic of gangs. This course will include the study of gangs, guest speakers involved in this field of work, simulation and discussion. Gang prevention, intervention and interdiction strategies will be covered and assessed as community strategies to gang problems. As a result, students should have a better overall understanding of the gang issues that confront American society from the individual to the societal level.	Undergraduate	-
PA	391 Preceptorship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of instruction and practice in actual service in a department, program, or discipline. Teaching formats may include seminars, in-depth studies, laboratory work and patient study.	Undergraduate	-
PA	393 Internship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Undergraduate	-
PA	393H Honors Internship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Undergraduate	-

PA	396H	Public Administration Honors Special Topics Seminar	An Honors special topics seminar course for Honors Active Juniors and Seniors. Course includes small group discussion, research, and presentations on a variety of public administration and policy related special topics of interest. Current research, relevant issues, historical perspectives and guest speakers may be included. Honors sophomores may enroll with consent of the department.	Undergraduate	-
PA		399 Independent Study	Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work.	Undergraduate	-
PA	399H	Honors Independent Study	Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work.	Undergraduate	-
PA		403 Political Networks	This course introduces political networks as a lens to better understand critical issues in political science, public management, public policy, and criminal justice. Political networks are a method to describe the complex relationships between political actors, whether the actors in question are lawmakers, interest groups, or even covert organizations that strive to disrupt political systems. This course will introduce students to major research questions in the study of political networks, as well as their applicability to understand and manage real-world problems. Students will gain the ability to work with network data and apply network theory to the analysis of critical societal issues.	Undergraduate	POL 403
PA		405 Program Planning and Evaluation	Introduces processes of program planning and evaluation in the public and non-profit sectors. Includes goals setting and needs assessment methods, and quantitative and qualitative techniques of program analysis and evaluation.	Undergraduate	-
PA		406 Bureaucracy, Politics, and Policy	Description and analysis of the executive branch of government: how federal agencies capture policy-making; why bureaucracy develops; the rules of bureaucratic culture; who controls the administrative branch.	Undergraduate	-
PA		Introduction to Public and Nonprofit Financial 410 Management	Issues and techniques of financial management and budgeting in the public and nonprofit sectors.	Undergraduate	-
PA		416 Health, Ethics and Public Policy	Dealing with ethical and public dimension of health care. Policy issues include who pays for health care, who can have access to health care and the implications of for-profit health care provision will be discussed.	Undergraduate	SOC 416

PA	417 Dictatorship: Could it Happen Here?	This course will examine the causes and consequences of dictatorships. It will then consider different types of dictatorship and the conditions under which they may be more durable. It will also discuss how dictatorships use repression, censorship and social media to maintain control and how dissidents fight back. In assessing these different factors, the course will then assess the conditions under which existing democracies like the United States might revert to dictatorship. In short, could it happen here? This course will provide students with a historical and contemporary overview of the laws, public policies, and politics surrounding the LGBTQ+ community, the law, and criminal justice system.	Undergraduate	POL 417
PA	418 LGBTQ+, the Law, and Public Policy		Undergraduate	-
PA	419 Terrorism and Counterterrorism	This course addresses the political causes and consequences of the use of terrorist violence as well as the variety of methods employed by the state in response to this violence.	Undergraduate	POL 419
PA	420 Prohibition, Legalization, Regulation: Governing the Use and Abuse of Intoxicating Substances	Policy makers have long struggled to regulate intoxicating substances, including alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and opioids. While some of these substances are widely used for recreational or medicinal purposes, they can have significant deleterious effects on both the individual and societal levels. Furthermore, although evidence suggests that some policies to limit consumption of these substances may improve social welfare, other policies may unintentionally exacerbate societal inequality and cause further harms to public health and safety. In this course, we will analyze the various policy approaches that have been used to manage intoxicating substances, paying particular attention to the policy actors that have been involved, policy mechanisms that have been used, and the consequences of these responses. Simultaneously, we will explore the principles and analytic tools commonly employed during evidence-based policy making, and examine how they may be used to address regulation of intoxicating substances. While we will investigate efforts to regulate a variety of substances, we will pay particular attention to developments surrounding the legalization of marijuana.	Undergraduate	POL 420

PA	421 Cyber Crime, Surveillance, and Privacy	This is a one-semester undergraduate seminar on cybercrime, surveillance, and privacy. While the development of the internet and related technologies have fundamentally transformed society, not all of these changes have been positive. In addition to facilitating rapid economic and social exchange, the internet has also transformed traditional methods of engaging in and investigating criminal actions, and enabled entirely new categories of illicit activities. Careful regulation of the internet can maximize social benefits while disincentivizing harmful activity. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability to engage with decisionmakers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of cyber-related policy problems. The class will begin by exploring the engineering and infrastructure necessary to implement commonly-used consumer technologies such as telephones and the internet. We will then turn to the ways in which this technology can be used for harmful ends, including cyber crime, cyber terrorism, and cyber warfare. As the internet has also transformed the tools that can be used to counteract these harmful activities, we will then discuss electronic surveillance and the ways that electronic surveillance can challenge and complicate long-standing societal understandings of privacy. We will conclude with a series of case studies, where we will further investigate the topics learned in class by applying them to a series of contemporary policy issues.	Undergraduate	POL 421
PA	431 The US Health Care System and Health Care Policy	This course will provide an overview of the groups, forces, politics and institutions that provide health care in the U.S.. After a brief look at the historical development of the institutions and providers of health care in the United States, current issues, proposed reforms, and other world-wide systems will be explored. Change agents and issues will be thoroughly explored to help the student assess this dynamic system.	Undergraduate	-

PA		433 Nonprofit Management	The nonprofit sector plays a critical role in helping people in need through the provision of social services such as employment training, housing, and individual and family programs. Today nonprofit organizations are being pressured to function more effectively while facing greater competition for resources and reduced government support. From this perspective alone, nonprofit management matters. As such, the emphasis of this course is to connect theory and practice by examining a variety of management tools and practices used in managing nonprofit organizations. Through a combination of readings, case studies, and discussions, students will gain an understanding of the management and leadership issues facing nonprofit organizations. Undergraduate	-
PA		435 Juvenile and Mental Health Law	In the context of examining the overall legal status of individuals, the course focuses on particular laws and judicial systems that are affected by mental health status and/or age or juvenile status of offenders, victims and community members. Undergraduate	-
PA		436 Violent Crime and Political Order	Description and analysis of how and why people wield, and respond to, authority. Based on presumption that people's reactions to the public order are influenced by the private order-or disorder-of their minds and the way they learned to respond to the private authorities of their childhoods. Undergraduate	POL 436
PA	436H	Ethical Leadership: An Honors Course	This course is about the critical ingredient to leadership, ethics. It is a course in the competencies of ethical leadership. Learning these competencies -mastering the context, knowing yourself, creating a vision, communicating with meaning, building trust through integrity, and realizing intentions through actions- is available to all. Undergraduate	-
PA		441 Women in the Justice System	Examines the treatment of juveniles and women in the American criminal justice system. Undergraduate	-
PA		443 White Collar Crime: Law & Public Policy	This course is about crime and misconduct in organizations, how much there is, what it is like and what the government can and cannot do about it. The readings, topics and discussions blend theory and research with current examples of white collar crime. Undergraduate	-
PA		445 Prisons, Jails, and Parole	This course is designed to investigate the correction of offenders in both secure facilities and the community. After a history of the corrections system is presented, the course is an overview of trends and developments of both institutional (jails and prisons) and community corrections. Particular emphasis is placed on intermediate sanctions, the range of corrections from prison to probation. Undergraduate	-
PA		446 Crime and Public Policy	Role of government in the prevention and control of crime. Undergraduate	-

PA	450 Crime Measurement	Criminologists generally use at least three distinct measures of crime: (1) crimes known to the police (Uniform Crime Reports, 911 calls, etc.); (2) victimization surveys (e.g., the National Crime Victimization Survey); and (3) offender self-reports. Each of these three measures has idiosyncratic strengths and weaknesses that recommend its use for some purposes but not for others. In broad outline, the course will investigate research that has used each of these three measurement methods, focusing on similarities and differences in the methods.	Undergraduate	-
PA	Global Climate Change: Integrating Science, Policy, and 461 Decision Making	Global climate change is widely considered the greatest threat confronting societies and governments today. This course will cover the scientific evidence of global climate change, the role of science in policy and decision making, major policy options and their ethical implications, and the response of international organizations, businesses and the community to the environmental impacts of this issue.	Undergraduate	-
PA	470 Public Organizational Management	Exploration of public organization theory and behavior in the context of issues confronting upper echelon public administrators on local, state and federal levels.	Undergraduate	-
PA	474 The Art of Diplomacy & Negotiation	Each day offers new challenges that require we possess necessary skills to understand and manage our surroundings. Negotiation skills, when used appropriately, are a powerful tool in one's toolbox. This course introduces hands-on skills, tools and techniques that are necessary in achieving successful outcomes in negotiations. The course combines theoretical knowledge of leading negotiation scholars as well as practical experience. The primary focus is on enhancing one's personal ability in dealing with conflict/disagreement. As a result, students will be engaged in games, group discussions and creative tasks, inside and outside the classroom.	Undergraduate	POL 474
PA	479 Intelligence and U.S. National Security	Overview of the role of intelligence in the formulation and execution of US national security policy. Will include a detailed look at challenges facing both the analysis of intelligence information and the introduction of that analysis into the national security policy process. Will also entail reading and discussion about declassified intelligence operations.	Undergraduate	POL 479
PA	480 Formation of Public Policy	Needs and demands for public action on policy issues; organization and nature of political support; processes and problems of decision making in the formation of public policy at the national, state, and local levels.	Undergraduate	-
PA	481 Environmental Policy	Role of government in management of energy, natural resources and environment; process and policy alternatives; special attention to the Southwest.	Undergraduate	HWRS 481

PA	481 Environmental Policy	Role of government in management of energy, natural resources and environment; process and policy alternatives; special attention to the Southwest. Role of government in management of energy, natural resources and environment; process and policy alternatives; special attention to the Southwest.	Undergraduate	POL 481
PA	481 Environmental Policy	Role of government in management of energy, natural resources and environment; process and policy alternatives; special attention to the Southwest.	Undergraduate	RNR 481
PA	482 Environmental Governance	This course introduces the concept of sustainable development as a policy goal, and explores the complex role of governance systems in promoting or inhibiting sustainability. Four major barriers to environmental sustainability are examined, including: 1) path dependency of policy choices, 2) collective action dilemmas, 3) conflicts over values and beliefs, and 4) the difficulty of translating scientific knowledge about coupled human and natural systems into effective policy solutions. This course emphasizes the understanding of practical solutions to problems of sustainability that are grounded in theories of public policy and management.	Undergraduate	PPEL 482
PA	483 History of US Intelligence: Organization and Policy	The course is intended to provide students with a framework for understanding how the United States came to have the intelligence system that it possesses today. After briefly developing a concept of the basic functions of intelligence (the organized collection and analysis of information and conduct of covert action that support the formulation and execution of US national security policy) the course will look at the evolution of US intelligence activity as it increasingly embodied those functions. The largely chronological approach will begin with early intelligence organization during the Revolutionary War, then proceed through halting developmental steps during the 19th and early 20th centuries. It will finally look at the major organizational expansion of intelligence activity from the 1940s onward. An overarching theme will be the linkage between the growth of intelligence organizations and the growing need for information by US policymakers increasingly involved in the international environment. Each class meeting will include lecture and discussion. Particularly in covering 20th century developments, the course will involve reading of declassified intelligence documents.	Undergraduate	-

PA		484 Environmental Management	This course is a survey of environmental management and economics to maximize social benefit. Covering pollution control, nonrenewable resource extraction, and natural resource management, we address both theory and policy in practice to determine when markets work, when they fail, and what policy can do to help. We also discuss the taxonomy of value and introduce stated- and revealed-preference valuation techniques. This course aims to empower students with a set of tools to rigorously evaluate a range of real-world issues at the human-environment nexus through the synthesis of science, economics, and policy. Basic math (graphing and algebra) will be used in this course, but all concepts will be reviewed during the first class.	Undergraduate	-
PA		491 Preceptorship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of instruction and practice in actual service in a department, program, or discipline. Teaching formats may include seminars, in-depth studies, laboratory work and patient study.	Undergraduate	-
PA		493 Internship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Undergraduate	-
PA	493H	Honors Internship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Undergraduate	-
PA	493L	Legislative Internship	Working experience at the Arizona State Legislature; responsibilities draw upon student's area of major expertise and include preparing written and oral reports, summarizing legislative proposals, and providing information to legislators and legislative committees.	Undergraduate	-
PA	496A	Special Topics in Public Policy	This course is designed to provide a flexible topics seminar for undergraduates across several domains in the field of public management and public policy. Students will develop and exchange scholarly information in a small group setting. The scope of work shall consist of research by course registrants, with the exchange of the results of such research through discussion, reports, and/or papers.	Undergraduate	-
PA	496B	Special Topics in Criminal Justice	This course is designed to provide a flexible topics seminar for undergraduates across several domains in the field of criminal justice. Students will develop and exchange scholarly information in a small group setting. PA		500 Economics for Public Policy	Microeconomic theory and applications for public policy.	Graduate	-
PA		501 Public Organization Theory	Course focuses on understanding and analyzing interactions, effectiveness and complexities of organization structures.	Graduate	-
PA		503 Politics, Policy and Public Management	Various theories of how public policy is formulated.	Graduate	-
PA		504 Intermediate Economics for Public Policy	This course is a survey of microeconomic and macroeconomic principles for the public policy scholar. The first half of the semester will cover principles of microeconomic markets from a policy perspective. The second half of the semester will examine core macroeconomic concepts in order to give public policy scholars foundational economic intuition to understand and model complex policy problems.	Graduate	-
PA		505 Methods for Program Evaluation	Techniques for evaluating processes and outcomes of public sector and non-profit programs.	Graduate	-
PA		506 Bureaucracy, Politics, and Policy	Description and analysis of the executive branch of government: how federal agencies capture policy-making; why bureaucracy develops; the rules of bureaucratic culture; who controls the administrative branch. Graduate-level requirements include an additional research paper.	Graduate	POL 506
PA		507 Conflict Management in the Public Sector	This course is designed to expose students of public administration and public policy to conflict resolution and management skills. The course covers the nature of conflict and disputes in the public sector as well as traditional and non-traditional methods of managing disputes such as coercion, negotiation, arbitration, mediation, and litigation. The course requires participation in a group project that exposes students to interests of parties in real-world public policy conflicts in and around Tucson.	Graduate	-
PA		508 Public and Nonprofit Financial Management	Financial management and budgeting in the public and nonprofit sectors; techniques and organizational issues.	Graduate	-

PA	Strategic Planning, Public Policy and Political Decision 509 Making	Strategic planning in the public sector and its role in state policy development, implementation, and political decision making.	Graduate	-
PA	510 Nonprofits in the Policy Process	Civil society plays an increasingly active role in policy implementation. Non-governmental organizations, non-profits, advocacy organizations, and similar groups provide research and analysis to inform policy makers; sit on advisory boards; represent the public interest in rule-making and planning exercises; directly deliver services and implement programs; and monitor and evaluate government programs. As a result, students planning future careers as public servants are likely to work closely with civil society organizations, and students planning future careers with non-profit organizations are likely to spend time working with government agencies. This course prepares students to work effectively across sectors in the policy implementation process.	Graduate	-
PA	People, Power, and Change in Public and Nonprofit 511 Organizations	We are best positioned to lead organizations if we understand human behavior and group dynamics. This course will incorporate management principles, organizational behavior, and change theory into a framework that students can use to enhance organizational culture and increase organizational effectiveness. Topics will include progressive management practices, organizational culture, power & politics, group dynamics, and strategies for leading and managing change.	Graduate	-
PA	512 Local Government	The study of counties and municipalities, with special emphasis on local governments in the Western United States.	Graduate	-
PA	513 Government, Business, and the Non-Profit Sector	In the past twenty years, governments have drastically altered the way they deliver public services. While government spending on services has grown, nonprofit organizations under contract to government increasingly deliver public services in health, welfare and many other areas. This course will map the dimensions of this new relationship; discuss the consequences of third party management of public services; and develop skills in contracting, monitoring and measuring performance.	Graduate	-
PA	515 State and Local Government Finance	This course focuses on fiscal issues facing governments at the sub-national level. Included is a survey of state and local fiscal systems in the country and detailed analysis of the major state and local revenue sources (such as income tax, sales tax) and expenditure categories (such as K-12, higher education and welfare), and economic and administrative issues in intergovernmental relations.	Graduate	-

PA	516 Health, Ethics and Public Policy	Dealing with ethical and public dimension of health care. Policy issues include who pays for health care, who can have access to health care and the implications of for-profit health care provision will be discussed. Graduate-level requirements include individual presentations.	Graduate	SOC 516

PA	519 Terrorism and Counterterrorism	This course addresses the political causes and consequences of the use of terrorist violence as well as the variety of methods employed by the state in response to this violence. Graduate-level requirements include reading three additional documents and critically reviewing them as instructed.	Graduate	POL 519
PA	520 Advocacy Strategies & Community Participation	This course will train students in strategies for involving citizens and consumers of social and human services in policy advocacy and community decision-making. The course will review theories and strategies for community organization, community development, community planning, and transformative social change with an emphasis on advocacy tools for constructive change to promote social and economic justice.	Graduate	-
PA	521 Utility Management	This course provides theory and application on the foundations of utility management in local government.	Graduate	-
PA	524 Federalism, Democracy and Decentralization	The aim of this course is to introduce students to the main theoretical debates and literatures that address the federalism in theory and in practice. It will pay close attention to the institutional arrangements that embody federalism, as well as the dynamics of intergovernmental relations within states. This course leaves aside normative approaches to federalism, coming from constitutional and legal studies, in order to deal mainly with how power and resources are shared (or contested) between national and subnational levels of government and their interplay. This course will place special emphasis on Latin America and the United States of America, although we will also look briefly at experiences with federalism elsewhere in the world.	Graduate	LAS 524

		This course will examine leadership and ethical questions encountered by managers and leaders in the management of nonprofit and government organizations. We will combine the study of leadership and ethical principles through the examination of case studies regarding problems in the management of nonprofit and government organizations.

PA	550 Statistics for Public and Nonprofit Administration	This course provides a graduate-level introduction to statistical and data analysis for public and nonprofit managers. The course emphasizes both the practical and theoretical aspects of statistical analysis as it relates to the administration of public and nonprofit organizations. The course covers basic statistical concepts such as descriptive statistics, probability theory, inference, sampling and distributions, hypothesis testing, and regression analysis. The overarching goal of the course is to provide students with a set of decision-making tools to use throughout their careers as public administrators and nonprofit managers.	Graduate	-
PA	551 Local Economic and Community Development	This course introduces the student to the process of local economic and community development. The focus of the course is on developing an understanding of the process for creating jobs, improving the standard of living and quality of life, and stimulating business investment within a region.	Graduate	-
PA	552 Statistical Decision Making	This course provides a graduate-level introduction in the application of statistical analysis to decision making in public and nonprofit organizations. The course emphasizes both the practical and theoretical aspects of statistical analysis, as well as instruction in the use of computer software (SPSS) for carrying out statistical analysis.	Graduate	-
PA	553 Policy Analysis I	This course begins with the theory of motivations for public policy including market failures, government failures, as well as distributional and other normative goals. The second half of the course will apply theory to real world policy issues. Students will also critically deconstruct and analyze a variety of policy analysis documents. Lastly, students will use economic models to quantitatively analyze policy.	Graduate	-

PA		554 Policy Analysis II	This course is the second semester of a year-long Quantitative Policy Analysis sequence. The course will focus on quantitative tools to empower students to assess the effectiveness and impact of policy. The second semester will build on the first course by introducing additional tools focusing on causal interpretation. Techniques include natural experiments, randomized control trials, and quasi-experimental methods (including difference-in-difference, regression discontinuity, panel data techniques). Similar to the first semester and in addition to our core content, each week students will read an article utilizing a quantitative policy analysis method to understand the approach and critique the model assumptions. Homework assignments will put theory into practice and teach students coding skills using STATA.	Graduate	-
PA		555 Statistics for Public Policy II	The course will focus on regression analysis as a quantitative tool to assess the effectiveness and impacts of policy. Topics will include Ordinary Least Squares, Hypothesis Testing, Logistic Regressions, Instrumental Variables, and Time Series Methods, as well as specification choice, regression diagnostics, and robustness testing. In addition to the core content, each week students will read an article utilizing a quantitative policy analysis method to understand the approach and critique the model assumptions. Homework assignments will put theory into practice and teach students coding skills using STATA.	Graduate	-
PA	561A	Climate, Policy, and Security	Global climate change is widely considered the greatest threat confronting societies and governments today. Over the last decade a consensus has developed among natural and physical scientists over the likely causes of global climate change. Businesses, governments, and citizens have begun to respond by developing a variety of strategies, policies, and institutional arrangements designed to reduce human contributions to climate change and promote adaptation to the environmental impacts that are beginning to emerge. These "policy" responses are truly diverse in form and scale, from voluntary carbon markets and business certification programs, to command and control type regulations, to international treaties.	Graduate	-
PA		562 The Political Economy of U.S. Immigration Policy	This course examines the economics and politics of U.S. immigration policy in the context of its history and of current global economic trends.	Graduate	-

PA	572 Digital Research in Politics and Policy	Quantitative methods in political science and policy research are changing rapidly. The rise of the internet has brought in new sources of text, network, geographical, image, video, and other data. Meanwhile, computing storage and processing capabilities continue to expand, while data and code sharing norms have made it so that anyone with a computer and internet connection can have access to a growing set of tools and methods for modeling and interpreting patterns. This course focuses on the extraordinary work that is emerging in politics and policy as a result of these recent advances, with a broad set of applications ranging from health and defense to environmental and agricultural policy. The course highlights current trends, challenges, and new directions for political and policy researchers in academia, government, and the private sector, focusing on how these new data sources and methodologies are being used to solve problems in social science and public policy.	Graduate	-
PA	579 Intelligence and U.S. National Security	This course provides an overview of the role of intelligence in the formulation and execution of US national security policy. It will include a detailed look at challenges facing both the analysis of intelligence information and the introduction of that analysis into the national security policy process, and will also entail close reading and discussion of selected declassified intelligence documents.	Graduate	POL 579

PA	583 History of US Intelligence: Organization and Policy	The course is intended to provide students with a framework for understanding how the United States came to have the intelligence system that it possesses today. After briefly developing a concept of the basic functions of intelligence (the organized collection and analysis of information and conduct of covert action that support the formulation and execution of US national security policy) the course will look at the evolution of US intelligence activity as it increasingly embodied those functions. The largely chronological approach will begin with early intelligence organization during the Revolutionary War, then proceed through halting developmental steps during the 19th and early 20th centuries. It will finally look at the major organizational expansion of intelligence activity from the 1940s onward. An overarching theme will be the linkage between the growth of intelligence organizations and the growing need for information by US policymakers increasingly involved in the international environment. Each class meeting will include lecture and discussion. Particularly in covering 20th century developments, the course will involve reading of declassified intelligence documents. Graduate-level requirement include more extensive reading and a more extensive paper. Some of the readings that are optional for the undergraduates will be required for the graduate students.	Graduate	-
PA	584 Environmental Management	This course is a survey of environmental management and economics to maximize social benefit. Covering pollution control, nonrenewable resource extraction, and natural resource management, we address both theory and policy in practice to determine when markets work, when they fail, and what policy can do to help. We also discuss the taxonomy of value and introduce stated- and revealed-preference valuation techniques. This course aims to empower students with a set of tools to rigorously evaluate a range of real-world issues at the human-environment nexus through the synthesis of science, economics, and policy. Basic math (graphing and algebra) will be used in this course, but all concepts will be reviewed during the first class. Students taking this course for graduate credit will complete all the required homework and exams with the undergraduates. In addition, they will also complete a 15-20 page research paper.	Graduate	-

PA		587 US National Security and the Use of Covert Action	This course is intended to familiarize students with the basic purposes and nature of US covert action and to help them understand its historical development. More fundamentally, the course will seek to illustrate both covert actions' potential utility and its inherent limitations and challenges; challenges that in some respects have intensified with the rise of non-state actors, the information revolution, and other aspects of the post-Cold War environment. Finally, the course will draw implications for the role of covert action against current national security challenges, especially global terror networks. Graduate-level requirements include a 15-page research paper examining a particular challenge facing covert action. In-class participation accounts for 15 percent of the grade. Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Graduate	-
PA		593 Internship		Graduate	-
PA		594 Capstone Project	The importance of having students fully prepared to apply their knowledge is critical to their future success. This project is designed to provide students with opportunities to apply the skills and knowledge they have acquired during their studies in the program. Students will be assigned to teams to work on projects that have been predetermined by the non-profit and government agencies. Projects will be developed jointly by the instructors and the non-profit and government agencies. The design of the projects will focus on them being successfully completed within one semester.	Graduate	-
PA	595G	Public Policy	The exchange of scholarly information and/or secondary research, usually in a small group setting. Instruction often includes lectures by several different persons. Research projects may or may not be required of course registrants.	Graduate	POL 595G
PA	597H	Public and Nonprofit Human Resources Management	This course is designed to provide an overview of the human resource issues that affect managers in public and nonprofit organizations. It will also address strategies volunteer leaders, managers and human resource professionals can use to manage their organizations within the constraints of state and federal laws.	Graduate	-

PA	597M	Public and Nonprofit Management Information Systems	This course introduces future public and nonprofit managers to the goals, tools, techniques, and critical considerations of managing organizations in the emerging digital era. Each week will cover a different aspect of information technology and leading a public or nonprofit organization. Students will engage with the material using a combination of books, online materials, class notes, reflections, and class discussions. In addition, students will gain hands on experience with a variety of technologies in the classroom and online. Lastly, construction of a team-based strategic plan for a public agency or nonprofit that utilizes information technologies for increased effectiveness, efficiency, and equity for the organization.	Graduate	-
PA	597W	Grantwriting	This course provides an understanding of the elements of program development, fundraising, non-profit management, funding research, proposal design, and the process involved in developing a successful funding proposal. The course covers resources for finding public and private funding sources for human service programs and agencies. Students will have the opportunity to design and evaluate proposals within a peer review process.	Graduate	-
PA		599 Independent Study	Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work. Graduate students doing independent work which cannot be classified as actual research will register for credit under course number 599, 699, or 799.	Graduate	-
PA	620A	Collaborative Governance in Theory, Practice and Research	The aim of this course is to provide students with a grounding in collaborative governance: the underlying theories that support it; how it is practiced in various policy arenas; and the recent findings from research to improve its use. Students will be asked to critique the use of collaborative governance in different case studies, apply principles of practice to simulated contexts, and develop alternative collaborative approaches to hypothetical or contemporary governance challenges.	Graduate	-
PA	622A	Institutional Design and Learning for Collaborative Governance	The aim of this course is to provide students with a more detailed examination of institutions in collaborative governance. Attention is devoted to the diversity of institutional structure and processes; key elements and features of institutional design; collaborative learning and innovation; and matters of performance and institutional design.	Graduate	-

POL	150A1	The Politics of Difference	This course examines the politics (understood broadly as differential access to material and symbolic resources) of difference (understood as institutionalized social hierarchies that oppress individuals.) We will focus on the hierarchies of ethnicity/race, class, gender and sexualities and how these interact to shape individual and collective experience.	Undergraduate	-
POL	150B1	Black and White: The Causes and Consequences	Race remains, as Thomas Jefferson feared and Alexis de Tocqueville predicted, the most incendiary and intractable issue in American politics. It was a divisive issue when the Constitution was drafted in 1787; it was the central issue in a series of compromises that ultimately failed to hold the nation together in 1860; it was the most visible issue in both the Civil War and the worst riots in the nation's history that followed in the present century. In his Second Inaugural speech on January 20, 1997, President Bill Clinton correctly described racism as America's "constant curse." The purpose of this course is to identify and explain why this is so.	Undergraduate	-

POL	150C1	Globalization and Global Governance	Globalization refers to rapidly increasing levels of political, economic and cultural interconnectedness among the world's separately constituted states, societies and economies. POL	396A	Foreign Affairs Professional Seminar	This seminar will introduce students majoring in international relations to relevant career paths in the governmental and private-sector fields. It will do this through a series of speakers, readings and class discussions, as well as relatively brief written assignments. The seminar will concentrate most heavily on US government careers, but it will also cover intergovernmental organizations, global corporations, and non-profit organizations having an international focus. It will encourage students to think critically about various international careers, including how those careers might fit with their skills, interests, and broader goals. The seminar will accordingly take a fairly practical approach, rather than one that is more theoretical or conceptual.	Undergraduate	-
POL	396H	Political Science Honors Special Topics Seminar	An Honors special topics seminar course for Honors Active Juniors and Seniors. Course includes small group discussion, research, and presentations on a variety of political science related special topics of interest. Current research, relevant issues, historical perspectives and guest speakers may be included. Honors sophomores may enroll with consent of the department.	Undergraduate	-

POL	401 The Politics and Governance of Water	Water is a necessary resource, but also a scarce one. It is this scarcity that produces the conditions for the emergence of conflict among potential users, hence requiring the creation of institutional structures that establish rules that seek to accomplish an efficient utilization of water. This class examines such structures in a variety of levels -state, federal, and international- and analyzes how they affect issues of quality and quantity of provision, ecological balance and biodiversity, and conflict and cooperation among users. In particular, we will focus mainly on the rules governing how water is used, the politics of water decision-making, and whether or not the rules are effective at providing adequate amounts of clean water for human consumption and ecosystem maintenance. POL	402 The Politics of International Development	This course will introduce students to the politics of international development, to include the varied historical processes of economic and political transformation that have produced so-called developed and developing countries, and the development industry, which is organized around promoting such economic and political transformation.	Undergraduate	-
POL	403 Political Networks	This course introduces political networks as a lens to better understand critical issues in political science, public management, public policy, and criminal justice. Political networks are a method to describe the complex relationships between political actors, whether the actors in question are lawmakers, interest groups, or even covert organizations that strive to disrupt political systems. This course will introduce students to major research questions in the study of political networks, as well as their applicability to understand and manage real-world problems. Students will gain the ability to work with network data and apply network theory to the analysis of critical societal issues.	Undergraduate	PA 403
POL	404 Experimental Political Science	This course is about understanding, initiating and analyzing political sciences based experimental research. It will require students to work independently and coordinate with groups to create and present experimental data and methodology.	Undergraduate	-
POL	407 Congress and American Politics	Examination of election politics, personalities, and career patterns of congressional members, the organization and structure of Congress, and the role of Congress in policy leadership and representation of the public.	Undergraduate	-

POL	408 Development of the American Presidency	This course will explore and explain the development of the institution of the American Presidency. Beginning with the Constitutional Convention through the two terms of President Obama, this course will look at all 43 presidents and how their time in office changed the function and powers of the office of President. Students will gain a deep understanding of the theories of presidential power and the realities of how the presidents have chosen to use those powers. Students will learn about public opinion, including how it is measured and what is its role in a democratic country. In addition, students will learn what leads people to hold specific opinions.	Undergraduate	-

POL	413 Human Security	Human security is an emerging paradigm that places individuals, rather than states, at the center of security considerations. This course is designed to provide a foundational understanding of the concept of human security, and the ways in which human security challenges have been addressed by the international community.	Undergraduate	-
POL	414 Diffusion and Contagion in World Politics	How can we best explain the emergence and spread of nonviolent protest and violent conflict across the Middle East and North Africa region during the so-called 'Arab Spring'? What mechanisms facilitated the diffusion of democratic norms, ideas, and institutions across eastern Europe and the former Soviet states in the wake of the decline of communism? How, after being so deeply entrenched in western practice, can we account for the sudden and comprehensive abolition of the atlantic slave trade in the nineteenth century? This course explores a set of opportunities for and significant threats to international security. We will explore the mechanisms via which norms and political opportunities and ideas spread globally. We also examine the potential for various forms of violence and instability to spread across national borders. Our focus will be placed upon combining solid logical frameworks with cutting-edge empirical evidence to identify the channels and mechanisms via which diffusion and contagion occur. Students will be introduced to up-to-date analyses of process of contagion and diffusion with a view towards them being able to offer educated forecasts as to where instability is most likely to strike in the future.	Undergraduate	-

POL	415 The Scientific Study of Civil Wars	What conditions are sufficiently 'dire or inspiring' to make someone take up arms and risk his (or her) life as part of a rebel group? By the end of this advanced undergraduate-level course, you will be able to answer this question just like the leading academic minds in the field of international relations. This class will provide you with extensive exposure to the quantitative study of civil wars around the world. We will start off by determining what constitutes a civil war and how this form of conflict is different from (or comprises) events such as international war, protests, riots, coups, genocide, and terrorism. We will then examine what factors that influence the onset, duration, termination, and recurrence of civil wars. Also, we will discuss some international dimensions of civil wars: the spread of conflicts across borders, refugee flows, and interventions.	Undergraduate	-
POL	416 US Policy on the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict	The class will teach concepts from political science around the domestic and foreign policy of managing political violence and conflict, through the lens of international relations and comparative politics. It will apply these concepts and terms to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, primarily the domestic US politics of the conflict, while also considering broader trends of US engagement with international, inter-state, and intra-state conflicts, and the US role within global politics.	Undergraduate	-
POL	417 Dictatorship: Could it Happen Here?	This course will examine the causes and consequences of dictatorships. It will then consider different types of dictatorship and the conditions under which they may be more durable. It will also discuss how dictatorships use repression, censorship and social media to maintain control and how dissidents fight back. In assessing these different factors, the course will then assess the conditions under which existing democracies like the United States might revert to dictatorship. In short, could it happen here?	Undergraduate	PA 417
POL	419 Terrorism and Counterterrorism	This course addresses the political causes and consequences of the use of terrorist violence as well as the variety of methods employed by the state in response to this violence.	Undergraduate	PA 419

Policy makers have long struggled to regulate intoxicating substances, including alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and opioids. While some of these substances are widely used for recreational or medicinal purposes, they can have significant deleterious effects on both the individual and societal levels. Furthermore, although evidence suggests that some policies to limit consumption of these substances may improve social welfare, other policies may unintentionally exacerbate societal inequality and cause further harms to public health and safety. In this course, we will analyze the various policy approaches that have been used to manage intoxicating substances, paying particular attention to the policy actors that have been involved, policy mechanisms that have been used, and the consequences of these responses. Simultaneously, we will explore the principles and analytic tools commonly employed during evidence-based policy making, and examine how they may be used to address regulation of intoxicating substances. While we will investigate efforts to regulate a variety of substances, we will pay particular attention to developments surrounding the legalization of marijuana.

POL	421 Cyber Crime, Surveillance, and Privacy	This is a one-semester undergraduate seminar on cybercrime, surveillance, and privacy. While the development of the internet and related technologies have fundamentally transformed society, not all of these changes have been positive. In addition to facilitating rapid economic and social exchange, the internet has also transformed traditional methods of engaging in and investigating criminal actions, and enabled entirely new categories of illicit activities. Careful regulation of the internet can maximize social benefits while disincentivizing harmful activity. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability to engage with decisionmakers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of cyber-related policy problems. The class will begin by exploring the engineering and infrastructure necessary to implement commonly-used consumer technologies such as telephones and the internet. We will then turn to the ways in which this technology can be used for harmful ends, including cyber crime, cyber terrorism, and cyber warfare. As the internet has also transformed the tools that can be used to counteract these harmful activities, we will then discuss electronic surveillance and the ways that electronic surveillance can challenge and complicate long-standing societal understandings of privacy. We will conclude with a series of case studies, where we will further investigate the topics learned in class by applying them to a series of contemporary policy issues.	Undergraduate	PA 421
POL	424 Politics in the Digital Age	The digital revolution is changing politics. From Barack Obama's use of the Internet to drive his presidential campaign, to the upheaval of the Arab Spring and the emergence of new social movements like #OccupyWallStreet, digital technology is challenging and changing established institutions on a number of fronts. This course introduces students to the history of the Internet and the emerging technologies that are defining the Digital Age. It places emphasis on the role of technology in politics and its implications for democracy and citizen rights. The course will cover a wide range of issues related to governance of the internet, privacy and security, the role of the media and open source development.	Undergraduate	-

POL		Elections and Voting Behavior	435	In a democracy, the public's role centers on elections. In this course we will examine four main topics. First, we will attempt to answer the question of 'Who Votes?' by examining patterns in political participation. Second, we will look at the choices of these voters in selecting between the Democratic and Republican candidates. Third, we will see how voting behavior varies across election settings: presidential elections, congressional elections, and primary elections. Finally, we will take an in-depth look at partisanship, the core attitude that influences participation and voters' choices, and how this attitude has changed over time.	Undergraduate	-
POL		Violent Crime and Political Order	436	Description and analysis of how and why people wield, and respond to, authority. Based on presumption that people's reactions to the public order are influenced by the private order-or disorder-of their minds and the way they learned to respond to the private authorities of their childhoods. POL	458 Global Administrative Law	Global administrative law is an emerging subfield at the forefront of international relations, public administration, and law. Prominent observers have identified phenomena of two types that have driven the development of the field. First, private actors around the world have pursued greater access to interact with public administrations at both the international and local levels, including across borders. In some cases, private actors have also begun to perform functions traditionally reserved for public entities. Second, international and local public administrations have begun to network, interfacing directly with one another, and bypassing the conventional channels of diplomatic relations. The study of global administrative law is, in a basic sense, the study of these phenomena.	Undergraduate	-

POL	459 German Politics	This course will introduce students to Germany's politics and society. Starting with a survey of modern German history from World War II until today, the course continues with a discussion of its political system and selected policies such as immigration and energy policy. Germany's post-war history, politics and policies are deeply interwoven with Europe. The increasingly prominent German role in the European Union and the world will also be analyzed. The class ends with a unit on Berlin, the artistic and multicultural capital of Europe. Students taking this class are expected to engage in class readings and discussions, develop and prepare their own research paper and present them to their peers. Prior knowledge of German is helpful but not a requirement.	Undergraduate	GER 459

POL	474 The Art of Diplomacy & Negotiation	Each day offers new challenges that require we possess necessary skills to understand and manage our surroundings. Negotiation skills, when used appropriately, are a powerful tool in one's toolbox. This course introduces hands-on skills, tools and techniques that are necessary in achieving successful outcomes in negotiations. The course combines theoretical knowledge of leading negotiation scholars as well as practical experience. The primary focus is on enhancing one's personal ability in dealing with conflict/disagreement. As a result, students will be engaged in games, group discussions and creative tasks, inside and outside the classroom.	Undergraduate	PA 474
POL	475 Religion and the Law	The evolving relationship between law and religion has had a profound influence on American political life and discourse since the country's founding. This course is designed to develop familiarity with that history and the resulting major tenets of the First Amendment's religion clauses. Taking as our starting point the concept of the separation of church and state, we examine what this idea has meant in U.S. Constitutional law. Class time will be structured around in-depth study of the Constitution and of Supreme Court precedents, and will integrate these formative Supreme Court decisions and decisions from state and lower federal courts into the social and historical contexts from which they derive meaning. In addition, the course will survey the scholarly treatment of such threshold questions as the meaning of "religion" in society, and will evaluate the evolving notion of religious liberty in a pluralistic society. We conclude with an examination of current legal debates and cases and of the prominent role of religious discourse about law, social change, politics and culture in today's society. POL		506 Bureaucracy, Politics, and Policy	Description and analysis of the executive branch of government: how federal agencies capture policy-making; why bureaucracy develops; the rules of bureaucratic culture; who controls the administrative branch. Graduate-level requirements include an additional research paper. Ultimately, all political phenomena, including issues related to international security, boil down to interactions between humans - usually, groups of humans. As such, people's lay theories and beliefs about how humans think and make decisions in groups significantly affect how they approach political issues, including those related to international security. Research on group psychology offers a means of informing, critically evaluating, and improving these lay theories and beliefs. Decades of research have been done in the fields of social and political psychology on how groups of people interact with one another, why interactions between and within groups often become hostile or counter-productive, and how interactions between and within groups can be adjusted in ways that encourage cooperation and peace. In this course, we will seek to understand, broadly: why do groups sometimes conflict and sometimes cooperate with one another? We will start by broadly reviewing what psychologists have discovered regarding inter- and intra-group behavior. Students will then learn about what small-scale laboratory research has told us about when and why conflict versus cooperation might result from group interactions. Next, we will spend considerable time examining how this research has been applied to understanding a range of international security issues, including war and peace, ethnic conflict, terrorism, genocide, international trade, foreign aid, immigration, and refugees. Assignments will require students to critically evaluate their own as well as others' understandings of how group psychology influences contemporary international security issues and come up with concrete, novel ways in which group psychology might inform efforts to handle international	Graduate	PA 506

POL	520A	How Terrorism Ends	This course is intended to be a survey of the political science literature's understandings about how terrorist campaigns come to a close. Prior to tackling questions of the end of terrorism head-on, we will first survey the literatures on definitions and theories of terrorism. Our survey of the various fates of terrorist groups and campaigns will explore (a) how governments use force to try to end terrorism, (b) occasions when governments and terrorist participate in negotiations to find a solution to their incompatibility, (c) outcomes in which groups achieve victory or are defeated, and (d) scenarios in which groups opt to reorient away from violence into other legal and illegal activities.	Graduate	-

POL	521A	Transnational Organized Crime and National Security	n U.S. policy and strategy documents, Transnational Organized Crime (TOC) has been identified as a threat to American national security. The growing consensus is that globalization with its associated revolutions in communications and transportation has greatly enhanced the capabilities and power of Transnational Criminal Organizations (TCOs). Understanding the diverse criminal groups, their methodologies, and their networks is the critical first step in developing effective policies to confront them.	Graduate	-
POL	523A	Immigration and Border Security	U.S. Immigration policy is vast and complex. Passed at the federal and state level and implemented at the local level, immigration policies have a myriad of consequences- intended and unintended. We will explore the various types of immigration policies, their goals, and consequences with an eye toward evaluating their efficacy. In particular, we will consider immigration policy from the perspective of border flows- who and what flow across our borders and the ability of the U.S. government to control those flows. We will also consider the historical and political context underpinning immigration policy today as well as explore the feasibility and need for reforms in the future. Together we will question the validity and necessity of national borders while weighing security, humanitarianism, geopolitical relations, terrorism, race, and capitalism, and freedom.	Graduate	-

POL	546A	Politics of Islamism	Political Islamism has been a focus of policy makers in the post-9/11 era. However, before concrete strategies can be formulated to deal with this concern, the nature and dynamics of Islamist mobilization itself must be understood. To do that, this course will benefit from the knowledge generated through years of study in different parts of the world and in various disciplines in identifying: What is it? What causes it? What motivates an individual to join an Islamist group and possibly use violence? Under what conditions will these groups moderate, and when will they radicalize? Overall this course is designed as a resource for students of political science and international security studies as well as broad audiences in the social sciences seeking to understand the emergence, evolution, and possible futures of what commonly called political Islam.	Graduate	-
POL	547A	Crime & Violence in Latin America	Latin America is a region that faces multiple political, social, and economic challenges. Some of these are cross-cutting, including the very real problems of crime and violence. In Latin America, crime and violence are common occurrences. They have multiple sources and have wide ranging impact. We will consider the causes of crime and violence, as perpetrated by state and non-state actors, as well as violence toward particular groups. We will also examine how countries address crime and violence and the extent to which reform is possible.	Graduate	-
POL	548A	Politics and Security in Central Asia	The region of Central Asia has emerged from obscurity in recent decades to become a key front in the war against international terrorism and radical Islam. This course explores the political and cultural history of Central Asia, as well as religious and social issues that impact the region's governmental structures, foreign relations, and security. We will explore the impact of Russian conquest and Soviet domination of Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, Kyrgyzstan, and Tajikistan before moving on to an analysis of contemporary issues in government and politics in the region. Emphasis will be on the authoritarian regime variations, rise of Islamism, great power politics, economic and social development, and energy geopolitics.	Graduate	-

POL	550A	Research Design in the Social Sciences	The aim of this course is to establish the necessary skills for the evaluation and execution of social science research. The scientific method provides a framework for building knowledge, but the application of the scientific method to the study of social phenomena poses several serious challenges. In this course, we will introduce the fundamentals of sound social scientific research design.	Graduate	-
POL		551 Russian Foreign and Security Policy	Russian foreign policy and the political processes by which that policy is developed and implemented. Passing attention is given to the Soviet past which structures post-1991 Russian behavior. Our approach is social scientific as we attempt to identify tendencies in Russian foreign policy behavior and to explain goals and strategies. Attention is given to policies, the decision-making process, and the political elite who craft policy. Elements of continuity and change in Russian foreign and security policy (Soviet and post-Soviet) are highlighted.	Graduate	-
POL	553A	Media and International Affairs	The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the mass media, and the role the mass media plays in American democracy. In this course, we will consider several key questions pertaining to the role of the media in democracy, such as: What effects do mass mediated messages have on voters? Do voters passively accept information found in the media, or do voters actively challenge this information? How do journalists and political elites interact? Finally, we will elaborate on the normative question of what role the mass media should play in democracy.	Graduate	-
POL	554A	Constitutional Law and American Foreign Policy	The US Constitution structures and defines the powers of the United States. However, constitutions, almost by definition, do not always provide the details for how the various powers that are created are to be used in practice. At various junctures in American history, responses to security threats, both traditional and non-traditional, have created constitutional dilemmas for the US Government. In this course, we will explore how the US Supreme Court has attempted to resolve the constitutional conflicts over how foreign affairs are conducted by the United States. We will examine the justifications for the specific constitutional powers of both the legislative and executive branches and the potential sources of conflict that these powers create. Finally, we also explore the ways in which the presence of armed conflict or security crises shape constitutional law within the United States.	Graduate	-

POL	555	American Foreign Policy	Analysis of the Cold War; Congressional-Executive clashes over foreign policy control; approaches to policy analysis. Graduate-level requirements include additional assignment/paper.	Graduate	-
			Countries such as the US, China, and Russia that once were separated by great distances are now connected by cyber at the speed of light. This change requires us to rethink what we know about security, international relations, and war. To complicate matters, the Internet has instantiated differently in different States due to bureaucratic, political, cultural, and economic factors and has shaped each State in different ways. Understanding these cyber-differences is critical for understanding the role of networks in Security for each State and the role of "attribution", "retaliation", and "deterrence" in State-relations. This course provides students with qualitative data and models for understanding and being able to articulate the relevance of cyber to their studies, career, and world. The course is divided into four sections: - An introduction to the course: "US leadership in Cyberwar". - Cyber competition between US and Russia - US-China cyber-relations - Cyber-deterrence Though we are focusing on cyber and the Superpowers (US, China, and Russia), the lessons drawn can be applied to all states and to some degree to non-state actors such as terrorist groups. POL	556A	Issues in Cybersecurity and Cyberwar
			This course provides an introduction to the politics of cybersecurity in the U.S. as well as the European Union (EU). Starting with a discussion of key concepts of cybersecurity, the class continues to analyze how U.S. and EU cybersecurity policy making differ. Recently, both the U.S. and EU passed new cybersecurity legislation laying different emphasis on privacy protection, crime prevention and the involvement of tech businesses in the policy process through public private partnerships. Why are the U.S. and Europe applying different approaches to cybersecurity policy? The goal of the course is to answer this question by comparing the institutions, actors and process of cybersecurity policy making in the U.S. and the EU. While both follow different approaches to cybersecurity policy as such, they agree on the need of enhanced international cooperation on the issue. The course ends with a unit on the current state of cybersecurity cooperation across the Atlantic and the implications of the politics of cybersecurity on the future of transatlantic relationship. POL	558A	Politics in the Digital Age	The digital revolution is changing politics. From Barack Obama's use of the Internet to drive his presidential campaign, to the upheaval of the Arab Spring and the emergence of new social movements like #OccupyWallStreet, digital technology is challenging and changing established institutions on a number of fronts. This course introduces students to the history of the Internet and the emerging technologies that are defining the Digital Age. It places emphasis on the role of technology in politics and its implications for democracy and citizen rights. The course will cover a wide range of issues related to governance of the internet, privacy and security, the role of the media and open source development.	Graduate	-
POL	559A	Democracy Promotion Policy in the MENA Region	This course provides an introduction to the democracy promotion policy in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) as developed by the US and European Union (EU). The course starts with discussing the key concepts of democracy promotion and continues by analyzing how these influenced democracy promotion efforts from the US as well as the EU. Both global powers have been engaged in promoting democracy throughout the MENA region with various degrees of success and often in contradicting terms.	Graduate	-
POL	562A	Natural Resources and International Security in Latin America	This course will discuss how the management of other natural resources in Latin America affect or are likely to affect international security in the forthcoming decades. Latin America is a large geographical area well-endowed with natural resources that are usually poorly regulated, which results in high levels of domestic and international conflict among myriad actors, both governmental and non-governmental.	Graduate	-
POL	563A	Gender and International Security	This course will chart the progress of the recognition that gender is an important part of any discourse about security. One focus of the course is on the U.N. Tribunals on the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda, on the development of the gender perspective written into the charter of the International Criminal Court, and the subsequent U.N. resolutions around gender and security. The second focus is on the effect of gender equality on human security, economic prosperity, and national stability.	Graduate	-
POL		564 International Relations of East Asia	This course considers the national interests, issues and conflicts, relations, and influence of domestic politics in interstate relations in East Asia	Graduate	-

POL	565A	International Politics of the Middle East	This course is designed to introduce you to the international politics of the Middle East and therefore, provides a general overview of some of the main issues of contemporary Middle Eastern politics. As a result, we will examine the interplay of numerous factors that help us to better understand and to critically analyze the politics of the Middle East. These factors include the impact of colonialism, nationalism and nation-state formation, regional crises, the Arab-Israeli conflict, political economy, and the influence of superpowers in the region.	Graduate	-
POL	567A	Emerging Powers in the Global System	The purpose of this course is to analyze critically the emergence of China and India as state powers in the global system and the implications of this evolution for the United States and Europe, including countries in and neighboring the European Union (EU).	Graduate	-
POL	569A	Armed Conflict	This course is designed to give you an overview of armed conflict in its many forms, with a focus on interstate and intrastate war. The course will begin by considering the concept of armed conflict and its many forms, and the empirical trends in armed conflict across time and space. Theoretical and empirical work will then be drawn upon to address the question of why armed conflict occurs and what explains the onset of war, as well as what explains the conduct of opposition forces during war along with war's severity, duration and conclusion.	Graduate	-
POL	578A	Geospatial Intelligence	Geospatial Intelligence (GEOINT) is a specialized field of practice within the broader domain of intelligence. The discipline encompasses all activities involved in the collection, use and dissemination of geographically referenced information (imagery, imagery intelligence and geospatial information) using technical capabilities that include remote sensing, GIS, data management, and data visualization. GEOINT processes and capabilities are designed to gain intelligence about the national security or an operational environment, visually depict this knowledge, combine the knowledge with other information sources, and present knowledge in a way that is appropriate to the decision-making environment. GEOINT supports key mission areas related to the national security of the U.S. including informing policymakers; supporting military, intelligence, and homeland security operations, and facilitating intelligence collaboration. While the GEOINT discipline is secretive in operations, this course presents publicly available unclassified information to describe its use, benefits and governance.	Graduate	-

POL	579	Intelligence and U.S. National Security	This course provides an overview of the role of intelligence in the formulation and execution of US national security policy. It will include a detailed look at challenges facing both the analysis of intelligence information and the introduction of that analysis into the national security policy process, and will also entail close reading and discussion of selected declassified intelligence documents.	Graduate	PA 579
POL	580A	National and Civil Security Mexico	Mexico and the United States have always shared a complex relationship. The current one is full of hope for expanding economic opportunity and plagued by fears driven by internal violence. Mexico is the third largest trading partner with the US with nearly 270 billion in trade in 2014; that amounts to a million dollars crossing the border every minute. Conversely, the fight against organized crime has claimed more than 60,000 lives since 2006 and there are nearly 25,000 people reported as disappeared. 2015 also marked a historic change in international engagement, with President Enrique Pena Nieto announcing a new peace keeping mission for the Mexican armed forces. Understanding the unique Mexican security situation and the Mexican perspective of security policy is critical for academics and policymakers that deal with this complex US-Mexican relationship. The course will include lecturers from the Mexican academic community and Mexican security forces.	Graduate	-

POL	581A	Domestic Politics and U.S. Foreign Policy	Domestic politics and foreign policy were once considered to be separate entities, such as in the old fashioned statement that governments could afford either "guns or butter." A more contemporary account notes that various ways that domestic politics and foreign policy are intertwined. Domestic politics shapes the foreign policy decisions of a country and foreign policy often impinges on domestic politics. Topics covered in this class will include the role of the president, Congress, the bureaucracy and the courts in determining foreign policy. Conflicts and cooperation between these government entities will be highlighted. How public opinion and interest groups influence foreign policy also will be covered. Finally, the efforts of foreign policy decisions on domestic politics will be considered. Upon completion of this course, students will have a fuller understanding of how domestic politics and foreign policy are intertwined.	Graduate	-
POL	582A	International Law and Organization	This course focuses on the role international organizations (IOs) play in contemporary global politics. IOs have become an increasingly common feature of the political landscape. Institutions shape state behavior in areas such as trade, security, the environment, and human rights. The course provides background on the historical development of major multilateral IOs. We pay special attention to how institutions are designed. We then assess each organization's performance record. Specific questions include: Does UN peacekeeping promote post-war stability? Is the ICC an effective tool for protecting human rights? How do the IMF and World Bank approach global development? To answer these questions, we consider internal policy reports, outside commentary, instructional videos, podcasts, and academic analyses.	Graduate	-

POL	583A	Global Health Security	The evolution of infectious diseases into a global security threat isn't particularly novel but became official when the United Nations recognized HIV/AIDS as a security threat. As the world becomes more interconnected and humans encroach on natural habits, emerging infectious diseases, like COVID-19 and Ebola, have underscored the ability for diseases to severely impact critical infrastructure. Since the realization that infectious diseases pose unique threats to the stability of nation states, the notion of global health security was development as an approach to understanding and studying these unique vulnerabilities. Biodefense, biopreparedness, and biothreats are all increasingly used terminologies and studies that play into the security dynamics of infectious diseases. We will examine the concepts of global health security, as well as the spectrum of threats, which include natural, accidental, and intentional biological events.	Graduate	-
POL	588A	The Politics of Energy Security	This course will focus on energy policy and energy security understood in the context of global and Eurasian politics and international relations. The course offers different perceptions of energy security in importing and exporting nations, and aims at identifying contemporary developments in providing energy security on global, regional and national levels.	Graduate	-
POL	589A	Arming the State: The Global Arms Trade	This class will examine the international arms trade from several perspectives and at different levels of analysis. The purpose of the course is to acquaint students with the literature, questions, and debates about the role that military equipment and technology plays in international relations.	Graduate	-
POL		593 Internship	Specialized work on an individual basis, consisting of training and practice in actual service in a technical, business, or governmental establishment.	Graduate	-

POL		600 Theories of Public Policy Making Processes	This is a survey course devoted to an in-depth examination of theories of policy making processes. Harold Lasswell, one of the early scholars in the field, defined policy sciences as "knowledge in and of the policy process". In focusing on the formation and execution of policy, we will examine the major research programs and approaches for studying and explaining policy making processes. Upon completing the course students should possess a working knowledge of the frameworks and theories of policy making processes, the major questions raised within the field, methods used to address the questions, and the major shortcomings of the field.	Graduate	-
POL		601 Public Management	The purpose of this seminar is to provide doctoral students with an in-depth examination of the unique problems, theories, and literature that constitute the academic field of public management. This course focuses on internal organizational issues as well as external relations between organizations. While there are many generic managerial principles in common across the sectors, an important goal of the seminar is to highlight the distinctions between private and public management. Moreover the course illustrates examples of successful leadership and motivational strategies within organizations, while also reviewing past and ongoing efforts to reform public management at all levels.	Graduate	-

POL	The History of Organizational Thought from the 602 Perspective of Public and Nonprofit Organizations	This course is a doctoral level class on the history of organizational thought from the perspective of public and nonprofit organizations, primarily in the United States. It begins in the 19th century and goes through the 1960s. The main objective of the course is to provide students with a solid foundation in the classic works in the field.	Graduate	-
POL	606 Federalism in Comparative Perspective	This class engages in comparative institutional analysis of federal systems. This involves careful consideration of the design of institutional arrangements and how such arrangements animate actors to pursue variety of values and interests, and in turn how actors choose to engage in institutional revision, and how culture informs these actions.	Graduate	-
POL	Theory and Methods for the Analysis of Political 610 Networks	This course introduces theories and methods used for the analysis of political networks. Political networks describe how political actors - such as participants of the policy process - form and maintain relationships, and the analysis of political networks can help us to understand how these relationships influence political or policy outcomes. Network concepts are increasingly prevalent across a wide range of social science disciplines, and are often used as a tool to study complex phenomenon such as cooperation, diffusion of innovation, and social capital. This course will introduce students to major research questions in the study of networks, as well as their applicability to understand real-world problems in public policy and political science. Students will learn, through hands-on training in R, how to manage network data and perform essential descriptive and inferential analyses on these data.	Graduate	-
POL	612 Policy and Politics of Energy	This is a survey course devoted to an in-depth examination of energy policy: the environmental, social, and political forces that shape energy policy; energy policy politics, design, and implementation; and the policies and politics of energy transitions that are currently underway globally and in the U.S. to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Our focus will include not only what we know about energy and energy policy, but also on how scholars from different social science disciplines use theory and empirical methods to accumulate knowledge about energy policy. During the course students will design a research project to answer an important and open question related to energy use or energy policy. Upon completion of the course students should be able to develop and execute scholarly research on energy policy and be familiar with the potential audiences and publishers for their work.	Graduate	-

POL	614 Technology Policy	This is a one-semester Ph.D. seminar on technology policy. Technology can and has fundamentally transform people, societies, economies, and environments. Careful regulation and management of technology can encourage changes that improve social welfare and minimize unintended consequences. However, identifying, implementing, and evaluating these regulations requires a combination of technology and policy expertise, as well as the ability engage with decision makers in both the public and private sector. In this course, we will both explore the tools used to conduct policy analysis and apply those tools to a wide variety of technology-related policy problems. The first half of the course will delve into the mechanisms used to analyze policy problems and identify potential solutions, with special attention paid to those mechanisms that frequently appear in the technology policy context. Wherever possible, these mechanisms will be illustrated with examples from technology policy. The second half of the course will be comprised of a series of case studies, using the tools learned in the first half of the course to comprehensively analyze a series of technology policy questions. These case studies will include examples related to surveillance and privacy, cyber warfare, algorithmic fairness, bioethics, and space policy.	Graduate	-
POL	620 Introduction to American Politics	The purpose of this course is to introduce students to historical and contemporary perspectives in American Politics. As a subfield, American Politics scholars rely on a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches. Though many of the readings will be drawn from the top 3 journals in our field, the APSR, AJPS, and JOP, you will find that the literature spans several disciplines (economics, psychology, and sociology, to name a few). This course serves as a foundation for the study of American Politics, especially as it pertains to mass political behavior and how elites function within the three branches of government. As such, we will focus on a variety of topics important in political science, such as racial politics, economic decision-making, political campaigns, ideology, congress, the presidency, and judicial politics.	Graduate	-

POL	622 Political Institutions: Courts, Legislatures, Executives	In this course, we will explore political institutions. The purpose of the course is to develop a deeper understanding of the ways institutions constrain and enable political actors. This involves an examination of behavior both within institutions and across institutions. While many of our topics will focus on examples from American politics, we will see that most of the course material will be generalizable. In fact, a fundamental point of the course is that the study of political institutions cannot be limited to a particular subfield within the discipline.	Graduate	-
POL	625 Political Psychology	This course is intended to introduce students to political psychology. Political psychology - because of its interdisciplinary nature - accompanies a great deal of methodological and theoretical diversity. The field is theoretically diverse, by drawing heavily from cognitive psychology, social psychology, political science, and communication. The field is also methodologically quite diverse, perhaps more so than many subfields in political science. Some of the most influential pieces have employed qualitative techniques; others have used surveys, experiments, content analysis, and supervised and unsupervised text analysis.	Graduate	-
POL	626 Political Decision Making	Why do voters, candidates, and policy-makers make the decisions they do? In this course, we will review contemporary and classic research on the factors that influence political decision-making. We will look at decision-making among both the mass public and political elites, relying primarily on literature from behavioral economics, political psychology, and theories of rationality.	Graduate	-
POL	627 Ideology in Politics	The purpose of this course is to introduce students to historical and contemporary perspectives in the study of ideology. Ideology is a contested term, with some viewing it as a belief structure, others a worldview, and yet others a symbolic group label. This class will explore these definitions, and will examine how political ideologies are sustained and emerge in democratic systems. Many of the readings will be drawn from the "top 3" journals in our field - the APSR, AJPS, and JOP - you will find that the literature spans several disciplines(economics, psychology, and sociology to name a few). This course is inherently interdisciplinary and we shall focus on a variety of topics central to the study of ideology, such as racial politics, economic decision-making, political campaigns, and ideology in political institutions.	Graduate	-

POL	628 Latino Politics and Race and Ethnicity in the United States	This class will examine the history and contemporary role of racial and ethnic minority groups in the U.S. political system with particular regard to Latinos. We will focus on political relationships between Latinos and government as they relate to identity formation, political participation, party affiliation, coalitions, public opinion, and policy.	Graduate	-
POL	630 Gender and Politics	This is a graduate level class exploring the social science research on gender and politics. The two main topics in the class are how gender influences public opinion and how women perform as candidates and elected officials.	Graduate	-
POL	640 Introduction to Comparative Politics	Overview of analytical issues, analytical tools, and research findings in comparative politics. Attention to various political systems and national settings. Intensive in-class discussions with research prospectus and comprehensive exam.	Graduate	-
POL	650 Comparative Political Institutions	This course is designed to introduce students to institutional analysis of different national-level political systems. It first discusses what qualifies as an institution and arguments for how they might influence political outcomes -- if at all. We then look at the different institutional frameworks, ranging from the structure of government to the design of micro-level institutions within legislatures, bureaucracies, and elections. The course also devotes attention to whether institutions matter across regime types. Do they matter, for instance, in countries where the rule of law is weak?	Graduate	-
POL	651 Authoritarian Regimes	This course is designed to explore the normative and practical issues surrounding authoritarian rule. The focus of the course will be on differentiating authoritarian regimes from democracies; differentiating authoritarian regimes from themselves; and measuring the impact of authoritarian rule on economic development, rule of law, investment, and regime durability.	Graduate	-
POL	652 Democratization	Why do countries choose to democratize? Who are the actors who foster this choice? In general, what factors impede and promote a transition to democracy? In this course, students will read multiple texts that consider these questions. They will critically engage with each to develop their own understanding of what has historically driven democratization processes around the world, beginning in its earliest expressions to the present-day.	Graduate	-

POL	653 Comparative Political Economy	In this course, we explore the origins and development of the welfare state - social policy and programs - across different regions of the world. The bulk of the course is devoted to reviewing theories on how the social welfare emerged in advanced industrialized states and how this system of policies and regulations will cope with pressures coming from aging societies, post-industrial economies, and shrinking financial resources. The final part of the course looks at social policy programs in other parts of the world and examines theories accounting for the existence of 'non-traditional' social welfare state institutions in Latin America and Africa. Students are expected to write a paper on an aspect of the social welfare state in a particular country, cluster of countries, or region.	Graduate	-
POL	660 Introduction to International Relations	This course acts as the core class in international relations. This course is intended for Ph.D students in political science and is aimed at providing an overview of major theories of international relations and exposing students to contemporary research in the field. In this class, you will learn to understand and evaluate academic literature in international relations as well as become familiar with major themes in international relations research. This course aims to present some of the major theoretical approaches to the study of international and civil conflict. It examines theories that explain the causes, dynamics, and consequences of conflicts.	Graduate	-
POL	663 Scientific Study of Conflict	This class will provide students with extensive exposure to the quantitative study of civil wars around the world. This involves examining what factors influence the onset, duration, termination, and recurrence of civil wars. The remainder of the course will involve in-depth discussions of materials on topics like natural resources, regime type, international dynamics, and how they relate to civil wars.	Graduate	-
POL	664 The Scientific Study of Civil Wars	Nonviolent civil resistance is the application of unarmed civilian power to achieve a political goal, without using or threatening physical harm against the opponent. This course will examine major areas of research on nonviolent civil resistance campaigns as well as political protest and other acts of collective resistance, to understand their causes, dynamics, outcomes, and consequences. The seminar will stress the derivation of theoretically informed hypotheses and the use of empirical data to test them.	Graduate	-

POL	667 The Scientific Study of Human Rights and Repression	This course provides a survey of quantitative research on human rights and repression around the world. We will examine what factors influence the occurrence and degree of government-perpetrated repression in its various forms, and the effectiveness of tactics civilians use to counter human rights violations. We will also consider the role of the international community on influencing domestic processes of human rights protection via the diffusion of norms and the threatened or actual use of intervention strategies by third parties.	Graduate	-
POL	668 Conflict Management	This course aims to present some of the major theoretical approaches to conflict management. We will focus on the various strategies of conflict management ranging from direct negotiations, to the role of third parties such as mediation and peacekeeping, as well as transitional justice. The focus will be on scholarly literatures within the behavioral research community as well as the classical approaches.	Graduate	-
POL	669 Violence	Micro-dynamics of Political and Organized Criminal This course aims at exposing graduate students to the state-of-the-art research on political and organized criminal violence. To do so, the course has a deliberate interdisciplinary approach integrating scholarship on conflict, economics, geography, political psychology, and criminology to disentangle the micro-dynamics of political violence and organized crime. The micro-dynamic approach of this course will largely depart from country-year unit of analysis and dive into the subnational or individual level of analysis. At the course, we will engage in a collective intellectual endeavor to analyze each assigned reading in depth. The discussions will pay particular attention on the theoretical and conceptual contributions and debates, as well as on the empirical innovations and identification strategies in the field. These discussions will help graduate students to identify gaps in the literature as well as emerging niches that might motivate their own research agenda.	Graduate	-
POL	670 Global and Regional Governance in International Politics	There is substantial controversy over what "governance" entails and just as salient, whether governance is truly global or partly global and supplanted by regional governance. The purpose of this class is to explore the extent to which governance is primarily regional in scope for most states in international politics, and to explore those implications for regional cooperation and conflict. The explicit focus is on a comparative analysis of regional governance in the context of the global.	Graduate	-

POL	671 Global Political Economy	This course will survey the contingent development of the 'world economy' and how that history continues to shape state-market-household linkages and contemporary problems of inequality, conflict and governance. Drawing on a range of theoretical perspectives, the class examines key structural features of today's global political economy and encourages critical, self-reflective analyses to more adequately understand and potentially address deepening of inequalities between and within nation-states, the destructive effects of recurring financial crises, and the global insecurities these entail.	Graduate	-
POL	680 Research Design	In this course, we explore the fundamentals of academic research: how to situate your own interests in literature, how to frame your research questions, how to overcome the obstacles that will inevitably arise in your qualitative and quantitative research designs, and strategies for how you will ultimately execute your own research. Because no single approach to a research question is ideal, we will learn about the trade-offs involved in selecting one design over another.	Graduate	-
POL	681 Quantitative Methodology I	This course provides an introduction to the theory and practice of quantitative data analysis techniques. The purpose of this course is to establish the basic tools necessary to conduct and consume quantitative political science research. More advanced techniques cannot be mastered without a complete understanding of the material in this course.	Graduate	-
POL	682 Quantitative Methodology II	This course provides an introduction to basic regression techniques. The class builds upon POL681 by reinforcing knowledge regarding linear regression and the Gauss-Markov assumptions underlying the classical linear model.	Graduate	-
POL	683 Quantitative Methodology III	Regression Analysis for Categorical and Limited Dependent Variables. The purpose of this course is to introduce students to advanced regression techniques. Students in this course should be familiar with linear regression, as well as the Gauss-Markov assumptions underlying the classical linear model. In this course, we will consider a variety of regression techniques for categorical and limited data.	Graduate	-

POL	684 Causal Inference	This course addresses causal inference in quantitative analysis of public policy and program evaluation. We begin with a review of key questions in regression analysis as well as the problem of selection bias in evaluating treatment effects in the real world versus an ideal experiment. We then turn to randomization as a potential solution but address difficulties in theory and practice. Thus, we spend the bulk of the semester focusing on quasi-experimental techniques - such as regression discontinuity, difference-in-difference, matching, and IV - that allow researchers to exploit instances of natural experiments to (arguably) identify a causal relationship, paying special attention to key testable and untestable assumptions that may underlie each technique. Students will learn the theory behind the techniques, apply techniques to real-world policy data, and critically read cutting-edge policy studies that utilize the methods across a wide range of real-world topics including health insurance, education, environment, housing, and crime.	Graduate	-
POL	685 Panel Data Analysis	Political Scientists across sub-fields require understanding, analyzing and explaining the behavior of several units of analysis over time. These could be individuals, countries, municipalities, institutions, groups, firms, etc. that display different behavioral trends over time and across space. This course offers graduate students the opportunity to develop methodological skills for understanding and performing quantitative analyses of time series cross-sectional data, also known as panel data. The topics covered in this course include the specification, estimation, evaluation, and inference of fixed and random effects models for continuous, categorical, and count data in time series cross-sectional studies. The basic model specification will be extended to more advanced methods such as Arellano-Bond estimator, instrumental variables, and spatial econometric models for panel data.	Graduate	-
POL	686 Qualitative and Mixed Methods Research	This class introduces graduate students to the systematic conduct of research based on the study of a relatively small number of cases. It exposes them to multiple qualitative data collection methods and analytical techniques. It also provides students with the tools to fruitfully integrate multiple methods into their research.	Graduate	-

POL		687 Experimental Design	In this course, you will learn how to design, implement, and analyze experiments in political science. The course is loosely organized into three sections. We will start by considering experimental design discussing the key virtues of experimental research and then how to best achieve strong experiments in practice. The second unit focuses on the varieties of experiments common to political science including laboratory experiments, natural experiments, field experiments, and survey experiments. We will consider the characteristics of each, and along the way, address some of the challenges associated with the implementation of experiments, such as attrition, effective randomization, and spillover effects. The third section is devoted to the empirical analysis of experimental results. We will cover the analytical tools common to experimental research and address issues of mediation as well as heterogeneous treatment effects. Throughout the semester, each student will design an experiment related to your own particular substantive interests. We will use parts of each class session to give each other feedback on how to improve that design (against the backdrop of the particular topic we are covering).	Graduate	-
POL		688 Digital Traces in Political and Social Research	When people use the internet, they leave behind traces of their political behaviors and social interactions across space and time. While these digital traces are typically created and collected by businesses and governments for their own internal purposes, they are often available to researchers either incidentally or explicitly on behalf of these organizations. Digital trace data have the potential to broaden the scope and scale of political and social research, but require knowledge of computational tools and methods that are typically not taught to social scientists. Moreover, digital trace data present new legal and ethical considerations, since they often contain sensitive, individual-level information. Digital trace data also present conceptual challenges, some which are not new to political and social scientists, like representativeness, and others that are unique to the web, including algorithmic confounding. Capstone project, in which students develop a portfolio that overviews their academic work in the context of their professional goals. This should be taken as the final course of the ISS M.A. degree.	Graduate	-
POL	695A	Colloquium Final Project for ISS		Graduate	-

POL		697 SGPP Methods Workshop	The purpose of the methods workshop is to supplement our PhD methods courses by providing additional methods training to our PhD students. This course will present students with information and techniques to collect and sort data for research purposes.	Graduate	-
POL	697A	Professional Norms & Teaching	This workshop is designed as an introduction to and initial exploration of the many issues that academics face in graduate school and the profession. We place close attention upon issues related to entering academia and teaching and the classroom experience. The purpose of the course is to help you understand what you need to do to succeed in the academic world. To that end, we will discuss a variety of important topics and issues that arise in the profession and consider concrete strategies for dealing with them.	Graduate	-
POL	697B	Professional Norms and Research	This workshop is designed for PhD students in their third semester as an introduction to norms and expectations regarding student research in the discipline. We place close attention to issues related to the development of an independent research plan, with specific focus upon the second year project.	Graduate	-
POL	697C	Professional Norms and the Job Market	This course is designed for students in their fourth year who are soon to enter the job market. It will provide an introduction to what to expect on the market as well as an opportunity to draft important materials to be included in job applications.	Graduate	-
POL	697D	Second Year Research Project	This course is the third of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to guide and inspire students as they refine their second-year papers and prepare their project presentations, which will be delivered to members of the School later in the spring semester. This course builds on themes from past professional development workshops as well as POL 680, in a more applied manner as students finalize their work on a specific project and learn how to receive and engage with feedback in a constructive manner.	Graduate	-

POL	697E	Preparing the Prospectus	This course is the fourth of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to guide and inspire third-year students as they begin to develop ideas for their dissertation project, specifically through the process of preparing the prospectus document. We will work through strategies to identify potential motivating questions based on broader research agendas/interests, identify key components of the prospectus document, and discuss how to support dissertation research by building useful committees and pursuing grants and fellowships.	Graduate	-
POL	697F	Engaging Beyond Academia	This course is the final of six required professional development workshops in the Ph.D. program in Government and Public Policy. It is designed to prepare fourth-year students to discuss their research and general skill sets with audiences beyond academic circles. We will examine and engage in activities like writing op-eds or blog posts as well as other public-facing methods for sharing research, developing policy-relevant research questions, incorporating public engagement into our classrooms, and pursuing employment outside academia.	Graduate	-
POL	697M	Systematic Analysis of Political, Military & Intelligence Problems	Directed and independent academic research designed to supplement training in the Military Intelligence Captains Career Course (MICCC) at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. Qualified students working on an individual basis with professors who have agreed to supervise such work. Graduate students doing independent work which cannot be classified as actual research will register for credit under course number 599, 699, or 799.	Graduate	-
POL		699 Independent Study		Graduate	-
POL		794 Information Research Strategies	The course is designed to provide a foundation for graduate level research design course. The 45-hour module, consisting of tutorials, readings, assignments, and quizzes, addresses topics such as literature reviews, managing citations, information access policies, thesis titles, and copyright basics. This online course is specially geared to International Security Study students.	Graduate	-
POL		900 Research	Individual research, not related to thesis or dissertation preparation, by graduate students.	Graduate	-
POL		910 Thesis	Research for the master's thesis (whether library research, laboratory or field observation or research, artistic creation, or thesis writing). Maximum total credit permitted varies with the major department.	Graduate	-
POL		920 Dissertation	Research for the doctoral dissertation (whether library research, laboratory or field observation or research, artistic creation, or dissertation writing).	Graduate	-

SGPP	300A	Politics, Policy and Governance: The U.S. and the World	SGPP 300A, "United States" covers substantive areas that comprise the fields of American politics, public administration and policy. Topics include public policy and government, political institutions, and electoral policies. Attention to issues of common pool resource consumption, equality, fairness and hypocrisy as relevant to public policy and governance, especially in the U.S. setting.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	300B	Politics, Policy, and Governance: The U.S. and the World (Part B)	Covering the areas of comparative politics and international relations, addresses important substantive areas such as international and domestic conflict and conflict management; political economy (international and national); political institutional design (both within states and international); interest articulation, aggregation, and elite-mass relations; politics of nationality and religion; and decision-making.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP		301 The Politics and Policy of Globalization	This course seeks to provide a greater appreciation of what we call "globalization"? and some of its implications for international politics, national security, and the prospects for global management of transnational problems. We will also examine the deepening interconnection of technological, economic, and sociocultural trends that characterize much of globalization; and introduce students to the need for a multidisciplinary approach.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP		302 Policy and Politics of Conflict	This course aims to present some of the major theoretical approaches to conflict. It examines theories that attempt to explain the causes, dynamics and conditions of conflicts, be they international or domestic. We will focus on organized violence at four levels: the global system; the state or regime; social/ethnic groups; and the individual. By the end of the course students should know the main approaches to understanding what violence is, why warfare and violence occur, and how to apply those approaches to concrete cases.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP		303 The Politics and Policy of the Developing World	How do the levels of corruption and accountability vary in the developing world? To what extent are they determined by the levels of economic development, political culture, political institutions or individual preferences? What kind of trajectories do we observe in the development of regimes and policies? What role do people play in bringing about regime transitions and democratization? Our discussion will focus on regime dynamics, institutions, and popular mobilization in the developing world to understand the complex problems that these countries face.	Undergraduate	-

SGPP		304 The Politics of Public Policy Making in the United States	This course will focus on an introduction to how politics influences and constrains how public policy is made. The nature of the institutions of the government of the United States and the public policy process will be examined and discussed in relation to democratic values and policy outcomes.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP		305 Fundamentals of Democratic Politics	The objective of this class is develop a more complete understanding of what a democracy is, as well as the core requirements for democracy to endure. Students will learn the fundamental tenets of democracy and gain appreciation for the complex concept of democracy. They will examine the different definitions and fundamental requirements for a state to be considered a democracy.	Undergraduate	-
SGPP	396H	Government & Public Policy Honors Special Topics Seminar	An Honors special topics seminar course for Honors Active Juniors and Seniors. Course includes small group discussion, research, and presentations on a variety of government & public policy related special topics of interest. Current research, relevant issues, historical perspectives and guest speakers may be included. Honors sophomores may enroll with consent of the department.	Undergraduate	-

Introduction

What is Instructor Center?

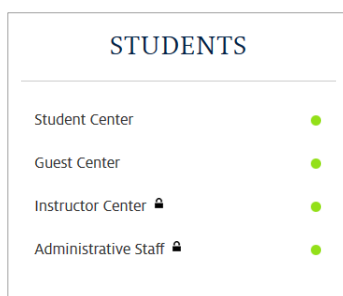

The Instructor Center is your access point to your Class Schedule, Student Photos, Class Rosters, and Grade Rosters. If your class is using D2L you may also have access to Desire2Learn (D2L) information. A link to Disability Resources is also available, which provides information on possible accommodations required for some of your students, as well as a link to the final exam schedule.

The Instructor Center is only available to instructors who are teaching a class in the current term or who were the principal instructor in a course in a previous term. Administrative staff that are authorized to act on the instructor's behalf may be assigned to a class as a Department Admin and then will also have access to Instructor Center.

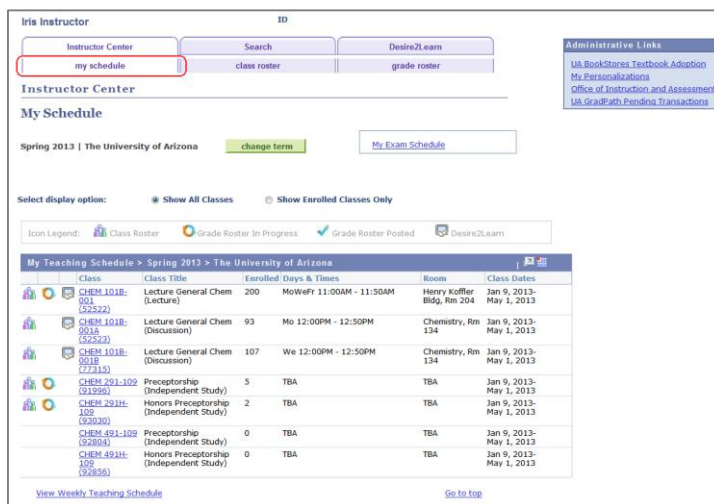

Accessing Instructor Center

Procedure

1. Open a web browser and navigate to uaccess.arizona.edu.
2. Under UAccess Student click the Instructor Center link.

3. Log in with your NetID and password.
4. Once you log in, you will typically be on the my schedule tab, which displays your class schedule for the current term.

Changing the Term

The My Schedule page defaults to show the current term but you can view other terms as well.

Procedure

1. Click the  button.
2. Select another term from the list. This list is limited to an instructor's previous, current, and future scheduled courses.
3. Click .

Accessing Instructor Center from Off-campus

The padlock  at the end of the Instructor Center link indicates you must use VPN in order to access UAccess Student from off-campus. Additionally, in order to use VPN you need to enroll in NetID+.

Note: Once enrolled in NetID+, the dual authentication applies to all applications that require WebAuth.

Procedure (Enrolling in NetID+)

1. Go to <https://webauth.arizona.edu/netid-plus/>.
2. Click the Login button.
3. Click Enroll then complete the necessary steps depending on your preferred method.

Procedure (VPN)

1. Go to vpn.arizona.edu
2. Enter your NetID and password.
 - a. The Group 1-UASSLClient is the general UA VPN. There are also a few department specific VPNs, which you must have permission to access. Any of the Groups connect you to VPN and allows you access Instructor Center.
 - b. For PC users: The first time you log in, the Cisco AnyConnect Secure Mobility Client downloads to your computer, which is then accessible in the taskbar by clicking the  icon.
 - c. For Mac users: The process is different depending on your operating system. Please refer to the documents referenced in the Note below for instructions on setting up the VPN.
3. Once the initial setup is complete, you do not need to go to the url (#1) to access the VPN since the application should be on your computer. Simply click to open and it will prompt you for your NetID and password.

Note: For download/installation instructions specific to your operating system, go to uats.arizona.edu/services/vpn and click the arrow next to Faculty/Staff and Students: How to Set Up AnyConnect.

Working with the Class Schedule

Viewing the Class Detail Page

The Class Detail screen provides information such as class number, units, instruction mode, grading scheme, etc. Meeting days and times are also displayed, along with the names of the instructors, when available.

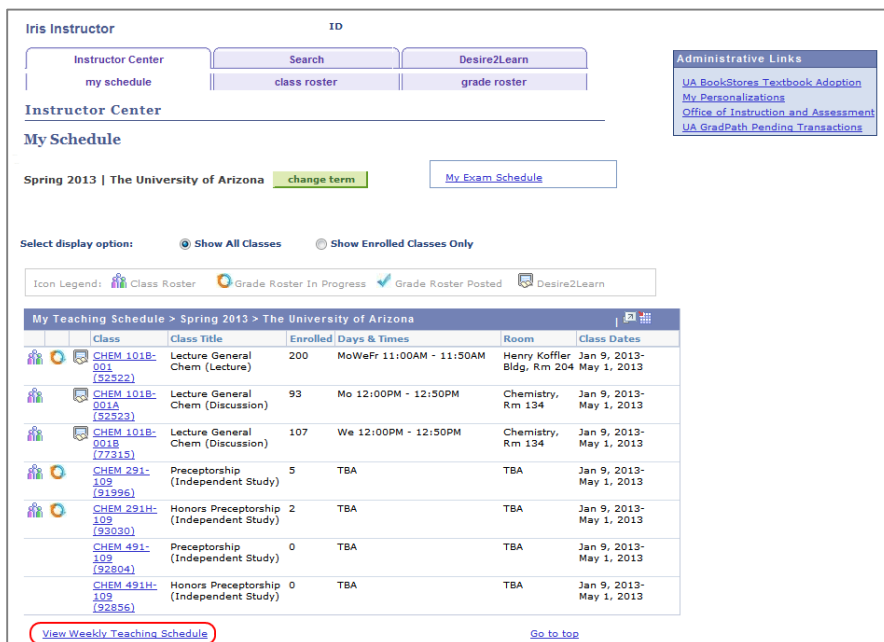

Procedure

1. From the my schedule tab, under the My Teaching Schedule area, click the link for the class you want to view.
2. Click the Return to Instructor Center link or my schedule tab to exit the Class Detail view.

Viewing the Weekly Teaching Schedule

Printing the Weekly Teaching Schedule

Procedure

1. From the Weekly Teaching Schedule click the Printer Friendly Version link near the bottom of screen
2. Click the Return to View My Weekly Schedule link to return to the previous screen.

Note: You can also print directly from the web browser. Click the Print button within the web browser or navigate to File > Print.

Viewing the Exam Schedule

Click the My Exam Schedule link near the top of the screen to be directed to the campus-wide final exam schedule.

Working with the Class Roster

Viewing the Class Roster

This is a listing of all students who have signed up to take the specified class. From the roster you have the ability to review the students enrolled, see student photos, notify some or all students of upcoming events or issues, notify the Registrar, or administratively drop a student.

Note: The Class Roster icon only appears once students are registered for the class. If there are no students there is no roster, so there is no icon.

Procedure

1. Click the Class Roster icon  for the class you want to view.
2. To return to the main page, click the my schedule tab near the top of the page or the  button.

Printing the Class Roster

Procedure

1. From the Class Roster click the Printer Friendly Version link near the bottom of screen
2. Click the Return link to return to the previous screen.

Note: You can also print directly from the web browser. Click the Print button within the web browser or navigate to File > Print.

Viewing Student Photos

Once students are registered for a class, you can view the class roster, which also has the option to view student photos.

Procedure

1. Click the Class Roster icon  for the class.
2. From the Class Roster there are two ways to see the student photos:
 - Click the Photo icon  for any student.
 - This changes the display option to: Include photos in list.
 - Navigate through the roster by clicking on the previous and next arrows.
 - To return to the roster without pictures, right above the student information, next to Select display option, click Link to Photos.
 - Above the list of names, next to the Select display option, click Include photos in list.
 - Use the previous and next arrows to navigate through the rows of student information. To see multiple rows at once so that you can scroll vertically, click View All or View 100 (whichever is applicable or displayed).
 - To return to the roster without pictures, right above the student information, next to Select display option, click Link to Photos.

Notifying Students

Start by clicking the Class Roster icon  for the class.

You can send an email to a specific student, notify a group of students, or notify all students.

- Send an email to a single student: Click the student's name. Your default email program opens a blank email with the student's email address inserted in the To field.
- Send a notification to multiple students: Click the checkboxes in the Notify column to the left of those students' names, then click the  button near the bottom of the page. The Send Notification form opens within Instructor Center, which allows you to compose your message and send it to the indicated students. Your email is inserted in the From and To fields, while the selected students' addresses are in the BCC field.
- Send a notification to all students: Click the  button near the bottom of the page. The Send Notification form opens within Instructor Center, which allows you to compose your message and send it to all students on the roster. Your email is inserted in the From and To fields, while all the students' addresses are inserted in the BCC field.

Notifying the Registrar

If you would like the Registrar's Office to research any inconsistencies on your Class Roster, such as a student in your class who does not appear on the Class Roster, follow the Procedure below to email.

Start by clicking the Class Roster icon  for the class. At the bottom, simply click the  button. This opens the Send Notification form within Instructor Center, with the To and Subject fields automatically populated. Enter your message text and click Send Notification.

Administratively Dropping/Withdrawing a Student

Administrative drop is not an obligation but is at the instructor's discretion. Students who remain enrolled in a course throughout the term but fail to attend may receive an E grade for the class.

See the Class Attendance, Participation, and Administrative Drop Policy for details.

(<http://catalog.arizona.edu/2015-16/policies/classatten.htm>)

For Administrative drop deadlines for atypical dates, see Dates and Deadlines for Classes with Non-Standard Start Dates.

First Drop Deadline for Fall/Spring: Course will be deleted from record

Undergraduates: Prior to the end of the 2nd week of classes

Graduates: Prior to the end of the 4th week of classes

Second Drop Deadline for Fall/Spring: Will result in grade of W, regardless of whether the student is passing

Undergraduates: Weeks three through ten

Graduates: Weeks five through ten

Procedure

1. Click the Class Roster icon  for the class.
2. Check the box in the Admin Drop column in the row for the appropriate student.
3. Click the  button near the bottom of the page.
4. Course will be deleted from the student's record or a grade of W will be awarded based on the deadlines and career as listed above.

Administratively Reinstating a Student

When instructors administratively drop students from a class, they may administratively reinstate those students in the same class until the last day of classes for the term. The instructor must request the Administrative Drop/Reinstatement using the Notify Registrar button located on the class roster.

Note: A student may be re-enrolled in the class using the Change of Schedule form process after the end of the second quarter. The signature of the instructor and dean are required.

Procedure

1. Click the Class Roster icon  for the class.
2. Click the notify registrar button near the bottom of the page.
3. In the email be sure to include the reinstated student's name and Student ID.
4. Click Submit.

Working with the Grade Roster

Viewing the Grade Roster

This is the only grade roster that instructors use to post final grades for every class where the department has assigned that person as the instructor of record with grade posting access.

Note: Grade rosters are available for Fall and Spring semesters on Reading day. For Summer and Winter sessions and for courses with atypical start and end dates, rosters are available on the last day of classes.

Procedure

1. Click the Grade Roster In Progress icon  for the class you want to view.
2. To return to the main page, click the my schedule tab near the top of the page or the  button.

Printing the Grade Roster

Procedure

1. From the Class Roster click the Printer Friendly Version link near the bottom of screen
2. Click the Return link to return to the previous screen.

Note: To print directly from a web browser click the Print button or navigate to File > Print.

Grading Students

Grade Rosters must be posted in UAccess Instructor Center no later than 48 hours after the final exam. If no final exam is given, grades are due no later than 48 hours after the last day of finals. If the student failed to attend or stopped attending without official withdrawal, Faculty Senate Policy dictates an E grade must be recorded.

Procedure

1. Click the Grade Roster In Progress icon  for the class.
In the Grade Roster Action section, the Approval Status must be set to Not Reviewed in order to assign or change grades that have not been posted.

The screenshot shows the 'Grade Roster' interface in the UAccess Instructor Center. At the top, there are navigation tabs: 'Instructor Center', 'Search', and 'Desire2Learn'. Below these are links for 'my schedule', 'class roster', and 'grade roster'. The 'Grade Roster' section is active, showing a 'View FERPA Statement' link. The course information is 'CHEM 291 - 109 (91996)' with a 'change class' button. Below this is a table for 'Preceptorship (Ind Study)' with columns: Days and Times, Room, Instructor, and Dates. The table shows 'TBA' for Days and Times and Room, 'Iris Instructor' for Instructor, and '01/09/2013 - 05/01/2013' for Dates. At the bottom, there are two sections: 'Display Options' and 'Grade Roster Action'. The 'Display Options' section has a dropdown for '*Grade Roster Type' set to 'Final Grade' and a checkbox for 'Display Unassigned Roster Grade Only'. The 'Grade Roster Action' section has a dropdown for '*Approval Status' set to 'Not Reviewed' and a 'Save' button. The 'Approval Status' dropdown is highlighted with a red box.

Note: If the Approval Status is anything other than Not Reviewed, you do not have access to enter grades in the Roster Grade column.

2. Entering Grades
 - Grading individual students
 - In the Roster Grade column select the appropriate grade for each student.
 - If you are entering a failing grade (E or F) please reference the Assigning a Failing Grade section directly below.
 - Grading multiple students at once
 - Click the checkbox in the far left column for all students receiving a particular grade.
 - At the bottom of the roster is a drop-down box to the left of the add this grade to selected students button. Select the appropriate grade and then click the button. All the students designated in the previous step (step a) will now show that grade in the Roster Grade column.

3. In the Grade Roster Action text, select the appropriate Approval Status.
 - Approved: All grades are entered and you are authorizing the final grades be posted. This option is only available/visible if you have the authority to post.
 - After selecting this option, scroll to the bottom and click the Post button to submit the grades. Clicking Save only saves what is on the page, the grades will not post unless you click the Post button.
 - Not Reviewed: Not all grades are entered but you need to save the document and want to be able to enter additional grades at a later time
 - You must click save in order to save the grades entered.
 - Ready for Review: All grades are entered but you are not ready or authorized to post the final grade. Selecting this option also makes the Roster Grade column values not editable.
 - You must click save in order to save the grades and Approval Status change.

Assigning a Failing Grade

Both the Department of Education and the Veterans Administration require a Last Date of Attendance when a failing grade is entered.

Procedure

- Once a failing grade is selected, a drop-down menu displays in the Student Attendance column:

A screenshot of a web-based drop-down menu. The menu is open, showing three options: "Completed Term", "Never Attended", and "Stopped Attending After". The "Completed Term" option is highlighted in blue.

Note: Completed Term indicates the student attended and earned the failing grade.

When Stopped Attending After is selected, a date field populates in the End Date column. This field must be completed in order to Save.

A screenshot of a table row. The first cell contains the ID "44127447". The second cell contains the name "Jordan, Mark Jordan" with a blue link icon. The third cell contains the letter "E" with a small downward arrow. The fourth cell contains the text "Stopped Attending After" with a small downward arrow. The fifth cell contains the date "03/12/2013" with a small calendar icon.

- If you don't have the exact date, this can be determined two different ways:
 - Use the date of the last academically related activity, such as a paper, quiz, D2L logon, etc.
 - Approximate the date by using the first, 15th, or last date of the month.

Note: If you import grades from a file, additional values need included for any failing grades. Please refer to the Importing Grades section for specific information.

Entering Engagement on the Grade Roster

- Classes with an engagement component that is listed as To Be Determined (TBD) have been designed to allow the instructor to customize the engagement experience for each student.
- The instructor must specify the appropriate Activity and Competency during the grading process.
- If a student is given a C or better (in a class with regular grades) or an S or P (in a class with alternative grades), a drop-down menu in the Activity and Competency columns will be visible. These columns must be completed before the grade roster can be posted.

must choose an Activity and a Competency for each student when these fields appear

ID	Name	Roster Grade	Student Attendance	Last Date Attended	Official Grade	Engagement Activity	Engagement Competency	Grading Basis	Program and Plan	Level
1	Altton, Mary Jane	P				Professional Development	Diversity and Identity	SPF	Colleges Letters Arts Science - Global Studies	Senior
2	Buchman, Molly P	S				Entrepreneurship	Sustainability	SPF	College of Soc & Behav Sci eSociety/Business Administration/Film and Television	Junior
3		I						SPF	College of Medicine - Physiology	Senior
4		F	Completed Term					SPF	Colleges Letters Arts Science - General Studies	Senior

Annotations:
 - Red arrows point to rows 1 and 2 with text: "these grades are eligible for engagement"
 - Red arrows point to rows 3 and 4 with text: "these grades are NOT eligible for engagement"

Grading an Honors Contract Student

Enter the letter grade the same way you do with other students.

Note: For information on this process, refer to 1 and 2 in the Grading Students section above.

You must also indicate whether or not the student has fulfilled the honors contract.

Procedure

- Click the Grade Roster In Progress icon  for the class.
In the Grade Roster Action section, make sure the Approval Status is Not Reviewed.
- Click the Requirement Designation tab.
 - You can also click the Show all columns icon  to see all the information on one tab instead of two
- In the Roster RD Grade column select Satisfied or Not Satisfied.
 - Prior to approving the grades, the Roster RD Grade column will be an editable field where you can select Satisfied or Not Satisfied.

IMPORT GRADES FROM D2L IMPORT GRADES FROM FILE

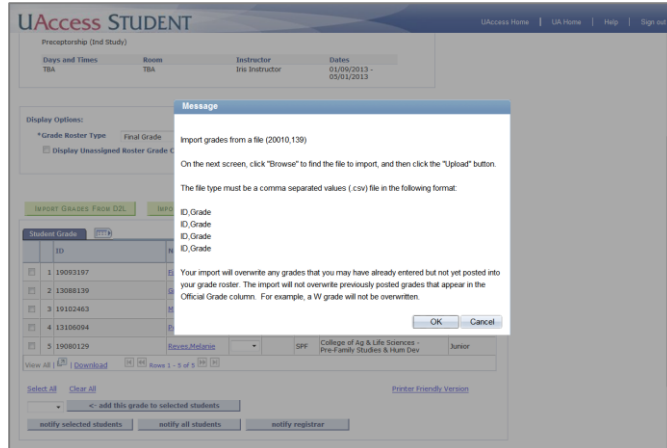

ID	Name	Roster Grade	Official Grade	RD Option	Requirement Designation	Roster RD Grade	Official RD Grade

Importing Grades

These two processes overwrite any grades already listed in the Roster Grade column.

Note: If any of the imported grades are E or F, please refer to the Assigning a Failing Grade section for information on the associated requirements and fields.

- Importing Grades from D2L:
 - Once final grades are prepared and complete in D2L, simply click the IMPORT GRADES FROM D2L button.
 - D2L does not capture Last Date of Attendance information. When a failing grade is imported, in UAccess you must then choose the Student Attendance drop-down and (if required) enter the Last Date of Attendance.
Refer to the Assigning a Failing Grade section for more information on the requirements and fields associated with failing grades.
 - Note: For additional help, email D2L@email.arizona.edu, call 626-6804, or go to <http://help.d2l.arizona.edu/instructors/grades>.
- Importing Grades from a File:
 - Click the IMPORT GRADES FROM FILE button to upload your comma separated value (.csv) file. A message window pops-up, which provides more information about the import grades from file option and file setup.

- Failing grades require the following .csv format:
 - ID, Grade, Last Date of Attendance Code, Date (if required)
 - C= Completed Term (earned failing grade)
 - N=Never Attended
 - S=Stopped Attending After (then include MM/DD/YYYY)
 - Examples:
 - 12345678,E,C
 - 91011121,E,N
 - 14151617,E,S,03/21/2014

Notifying Students

Start by clicking the Grade Roster In Progress icon  for the class. (These are the same options you see when you are on the Class Roster.)

You can send an email to a specific student, notify a group of students, or notify all students.

- Send an email to a single student: Click the student's name. Your default email program opens a blank email with the student's email address inserted in the To field.
- Send a notification to multiple students: Click the checkboxes in the Notify column to the left of those students' names, then click the  button near the bottom of the page. The Send Notification form opens within Instructor Center, which allows you to compose your message and send it to the indicated students. Your email is inserted in the From and To fields, while the selected students' addresses are in the BCC field.
- Send a notification to all students: Click the  button near the bottom of the page. The Send Notification form opens within Instructor Center, which allows you to compose your message and send it to all students on the roster. Your email is inserted in the From and To fields, while all the students' addresses are inserted in the BCC field.

Notifying the Registrar

There is no need to send a notification when grades are posted since the Registrar's Office runs reports on missing grades on a regular basis and notifies the instructor and their department when grades are missing or not posted.

Use the  button at the bottom of the Grade Roster to report the following. Be sure to include the student's name and student ID.

- If a regularly attending student does not appear on the Grade Roster, send the student's information and your assigned grade to activate research.
- If a student has dropped but still shows on the Grade Roster, send the student's information and award an E. The records will be reviewed promptly and, if withdrawal paperwork is in place, a W will be substituted.

Changing Grades

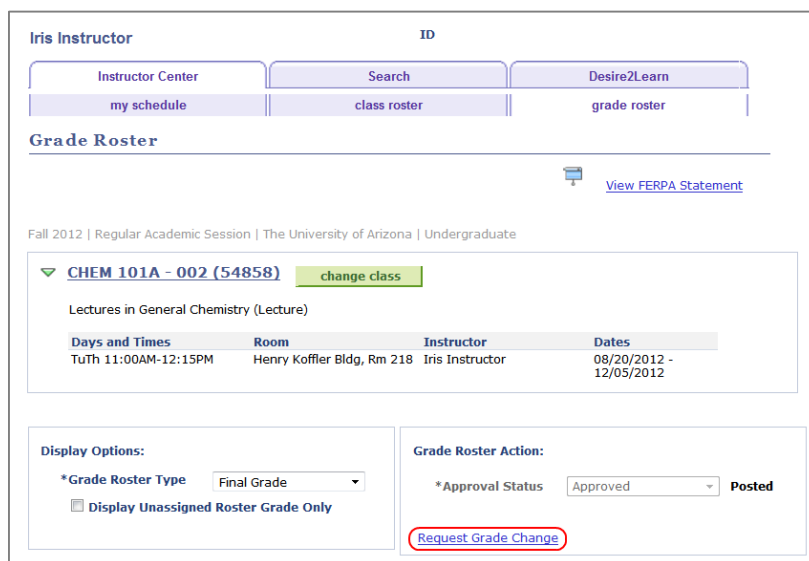

Requesting a Grade Change Online

Instructors can change posted grades for the current term during the Open Grading Period.

Fall and Spring: Open Grading Period begins on Reading Day and 14 days from the last day of finals.
Summer, Winter, & 5 or 7 Week Sessions: Open Grading Period begins on the last day of classes and lasts for 14 days.

Procedure

1. Click the Grade Roster Posted icon  for the appropriate class.
2. In the Grade Roster Action section, click the Request Grade Change link.

The screenshot shows the 'Iris Instructor' interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs: 'Instructor Center', 'Search', and 'Desire2Learn'. Below these are sub-tabs: 'my schedule', 'class roster', and 'grade roster'. The 'Grade Roster' section is active. It displays a class entry for 'CHEM 101A - 002 (54858)' with a 'change class' button. Below this is a table with columns: 'Days and Times', 'Room', 'Instructor', and 'Dates'. The table shows 'TuTh 11:00AM-12:15PM', 'Henry Koffler Bldg, Rm 218', 'Iris Instructor', and '08/20/2012 - 12/05/2012'. At the bottom, there are two sections: 'Display Options' with a dropdown for '*Grade Roster Type' set to 'Final Grade' and a checkbox for 'Display Unassigned Roster Grade Only'; and 'Grade Roster Action' with a dropdown for '*Approval Status' set to 'Approved' and a 'Posted' button. A red circle highlights the 'Request Grade Change' link in the 'Grade Roster Action' section.

3. This takes you to the Grade Change Request page. Find the student whose grade you want to change and change the grade in the Official Grade column.
4. Click the  button at the bottom of the screen.

Incomplete Grade Change Request

You can change an Incomplete grade, provided that it has not expired to an E or F. Incompletes typically expire in 365 days, unless the student has been approved for an extension.

Follow the same process outlined in the Change Grade Request section immediately above.

Changing an Expired Incomplete Grade

An instructor may change an Incomplete that has expired to an E or F by using the online form/process. This change goes through a Workflow Approval path, which will include the department head, dean, and Registrar.

Note: Only those with Post access may perform this function.

Procedure

1. Click the Grade Roster Posted icon  for the appropriate class.
2. In the Grade Roster Action section, click the Request Grade Change link.
Note: This is the same as steps 1 & 2 in the Requesting a Grade Change Online section above.
3. You are now on the Grade Change Request page. Find the student whose Expired Incomplete grade you need to change and click the EXPIRED INCOMPLETE button.

Changing a Final Grade after the Open Grading Period

Instructors may change a final grade if an error was made in computation. This change must be due to a miscalculation, submitted within one (1) year of the awarding of the grade, and goes through a Workflow Approval path, which may include the department head and/or dean and Registrar.

Note: Only those with Post access may perform this function.

Procedure

- Click the Grade Roster Posted icon  for the appropriate class.
- In the Grade Roster Action section, click the Request Grade Change link.
Note: This is the same as steps 1 & 2 in the Requesting a Grade Change Online section above.
- You are now on the Grade Change Request page. Find the student whose grade you need to change and click the MISCALCULATION button.
Note: A W grade cannot be changed so there is no Miscalculation button for those students.

Identifying Classes With No Instructors &/or Unposted Grades

There is a UAccess Analytics dashboard that will help identify those classes with no instructor and/or those with unposted grades.

1. Open a web browser and navigate to uaccess.arizona.edu.
2. Under UAccess Analytics click the Analytics/Reporting link, then log in with your NetID and password.
3. Click the Dashboards link, then navigate to Student > Class Enrollment.
4. Click the Grading tab.
5. This report defaults to display results for a predefined term and subject area.
 - Click the appropriate dashboard prompts to change the filter to the appropriate term and subject area.
6. The Class Instructors section lists all the identified courses and the Person Name and Instructor Role columns show the instructor

Note: Do not click the Display maximum icon  if you are not sure how many records this will return. A long query will either take a few minutes to run or, if it's too large, it will time out.
